Germans Sign Coal Protocol Drawn Up By Allies Settling One Of Most Difficult Questions Of Conference

Signatures Affixed to Document Following a Four Hour Discussion

OCCUPATION MENACE

Allies Decide to Drop This Clause of Protocol Below Signature Line

SPA, July 16.—The allied representatives here have telegraphed the secretary-general of the league of nations in London asking for postponement of the financial conference at Brussels until after September 15th.

The international financial congress was to be held in Brussels, July 23rd. It was to discuss the economic conditions of the various nationals.

SPA, July 16.—(Associated Press). —The German representatives signed the coal protocol, drawn up by the allied representatives at 8.45 o'clock tonight, thereby settling one of the most difficult questions which has come up in the present discussions. Signatures were affixed on the document after a four-hour session at the Villa Fraineuss, one hour of which was spent by the Germans in a cabinet consultation in an adjoining room.

Conflict Menace Over Occupation

There was a conflict over introduction in the protocol of the menace of occupation of additional German territory after October 15, next, if German coal deliveries were not up to the stipulated quantity—$6,000,000 tons by that date. The allies decide to drop this clause of the protocol below the signature line. The Germans objected to the preamble, which declared that the decisions set forth in the document had been taken in common accord by the allied and German delegations.

German Contention

The Germans contended it was not common accord, but by sole will of the allies that any further occupation would occur. At this junction Dr. Fehrenbach, the German chancellor, sent for three of his cabinet colleagues who were at the German headquarters, and called a cabinet meeting. An hour elapsed before Chancellor Fehrenbach and Foreign Minister Simons appeared at the conference room. After an explanation by Dr. Simons, all delegates signed the protocol.

Bases of Reparations

Before the arrival of the German delegates today the allied premiers completed their consideration of the list of reparations due from Germany. As finally adopted, the reparations will be made on the following basis.

France, 52 per cent.; Great Britain, 22 per cent.; Italy, 10 per cent; Belgium, 8 per cent., and Japan and Portugal each three-fourths of one per cent. The remaining six per cent will be divided, Serbia, Rumania and Poland.

Beside the eight per cent. Belgium is to receive, she will retain the priority right to 2,500,000,000 marks, from which will be paid sums loaned Belgium by the allies.

FRENCH FLAG IS SALUTED IN BERLIN CITY

But Just After Reichswehr Broke Lustily in "Duetschland Uber Alles"

BERLIN, July 16.—Dr. Haniel Von Hamhausen, under-secretary of foreign affairs, with Herr Moell, counsellor of the government, representing the prefecture of police, paid a personal visit to the French embassy this afternoon to expres official regret over the removel on Wednesday of a French flag hoisted over the French embassy in honor of Bastile Day. Herr Moell announced the arrest of the guilty person.

Latter a company of reichswehr, with an officer at the head, filed by the embasy portico which was filled with French officers.

The soldiers turned and stood at attention while the tri-color was hoisted. They then marched away singing "Deutschland Uber Alles" the crowd and the police guards joined in the singing.

The reichswehr saluting force had not actually left the embassy precincts when the men broke lustily into "Deutschland Uber Alles." The French officers, who apparently had been pleased with the military precision and the correctness with which the apology had been carried out up to that moment, seemed dumbfounded. When the crowds in Unter Den Linden heard the troops singing there were vociferous "bravos" from the people, who then took up the melody, which swelled into a mighty chorus.

The secrecy with which the German government arranged the ceremony of saluting the French flag at the French embassy is believed to have saved Berlin from what would inevitably have developed into a serious popular outbreak. No one knew beforehand that the military salute was to take place and the newspapers learned of it only just before going to press. The French flag at sundown was still floating from the French embassy, which was protected by a special party of security police.

The foreign office tonight declined to say whether the French government was satisfied with the apology, the military salute which accompanied it and the dismissal of two of the officials supposed to have been guilty of neglecting French property.

"Times" Says Hudson's Bay Co. Gives No Sign of Age Withering Its Powers

LONDON, July 16.—(Canadian Associated Press.)—The Times, referring to the annual report of the Hudson's Bay company, which shows a profit of £331,757 and announces that a dividend of forty as against forty-two per cent. last year will be paid, says that the company gives no sign of age withering its powers. The Times further says that if accounts convey any predominant impression, it is of a wonderful ability to shoulder new and onerous burdens, while maintaining the level of the dividend. This is said in allusion to the Saskatchewan surtax judgment and the income tax decision here against the company.

The Financial News refers to the Hudson's Bay company's strong financial position and declares that as the scope of its operations is still being extended, there is every reason for anticipating the prosperity of this venerable enterprise will show corresponding expansion.

THINKS HOT WAVE WILL STICK FOR COUPLE MORE DAYS

The ice-man succeeded in doing a triple business on Friday, as a matter of fact, more than that of the previous day. Friday holds the record for being the hottest day in 1920, the mercury touching ninety degrees. It just topped Thursday's temperature by five degrees.

An elderly gentleman entered The Bulletin office on Friday evening, and when we greeted him with July password: "'s' pretty hot, eh," he exclaimed that he considered it was the worst day for him since the year '86, and after wiping his brow for the fifth time, he departed to the outside air.

The weather man reported that the barometer had taken a slight dip, which indicates that a thunder storm or some cloudy weather with rain is scheduled this way. He prophesies another 48 hours of heat before the weather slumps into a change.

OLD-TIMER DIES AFTER LENGTHY PERIOD ILLNESS

Rev. Edward Cunningham, O.M.I., Passes Away—Born at St. Albert 58 Years Ago

Another old-timer of the Edmonton district, in the person of Rev. Edward Cunningham, O.M.I., came to his death in the city on Friday afternoon, following a lengthy illness of more than eight months.

The deceased was a native of St. Albert, having been born there fifty-eight years ago, at which time the city of Edmonton was but a mere trading post. He received his primary schooling at St. Albert, and commenced his classified course at Lac La Biche, later going to Lac Ste. Anne. In 1881 he went to the Ottawa university at which place he finished his course. He entered the Oblate order in 1889, and in 1890 he was ordained priest by the late Rt. Rev. Vital Grandin, O.M.I., D.D. The ordination took place in what was known at that time as the new cathedral of St. Albert. The deceased was the first half-breed to be ordained a priest in western Canada. His first post was at Lac La Biche, where he stayed for a period of five years, and from there he moved to Onion Lake at which place he was located for twenty years. He came to Lac Ste. Anne two years ago. During his life, the deceased proved himself to be a most valuable missionary for the work he did in educating and Christianizing the Cree Indians. Cree was his mother tongue and he spoke the language very eloquently, and he also proved to be a great favorite among the Indians.

In the month of December last, the deceased was seized by a paralytic stroke which later developed into heart trouble. He is survived by his mother, who is a resident of St. Albert.

Mass will be held at nine o'clock on Monday morning in St. Joachim's church, after which the body will be taken to St. Albert where a funeral service will be held on Tuesday morning. Interment will take place in the St. Albert cemetery.

GOV'T. WITHDRAWS LANDS ALONG THE ATHABASCA RIVER

OTTAWA, July 16.—(Canadian Press)—An order-in-council gazetted this week, provides for the withdrawal from sale, lease or settlement of approximately 55,000 acres of land along the Athabasca river, in Alberta. This action, is taken, the order states because representations have been made to the department of the interior that as a result of the investigation and research which has undertaken, "it is confidently expected that a successful process will be shortly evolved for the extraction from the tar sands of the Athabasca river of oil, bitumen, and other hydocabons in commercial quantities."

TURKS ATTACK GREEK SHIPPING.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 16.—(Associated Press)—The Turkish Nationalists have begun an attack upon the Greek shipping in the Black Sea. The Greek steamer Fils on entering Karason, west of Trebizond, from Batum, on July 14, was seized by Nationalists who took the vessel's officers prisoners, put Turks in charge and seized 7,000,000 rubles.

ARBITRATION TO COMMENCE IN SEPTEMBER

Board to Fix Valuation of Grand Trunk to Hold Meetings in Montreal

OTTAWA, July 16.—Canadian Press)—The Grand Trunk arbitration will begin in Montreal probably about the middle of September.

The arbitrators, Sir Walter Cassels, chairman; Sir Thomas Waite for the government, and Hon. W. H. Taft, for the Grand Trunk, are expected to confer next month and fix the definite date.

The arbitration, it is believed, will last a couple of months and Montreal will be the seat of it because it is head office of the Grand Trunk. When it is concluded the road will formally pass into the hands of the government as it is practically now. It will then be decided upon whether the head office of the amalgamated systems will be in Montreal or Toronto.

LOS ANGELES EXPERIENCES FOUR QUAKES

Injuries Inflicted on Several Men, Women And Children in Southern City

LOS ANGELES, July 16.—Four severe earthquakes here today threw the city and its suburb into excitement, indirectly caused a number of injuries to men, women and children and slightly damaged several buildings, chiefly old ones, but none to a great extent.

A sharp earthquake shock, the fourth since 10.30 o'clock today, was felt here at 6.13 tonight. There was no damage.

While the shocks seemed to centre in Los Angeles, some of them were felt more than thirty miles away, but as in this city, no material damage was reported.

LOS ANGELES, July 16.—A severe earthquake shock, the first at 10.17 this morning, and the second and third at 10.27 and 1.29 this afternoon, created excitement throughout Los Angeles and its suburbs, caused damage of a minor nature to a number of buildings, and inflicted physical injury on several men, women and children. The morning tremor shook mortar from brick walls and plaster from walls and ceilings, sending four persons to the receiving hospital with minor injuries and frightening the majority of the population. The shock at 1.27 was followed so quickly by the third at 1.29 that it was difficult to tell just what damage could be attributed to either of these two.

Business in many establishments came practically to a standstill after the third shock and thirty minutes later the crowds were still gathered in the streets, either fearful of returning to work or interested in learning the extent of the damage.

A piece of coping at Market and Main streets fell and struck a fire alarm box, turning in an alarm. The response of the fire department and rumors flying throught the streets caused some persons to send for ambulances, which was promptly responded to.

Cracks in the front walls of a few buildings were reported after the second and third quakes and hospitals in departmental stores were overflowing with fainting and hysterical women shoppers.

COURT HOUSES ARE BURNED, NO PLACE TO HEAR EVIDENCE

BELFAST, July 16.—The Buncrana court house, country Donegal, where the case of Joseph O'Doherty, Sinn Fein member of parliament, on the charge of soliciting subscriptions for the Irish republican parliament, was to be heard, was burned Friday morning. The court house at Burnfoot, which was originally selected for the proceedings also was burned in the morning hours.

The authorities are now reported in a quandry as to where the trial will be held, as no Donegal court house seems safe.

CENSUS TAKING WILL COMMENCE NEXT TUESDAY

Enumerators to Receive Final Instructions From City Assessor Monday

SCHOOL CENSUS OFF

Board Abandons Plan to Count Noses Owing to Not Being Appropriate Time

City Assesor Walker stated on Friday afternoon that, for several reasons, the public school board had decided to abandon the idea of taking a census of school children this year. The main argument against it being done, is that the present is not an appropriate time on account of so many people being out of the city and houses closed up during the time families are taking vacations. Also there is the matter of expense. At the lowest extimate it will cost the board $1,000, and, coupled with the reason stated above, it is considered the return would not be sufficiently satisfactory.

Enumerators to Report Monday

In respect to the taking of the census and compiling of the voters' list the City Assessor asks that the enumerators do not come to his office on Saturday, but, to defer their visit for final instructions until Monday, so that the work can begin on Tuesday. There are some arrangements yet to be made which will prevent a start being made on Monday.

It must be understood that the only sources of information for the compiling of the lists is by the enumerators calling at houses so that in the cases of houses being shut up there is a chance of names being missed. Therefore the public must do what they can to assist in this being avoided. The City Assessor is having some special slips printed so that where houses are found closed these slips can be pushed under the doors. On them will be found printed the statement the the enumerator will return at a certain date and time, and asking that someone be home at that time to give the necessary information. Also, in the event of it being impossible for anyone to be at the house the head of the family will then be asked to telephone the assessor's office and arrange to give the information required, or else call personally at the office and make the necessary statements.

Information Required

In regard to the census the information required is the name of the head of the family, whether owner or tenant of the house, address, nationality, persons in the household over 21 years of age, persons in the house under 21 years of age.

For the voters' list the names required are those over 21 years of age and who are British subjects. Also persons must have resided in the city for the requisite length of time.

It must be remembered that this year no names will be taken off the burgess roll for the voters' list, so people should make a point of seeing that they are not missed by the enumerators.

SAYS RIVER IS A DEATH TRAP FOR SWIMMERS

Warning Is Issued to Parents By Chief of Police Shute—Boys' Favorite Spot

A timely warning is issued to parents by Chief of Police Shute, to prevent their children from swimming in any part of the Saskatchewan river, owing to the great danger which confronts them.

"The Saskatchewan is nothing else than a death trap for swimmers," exclaimed Chief Shute, "and during the past week, I have personally noticed dozens of young boys swimming in various parts of the river." The chief further stated that he hoped for the co-operation of all parents in this respect, but remarked that if this dangerous sport was not stopped at once, the police would be obliged to take some measures in preventing it.

The favorite places for the boys to swim appears to be just opposite the South Side park on the north side of the river and west of the high level bridge. The Saskatchewan has been unsuccessful so far this year in claiming any victims.

Bulletin Competition

$250 IN PRIZES

All replies bearing Today's post mark (17 July) will be accepted for competition. This will be done in fairness to outside points, which will thus be enabled to mail replies up to the last moment this evening. There is still ample time to think of, and send in replies which may win one of the many prizes.

Competitors need not necessarily be regular subscribers. Any attempts are in order provided they are written on an offcial coupon from the current paper. There is no limit to the number of coupons which may be sent in by any contestant, but each coupon should be signed individually in order that its origin may be known.

Every sentence formed should have a meaning relating to the word from which it is selected. This is the last day for the $250.

Read the directions on page 17 cut out the coupons and mail them by tonight. Coupons are in both Morning and Evening editions.

Portion of Southern Half of Baffin Land To Be Leased to Stefansson For 30 Years

OTTAWA, July 16.—(Canadian Press.)—That portion of the Southern half of Baffin Island, south of Parallel 68 degrees north latitude, including a strip ten miles along the north boundary of Lake Netilling, is to be leased to Vilhjalmur Stefansson, Canadian Arctic explorer, for the purpose of grazing herds of reindeer and musk ox for the period of thirty years with a period of renewal not to exceed twenty years to be provided for. This is authorized in an order-in-council gazetted this week.

Mr. Stefansson is to be given free grazing privileges for fifteen years, after which he will pay an annual rental of $11,390. Mr. Stefansson has represented to the government that he has interested sufficient capital to assure of the enterprise being successfully carried out.

France Begins Operations Against Syria Following 24 Hour Ultimatum Demand Acquiescence in Mandate

French Open Hostilities in Two Columns, One Directed Against Aleppo The Other Against Damascus—Arabs Offered no Resistance—Adoption of French as Official Language And French Currency as Currency of Syria Demanded

LONDON, July 17.—The French have begun operations in Syria moving toward Aleppo and Damascus, according to a report printed in the London Times this morning.

Advices have been received in London, says the London Times, that the French on Wednesday sent a 24-hour ultimatum to Feisal, king of Syria, demanding his acquiescence in the French mandate for Syria, and also the adoption of French as the official language and French currency as the currency of Syria.

On Thursday at the expiration of the 24-hours, says the Times, the French opened hostilities in two columns, one directed against Aleppo, and the other against Damascus.

Acording to the latest reports, the Arabs were reported to have offered no resistance.

STREET TO HOP OFF FOR ERIE THIS MORNING

Scranton, Pa., July 16.—Captain St. Claire Street, officer of the Trans-Continental flying machine which left Mineola Thursday, bound for Nome, Alaska, who was compelled to land at Elmhurst, near here, after becoming lost in a fog, failed to get away today as expected.

Repairs on the plane which broke an axle in descending were hurried after a new axle was received, but the work was not finished in time to resume the flight today. Captain Street will hop off for Erie tomorrow morning.

YOUTH CARRIED NO WEIGHT IN THIS HANDICAP

Officer Sat on His Clothes at Swimming Pool And Then Took Part in Chase

Friday was a scorching hot day, and this is what happened to one perspiring youth.

Earl Stinson was his name; a youth of 18 years. Earl arose early Friday morning, and as the forenoon proved so terribly hot he decided to spend the afternoon in a swimming pool located close to Swift's packing plant.

The day was hot enough, but the city sleuths were doubly hot—hot on the trail of Earl, for they claimed that they wanted him in the worst way on a charge of shop-breaking.

Detective John Watson was wandering around the swimming pool, undoubtedly endeavoring to cool off a bit, when his naked eye chanced to squint at a naked form in the pool. This naked form proved to be none other than Detective Watson's objective whom he had been trying to conquer for the past week. A detective seldom passes up an opportunity, and this time Watson didn't. He located Earl's clothes on the bank and at once decided to make a soft seat out of them. No sooner had the detective made this advance than Earl recognized the strong arm of the law making comfortable use of his clothing. He edged his way slowly over to shore and then made a sudden jump for the land.

Earl darted up the road, stark naked, and the detective followed in pursuit. Yes, it was a cool sight for the many who witnessed it, but it was an awful hot chase for sleuth Watson. Earl took advantage of a few sharp corners and several side streets, and was successful in eluding the detective.

However, Earl was captured early in the evening, just before the sun went to rest, this being the result of Watson's untiring determination. Earl was completely clothed when captured, and when questioned as to where he got this extra wardrobe, he related the following story:

"When I go swimming, the kids take pleasure in stealing my clothes after I get into the water, so today I thought I would fool them, and I brought an extra suit along with me and hid it in the bush. After I got rid of the 'Dick' I beat it back to the bush and put on this extra suit."

Yes, it was an exciting day for Earl, as well as for Detective Watson and a hundred or more citizens of North Edmonton.

BODY FOUND IN NIAGARA MAY BE THAT OF A. SMALL

TORONTO, July 16.—A despatch from Niagara Falls, Ont., says that "Red" Hill, a local riverman, Friday picked up a body in the Niagara river, whose description corresponds with that of Ambrose J. Small, the missing Toronto millionaire theatrical magnate.

The Toronto police are investigating the story from Niagara Falls, regarding the finding of a body of a description corresponding with that of Ambrose J. Small, the missing theatrical magnate. Many such rumors have reached them before and have been found cases of mistaken identity.

WILL APPOINT A JOINT BOARD IN FEW WEEKS

Hon. J. D. Reid Makes Announcement as to Management of C.N.R. And G.T.P.

WINNIPEG, Man., July 16.—Appointment of a joint board of management for the Canadian National lines in the west and the Grand Trunk Pacific lines now under government control, will be made in a few weeks, Hon. J. D. Reid, federal minister of railways announced today.

"I shall have the personnel of the board definitely in mind when I return in a few weeks," Dr. Reid declared. "The board will be along the lines of the one which operates the eastern lines, that is, five railway officials with a man who has been actively engaged in managing a railway system as chairman."

FREAKISH STORM STILLS ACTIVITIES IN SEATTLE CITY

SEATTLE, Wn., July 16.—Street cars were stopped, houses and streets were darkened, motion picture theatres were compelled to close, and the city was subjected to a dozen other inconveniences, as the result of a freakish electrical storm that struck Seattle at about 10 o'clock Thursday night.

For nearly half an hour every car line in the city, including the Tacoma and Everett interurbans, was tied up, and every street lamp in the city was out.

DELEGATION TO UNFOLD HYDRO SCHEME ABSENT

Deputy Mayor And City Officials Waited But Promoters Did Not Show Up

Deputy Mayor East, Commissioner Haddow and Supt. Cunningham, of the power house department, attended at the city hall on Friday night for the purpose of meeting a delegation, who it was understood, wished to place before the city officials proposals for a hydro-electric supply from the Fort McMurray district.

However, the delegation did not materialize and so no further knowledge is to hand concerning the scheme.

TRUCK SWERVES TO AVOID WOMAN; THREE CARS ARE DAMAGED

Two autos suffered slight damage shortly before four o'clock on Friday afternoon when one of the cars, which was standing just in front of the Monarch theatre on Jasper avenue, was struck by a Swift Canadian truck proceeding east and driven by A. J. Young. When the auto was struck by the truck a double-header collision was caused, inasmuch as the "push" resulted in crashing into another car, which was standing close by. The respective cars were owned by E. Wrednick, 9604 105A avenue, and M. L. Brown, of the Hook Signs.

The driver of the truck claimed that a woman ran out into the centre of the road, and in order to avoid striking her, he was obliged to swerve to the curb. Owing to the fact that the truck carried a very heavy load and the road had just been sprinkled, the weight caused a skid which resulted in the double collision. The two motor cars were damaged slightly but no one was hurt.

HUGHES SENT UP FOR TRIAL BY MAGISTRATE

Proprietor of Victoria Times Committed on Charge of Theft From D. Spencer

OUT ON BAIL

Defense Reserved By Defendant's Counsel—Suicide Contemplated Says Witness

VICTORIA, B.C., July 16.—Griffith R. Hughes was today committed for trial in a higher court, on a charge of stealing $28,095 from David Spencer, Ltd. after a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Jay in this city's police court.

The defendant's counsel reserved the defence, but indicated by the terms of a motion for dismissal that it would take the form of contending that the compainants had only the right to civil action against the accused; and that the crown, by the use of certain evidence, was placed in the same position as the complainants.

Some two hours after the committal, defendant was readmitted to bail in the sum of twenty thousand, and four sureties of five thousand each.

Mr. Justice Gregory, of the supreme court, granted the application for bail.

VICTORIA, B.C., July 16—The case of Griffith R. Hughes, charged with embezzlement on four counts from David Spencer, Limited, occupied the attention of Magistrate Jay in the city police court Friday, and is continuing.

W. B. Monteith, chartered accountant, now in charge of the Spencer books, was present with the firm's ledgers and bank books, and testified as to the alleged defalcations.

Mr. Monteith stated that Mr. Hughes had intimated his desire to make restitution.

Mr. Monteith said that he and Mr. McGeer met Mr. Hughes in his office. Mr. Monteith went on:

"At that conversation he turned over the shares of the Times and the deed to his farm at Cobble Hill, and other securities.

"On June 28 we had another conversation, and he said he had been thinking the matter over very carefully and as far as he could arrive at the amount, it was $325,000. He asked me to submit a proposition to Mr. Chris Spencer, the first time he came over. He put it down on a piece of paper."

Contemplated Suicide

On June 29 there was another conversation in which Mr. Hughes told him the night before he had been contemplating suicide, and had written three letters, one to Mrs. Hughes, one to Miss Hughes, and one to Chris Spencer. Later that night after writing these letters and before shooting himself he had been reading Mrs. Eddy's books and then had changed his mind. The letter to Chris Spencer he destroyed, but the letters to Mrs. and Miss Hughes were sent.

When the case against G. R. Hughes was called before Magistrate Jay Friday, H. A. MacLean, counsel for Mr. Hughes, stated that his client wanted to be tried by jury. To simplify matters, he offered to take all charges together and City Prosecutor Harrison said that evidence on the other items would be brought in on the $28,000 count.

Deposit Slips Produced

F. R. Wilgress, assistant accountant of the Bank of British North America, the first witness, produced deposit slips on the account of D. Spencer, Limited, showing itemized deposits to the credit of the firm.

The deposit slips from April 20 to June 12, were all put in. There were ninety six of them, representing deposits by Spencers during that time.

Cross-examined by Mr. MacLean, witness said he had only the evidence of the slips of paper passed on to him by other clerks as to the transactions.

Miss Olive Mary Price, secretary to Mr. Hughes for the last thirteen years, testified that his business was chartered accountant and publisher since he acquired the Victoria Times, about three years ago.

She testified that Mr. Hughes was chartered accountant to D. Spencer, Limited, and she had assisted him "insofar as he asked me to do."

Add Spencer Ledger in Private Office

"Sometimes I would add the Spencer ledger for him in our private office in the Times building,' she swore.

She had never made out deposit slips, she said, but merely copied them after which she took them to the bank and made the deposits.

Asked by Mr. Harrison as to where

GOVERNMENT TO CARRY ON SAYS NORRIS

Premier States it Will Submit Position And Policy to Legislature

WINNIPEG, July 15.That the government will carry on business of the province and that it will submit its proposition and policy to the legislative assembly when it meets, was the statement of Premier T. C. Norris tonight, following a well attended conference of the members of the cabinet and supporters of the government.

Premier Norris said: "We consulted elected and defeated candidates from all parts of the province and they unanimously endorsed the opinion of the government that the people generally considered it the duty of the government to carry on the business of the province. The government purposes to follow this course."

"At the first session of the new legislature," the premier added, "the government will submit its position and policy to the house."

PRICES FIRMER ON STOCKYARDS FOR PAST WEEK

Beef and Stocker Cattle Are Stronger in Tone and the Supply Short

Prices of beef and stocker catle were firm, to a trifle stronger, this week on the Edmonton Yards. There is very little good beef coming in, and only a few steers. Some cows and heifers took a very good price but farmers with steers on the grass that are going well, would be well advised to hold for another month or two, according to the indications of what was sold through the yards this week. Catle receipts were 513 for the week and 38 calves. Trading is quiet, but there seem sto be a stronger tone, for the good stuff and for the medium to poor, there is no demand at all. Several loads of cattle and hogs came in from the North during the week.

One steer weighing 1160 topped the market at $12.00; one weighin- 1100 sold for $11.00; three averaging 1220 sold $10.50; 3 averaging 1180 sold $10.50; four averaging 1125 sold $10.00 and tae bulk of the medium sold from $9.80 to $10.00. There was a fairly good demand for the best of the cows and heifers that came in. One butcher heifer weighing 1100 sold for $11.00, and butcher cows topper $10.00; one weighing 1090 selling for $10.00. The bulk of the good cows sold about $9.00; one weighing 1200 sold $9.00; 2 averaging 940 sold $9.00 1 weighing 1110 sold $9.00 and another 880 sold $9.00.

Cows Are Scarce

With the good demnad for stockers and the commission men holding large orders for this grade of stuff, the speculators on the yards have pretty well cleaned up. There is still an insufficient supply of stock cows and steers to supply the orders, and if the demand continues to exceed the supply, the price is not likely to drop to any extent. American buyers are on the market, but they will not buy at present prices. The stockers that have been sold are going out to points in Central Alberta. The prospect of abundant feed and grain has had the effect of sending the farmers in for cattle to feed. Choice stockers sold as high as $8.50, but the bulk sold $7.00 to $8.00 for good stuff and $5.25 to $7.00 for medium.

Very few bulls were offered, and these only of medium quality selling around $5.00 and $5.25. No oxen at all were offered.

The calf market was a little stronger, but few choice ones offered, the tops selling for $12.00. Several sold at $10.00 to $11.00 and the common grade calves selling around $6.00 and $8.00.

Hogs Are Steady

Hog receipts were 611 and the prospects are steady to strong. The price held steady all week at $18.50.

There are a few more sheep coming in, but the prices are not changing much. Lambs are a little stronger. Receipts for the week were 135.

Horse receipts for the week were 139. The dmand for horses is poor at present. There are a number being shipped through however.

C. O. Robinson of the firm of Clay Robinson & Co., of Chicago, is expected in the city Friday.

R. A. Thrall, secretary of the Knight Watson Co., of Lethbridge, is expected in the city Saturday.

Col. McKenzie has shipped through a car of settlers' effects this week. The load included 1 cow.

P. Burns & Co. got 172 hogs at the yards Wednesday. Also another load of 20 hogs and 9 cattle.

Harold Wonnacott shipped 5 horses and 3 cattle to J. B. Larson at Camrose.

W. M. Mustard shipped 11 horses with a load of settlers' effects from Innisfail to Mountain Park.

R. O. Hanson took 17 head of cattle out to Innisfree.

D. W. Wagar shipped 28 cattle and 5 calves through from Grande Prairie to Viking.

T. A. Morrison shipped 32 head of cattle to Winter, Sask.

A. J. Hills & Co. shipped 27 steers to George Allen.

Jack Kachanko shipped 6 cattle with a load of settlers' effects to Monitor.

If Thin, Nervous, Run Down, Depressed This Will Help!

The wear and strain of life has tended in recent years to produce nervous debility in a large percentage of our population.

Thousands are affected with a feeling they can't exactly describe. They are always tired and droopy, lack ambition, have poor appetite, look pale and suffer from depressing headaches and insomnia.

This condition is full of peril. It is the stepping stone to invalidism, the beginning of a shattered constitution.

We advise everyone in this condition to take a good medicine at once and try to get well while yet there is time.

Probably no better advice can be given than to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which have become famous in restoring the sick to good health. A general toning up of the system at once takes place. The whole body is vitalized by rich and purer blood. The appetite is increased, food is digested and naturally strength rapidly increases. Headaches go because the bowels are regulated and all wastes are carried off.

There is no experiment about using Dr. Hamilton's Pills because they certainly restore the sick, as a trial will quickly prove. Just as good for the old as the young and suitable to the needs of women and children. This grand family medicine should be in every home.

WOMEN SOLDIERS HOLD EIGHT MILE FRONT AT VILNA

WARSAW, July 15.—(Associated Press).—Women soldiers have taken up positions for the defense of Vilne. They are under the command of Madame Goercz, who fought with General Pilsudski and also operated last year with the women during the siege of Lemberg.

Commander Goercz, is 26 years old. She contends that women can hold their own alongside the men, even in the front line.

Madame Goercz has about one thousand women under her command. Many of them are strong women of the factory type, who are eager for excitement and adventure.

Successful Dentistry

You often hear of "A Successful Dentist," one who has amassed considerable money in his practice, but that does not always mean that his work has been successful.

Exorbitant fees will make anyone rich in time.

But the really successful dentist is the one who by reasonable prices, plus the quality and lasting nature of his work, has built up a large practice, the basis of which is public confidence and esteem. Those are the factors which have made for our success and standing in this city and province.

HURRIED FIRE CALL

The fire department had a hurried call to the residence of J. Hartig, 9531 103A avenue, at six o'clock Friday evening, and upon their arrival found that the woodwork in the kitchen had caught fire from an oil stove. walls and ceiling, and the blaze was soon extinguished by means of the chemicals. It appears that Mr. Hartig sent a young boy to the kitchen to light the oil stove and put a kettle of water on for supper. The boy did as requested but forgot and left the burner turned up too high which caused the fire to catch to the woodwork.

Hon. Geo. P. Smith Opens Camrose Fair; Farmers Are in Holiday Mood Exhibition Is Off To Good Start

Hon. A. J. McLean Also an Official Guest of The Opening Ceremonies

By Bulletin Staff Reporter.

CAMROSE, July 16.—Camrose is holding its annual fair during the hottest weather of the season, and although the district would welcome rain, the crops are not suffering yet and the farmers attending the fair are generally in holiday mood and the fair prospers accordingly. Thursday, the formal opening was made by Hon. George P. Smith, minister of education and member for the Camrose riding. Hon. A. J. McLean was also an official guest of the opening ceremonies. Friday morning, the crowd started to come in early and by one o'clock the "ice-cold" concessionaries had pretty well sold their stock, and S.O.S. cals had gone out to the wholesale firms for further supplies. By the middle of the afternoon, the entrance fees showed a larger attendance than for the whole three days of last year and pretty well up to the record fair of 1918. Last year, they got off to a bad start with a small cyclone and rain the first day of the fair, but this year, except for the excessive heat, the weather is ideal.

During the afternoon, the free attractions were put on in front of the grand stand, and Dare Devil Wilson was a great favorite with his death defying leap from the top of the 72-foot ladder. The Campbell Bros in their casting act was also splendid, and their performance is very finished. This quartette was on the Pantages circuit last winter. The grand stand and bleachers were crowded all afternoon, and most of the people were staying over for the night performance. On the midway, the Westerman Toyland Shows were doing a good business all day, and the rides are full at of fun at every turn.

Judging Commences.

Judging started at ten in the morning and judges included Professor A. R. Dowell, of the University of Alberta, who is placing awards on the beef cattle; E. W. Bjorkland, of Daysland, who is pudging the dairy cattle and the hogs; Jas. Liddell, of Lougheed, the horses; Herbert Smith of Camrose, the sheep and Richard Oake of London, Ontario, the poultry. Alex Galbraith, of Edmonton, Superintendent of farms and institutes, was also a visitor Friday.

In the main building, there is a fine exhibit from the provincial department of health, in charge of Miss E. M. Davidson and Miss M. Wilkin. They are having a baby health conference Friday and Saturday afternoons, when every facility has been provided for giving babies a thorough examination. In the main building also is an exhibit by the British American Paint Co., showing a display of Bapco products for the Manning Sutherlaind Co., of Camrose. E. W. Kemp, Edmonton, is in charge, Jas. B. Hawkins, has in a tasty exhibit for the Western Canada Flour Mills, the Camrose Piano Co., had a popular exhibit, in that their gramophones were giving entertaining music all day. There was also a display of No-Vary goods and of Robin Hood Flour.

In the women's work, Mrs. Jas. Clemons, of Edmonton was awarding the prizes. These is some very good work shown but hardly up to last year in quantity.

Exide Batteries and Alemite.

Fred E. Brake is showing on the track, high pressure lubricating systems; two harness events and three running races were run off Friday afternoon, W. R. West of Edmonton, being the starter.

One of the chief features of the Friday judging was the children's calf class. There was also quite an entry in the children's lamb class, but they were all ages and sizes and breeds and its was difficult to award the prizes.

Horses

In the Clydesdales, Webster of Lacombe and McDonald of Strome, were the principal exhibitors, Webster winning the championships. There was considerable interest over the placing of the female championship, since Judge Liddell, changed the placing some of the mares considerably from that accorded them at Red Deer. The two year old filly that was put to second place at Red Deer, although alone in her class, was shot up to first in her class, and championship of the breed here. McDonald won out in the teams. Vanstone and Rogers were showing in the Belgians and Percheron classes and Chas. Nord, of Camrose was alone in the Suffolk Punches. He had three mares with foals showing in the mare class and in the foals. There are some nice entries in the heavy draught classes.

Vanstone and Rogers got first and second in the ager stallion class in the Percherons and a local man, O. R. Brager was given third place. In the two year old stallions, O. A. Williams of Ohaton was first with C. P. Wilson of Bittern Lake second and for championship Vanstone and Rogers were the winners.

In the Belgians, Vanstone and Rogers were winners again in the aged class with C. P. Ellson second, with a very nice animal.

Shires

In the Shires, Tom Rawlinson was the only exhibitor and took all of the awards with the exception of the yearling stallions where Vanstone and Rogers was the winner.

CATTLE

In the Shorthorns, W. C. Short of Edmonton was the principal exhibitor, V. W. Smith of Camrose was alone in the Herefords and in the Angus cattle, there was nice competition between the herds of A. E. and E. S. Clemons of Sedgewick, and S. C. Pritchard of Camrose.

In the Holsteins there was a good showing, the exhibitors being George Bevington of Winterburn, Wm. Gilbert of Stony Plain, S. Olson of Camrose a new exhibitor who is showing nice stock. Had his young stock been in a little better condition he might have changed the order of the awards.

There is also good competition in the Jerseys, the Williamson herd of Fort Saskatchewan has entries in all classes, and competing for first places are Hand of Stettler and Ford of Camrose who had in a couple entries. Hand won the senior bull championship with Manilla's Jumble. The yearling taking the grand championship has great promise.

The awards:

Clydesdales

Stallion, 4 years old,—1, A. Webster, Lacombe; 2, Vanstone and Rogers, North Battleford.

Stallion, 2 years old,—1, F. McDonald, Strome.

Filly, 3 years old,—1 and 2, Webster; 3, McDonald.

Foal 1920,—1, Webster; 2 and 3, McDonald.

YACHTS READY FOR ANOTHER RACE TODAY

Both Have Been Repaired—To-Day's Race Will be Over Triangular Course

SANDY HOOK, July 16.—Resolute and Shamrock IV with repairs made tonight were ready to race again tomorrow for the America's cup. The crew of the defender had renewed the broken halyard and gaff which caused their sloop withdrawing yesterday, giving the first contest to Sir Thomas Lipton, and the Irish baronet's yachting forces had replaced a weakened bow sprit with which the Shamrock had slipped across the finish line.

A bowsprit iron had worked inboard on the Shamrock so that if the Resolute had not been forced out of the race, by an accident, the Shamrock, deprived of heads, would doubtless have been left hopelessly astern. This became known only today when a new bowsprit was stepped.

Whereas yesterday's race was over a windward and leeward course, a fifteen-mile beat down the Jersey shore and return—tomorrow's contest will be over a triangular course, ten miles to a leg. Like yesterday's, tomorrow's start and finish will be at the Ambrose Channel lightship, in the middle of New York bay, but the course itself will not be announced by the race committee until a few minutes before the preparatory signal is blown.

Betting is Light

Sir Thomas with one victory to his credit, must win two more to lift the cup and the Resolute must capture three races to retain it.

Betting odds on Wall Street on the remaining America's cup races, were—on the series, even money on Resolute and Shamrock IV; tomorrow's race, six to five on the Resolute; to win three straight races, Shamrock one to two. The betting today was light.

FARMERS RESENT THE ABOLITION OF WHEAT BOARD

CALGARY, July 16.—A sudden outburst of feeling which found vent in cries of disapproval and was followed by the passing of a strongly-worded resolution condemning the action of the government, greeted the reading at the Bow River district, U.F.A. political convention yesterday of a telegram from Ottawa announcing that the wheat board will not function in the handling of the 1920 wheat crop. The effect of the telegram was electrical, but for the most part, the delegates suppresed their emotion. Immediately afterwards, a resolution was carried urging the U.F.A. executive in co-operative marketing of the 1920 wheat crop. The resolution unanimously passed and without discussion, the convention passing on immediately to the next order of business.

The association decided to place organizers in the field in all parts of the constituency immediately after the harvest.

LIBERALS NOMINATE FOR FEDERAL SEATS

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., July 16.—At the Liberal convention for Queens county today, John E. Sinclair, M.P., and D. A. McKinnon, a former lieutenant-governor, and former M.P. for the county, were nominated as federal candidates.

THREE OREGON MILITIAMEN KILLED; FOUR INJURED.

CAMP LEWIS, Wash., July 16—Three Oregon militiamen were killed and four injured here today through the bursting of a six-inch rifle on the artillery target range.

HOW MANY FURNACES SHALL HE TEND?

LONDON, July 16.—(Canadian Associated Press)—The Acquitania, Liverpool for New York, was unable to sail through a dispute as to whether one man shall tend nine or twelve oil furnaces.

SHOE RETAILERS TO MEET IN WINNIPEG.

MONTREAL, July 16.—The next annual convention of the National Shoe Retailers' association, now in convention here, will be held in Winnipeg, the executive decided this afternoon. The convention came practically to a conclusion today when all outstanding business was disposed of. Tomorrow there will be held a big industrial parade and a field day of sports for factory employees.

TRADE ROUTE FROM VANCOUVER TO FAR EAST ESTABLISHED

MONTREAL, July 16—R. B. Teakle general manager of the Canadian government merchant marine, announced today the establishment of a trade route on the Pacific side of Canada from Vancouver to the far east. The route starts from Vancouver to Shanghai, thence to Hongkong, Singapor, Colombo, Calcutta and ending at Rangoon. It is expected that the first ship will be dispatched from Vancouver early in September and the vessels employed will be of the largest type of 8,300-ton vessels, being built on the Pacific coast. At least one ship a month will be placed on the route.

LONDON, July 16.—(Canadian Associated Pres)—The house of commons today rejected by 130 to 39 the motion to delete the imperial preference clauses from the finance bill.

LITTLE HOPE OF EARLY REDUCTION IN SUGAR PRICES

OTTAWA, July 16.—In a memorandum dealing with the sugar situation issued today by the board of commerce, little hope is held out that there is likely to be a reduction in price in the near future.

"The outlook," says the board, "is far from clear, but the best advices lead to the view that the prices of the present summer will represent near the highest level. This does not mean that the prices ruling at the moment, wholesale and retail, may not yet reach a higher figure. While this point remains uncertain, the Canadian consumer should look to the probability of an advance in the near future after which, unless all conditions have been misapprehended by competent observers, a decline may be expected."

The Daily Poem

LIFE OR DEATH?

To hope is life, to fear is death,
And life is blissful to the brave,
While cowards scent in June's sweet breath
The noisome odors of the grave.

The hope of life is life in truth;
The fear of death itself is death,
And hope or fear, to age from youth,
Delights or blights each mortal's path.

Hope knows no fear, fear knows no hope,
And earth is heaven to those who trust,
While sunless skies shroud those who grope
For wisdom in confusion's dust.

Hope is the ever flaming star—
The orb of life's supernal seat—
Blazing the trackless spaces far,
To homeward guide faith's eager feet.

The craven fool who daily dies
The hero's one triumphant death
Resigns to fear life's only prize,
And barters heaven for a breath.
—Howard N. Fuller in N. Y. Sun.

The attractive grounds of the Eaton home on Glencoe Road, were the scene of a charming garden tea Wednesday afternoon when Miss Royal Eaton entertained in honor of Miss Kathleen Kirkland. The guests were received by Mrs. and Miss Eaton on the spacious verandah where the tea table, centered with pink carnations, was presided over by Mrs. Ramsbottom and Mrs. E. Pearson, of Edmonton. Those assisting in serving were Miss Edna Robinson, Miss Edith Smith and Miss Anna Millican. About 30 guests were entertained.—Calgary Herald.

The Moore-McNeill Nuptials

A Real Scotch Wedding
And A Bonny Scotch Bride

One of the prettiest weddings ever celebrated in Edmonton, was solemnised a tthe handsome residence of Mr. and Mrs. John McNeill, 108th street on Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock, when their only daughter (Sweet Mary McNeill) Mary Galt Ferguson McNeill, was united in marriage to Mr. Donald Moore, one of the popular members of the buyers staff of James Ramsey, limited, Rev. Kenneth W. Barton, of the First Presbyterion church, officiating.

To the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march, played by Miss Mitchell, the bride entered the large drawing room on the arm of her father, who gave her into the keeping of the groom, before an improvised altar of potted palms, ferns and cut flowers and pink and white carnations, where the marriage service was read. The bride was charmingly sweet in a travelling costume of terra cotta embroidered tricotine, with embroidered blouse of georgette of the same color, wearing a picture hat of black maline and lace, trimmed in tiny French roses, and carried a boquet of Ophelia roses and white Sweet Peas. She was also wearing a white fox stole, the gift of her mother, and the gift of the groom, a handsome platinum ring set with a large diamond. She was attended by Miss Margaret Stevens, an old time school girl friend from Scotland, who was wearing a suit of blue tricotine, with large black hat, the jacket opening over a rose colored blouse of georgette crepe. She carried a boquet of pink rose. Mr. "Billy" McNeill, brother of the bride, acted as best man. The house throughout was a perfect bower of cut flowers and potted plants, a color scheme of pink and white being worked out with pink and white carnations. During the signing of the register, Mr. John MacKinnon, accompanied by Madame Carey, sang "Because" in a very effective manner. Presents too numerous and elaborate to be mentioned in detail occupied the long table in the dining room, a few of which included cut glass, silver in profusion, of all kinds and patterns, rare chinas, linens, embroidered pieces, etc. Noticeable among these was a Victoria, from the James Ramsey Co., Ltd., a handsome pair of cut glass vases from the girls of Mr. Moore's department, a silver coffee parcolator, from the office staff of J. Ramsey Ltd., a dinner set of Minton from the bride's brothers John and Hugh, a tea set of Royal Crown Derby from Mr. Billy McNeill, a Piano from the bride's father, a fifty dollar bill and bric a brac linens, embroidered pieces, etc., too numerous to mention, as well as a half dozen Scotch wool blankets and linens from the bride's grandmother, Mrs. John MacKenzie of Glasgow, Scotland.

The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a string of pearls, and to the best man, a set of pearl shirt studs.

The bride's mother was handsomely kowned in navy blue silk tricolette with large black hat of georgette, trimmed in French roses.

After the ceremony the bride's cake was cut and her health drunk in true Scotch fashion by the assembled company after which they repaired to the Macdonald hotel, where about eighty guests sat down to an elaborate wedding dinner served in the dining rooms on the mezzanine floor, the tables effectively decorated with pink and white carnations and sweet peas. The Macdonald orchestra discoursed quaint old Scotch tunes during the wedding feast. As an entre act of the dinner, the groom's friends arrayed him in the Kilties and tartan of the MacKenzie-Stewart Clans and introduced him to the assembly as a member of the McNeill clan, amid the cheers and happy suggestion of the whole company. Another picture of the wedding party was taken at the dinner, after which the happy couple were escorted to the C.P.R. station to the joyful accompaniment of cow bells, and other noisemaking instruments of happy and care-free throng of merry makers. Quantities of confetti, and good wishes, besides a printed picture of the newlyweds with a few heartfelt outpourings of their friends below, the engravings being handed to the engineer, the conductor and other train officials to make their trip a happy one, closed a most interesting wedding ceremony. The happy couple will spend a two-months honeymoon in the east visiting Murray Bay and Mr. Moore's parents in Strathroy, Ontario, as well as other eastern points. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Moore will be at home to their friends in the Dunstan apartments.

At the wedding dinner, the Rev. K. W. Barton proposed the toast to the bride, which was responded to by the groom, followed by a short speech from ex-chief George Hill, a toast to the ladies and also a response by Mr. John McNeill, father of the bride and also a short address by Mr. Black.

After the happy couple were duly installed on their train for the east, many members of the wedding party repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John McNeill where dancing, music and speeches from the different members of the party made up an old time wedding celebration, Madame Carey gave several songs, and piano selections, the merry making lasting into the wee small hours, closed one of the happiest events celebrated in Edmonton in many a long day. The best and sincere good wishes of all go with the populare young couple for their future.

A few of the invited guests included Mr. and Mrs. James Ramsey, Mr. and Mrs. Rathbone Smith, Dr. and Mrs. J. K. McClennan, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sutherland, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. McDougall, Mr. and Mrs. S. Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Black, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dynes, Mr. and Mrs. White, Mr. and Mrs. Slater, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. M. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Sexsmith, Mr. and Mrs. Billy McNeill, Mr. and Mrs. Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Chubb, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Colvin, Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gunn, Miss Nell Colbert, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pepper, Miss Betty Hill, Miss Margaret Stevenson, Rev. K. W. Barton, Miss H. Yuill, Miss Bessie Third, Miss M. M. Mitchell, Mr. John McFarlane, Mr. George Hill, Mr. Andrew Slater, Mr. Jos. Adair, Mr. A. S. Ramsey, Mr. John Reid, Sr., Mr. George Hill, Jr., Mr. G. McDermid, Mr. James Stevenson, Mr. John McKinnon, Dr. MacKay, Mr. F. A. Richards, Mr. Will Atkinson, Mr. H. S. PRES. BOTTERELL DECLINES TO MAKE OFFICIAL STATEMENT

WINNIPEG, July 16.—When shown the dispatch from Ottawa stating that the government had decided to discontinue control of wheat marketing at the end of the 1919-1920 wheat crop, J. E. Botterell, president of the Winnipeg grain exchange refused to make any official comment until notification had been received from Ottawa.

"The dispatch further confirms my personal belief that the government of Canada is most anxious to have its trade and commerce return to normal conditions," Mr. Botterell said, adding that the local exchange was fully prepared to function in the old way as soon as the market was declared open.

IRVING—PINDER

Nurse Irving, who has been since Christmas of last year engaged in masseuse work at the Belcher hospital, and who left on a short visit to her home in Victoria last week, returned to Calgary on Wednesday evening, the wife of Major Frank G. Pinder, an officer on the headquarters staff of the newly formed Canadian Air Force. It is interesting to note the happy couple knew each other as children, their parents' houses having adjoined each other in Victoria.

Mrs. Pinder, like so many more of our Canadian girls, at once jumped into war work when war broke out, and in 1915 engaged in masseuse work in a military hospital in Victoria, going from there to Whitby military hospital, Ontario, in 1916, and serving in the same capacity since Christmas, 1917, at Belcher hospital, Calgary. Her return as Mrs. Pinder last evening was a genuine and pleasant surprise to her many friends in this city.

Major Pinder was in Dawson when war broke out, and came down to Victoria with Boyle's Horse. He transferred to the 2nd C.M.R.'s there and after crossing to England joined the Air Force. Early in 1916, after a few months of air fighting on the French front, he was wounded and brought down by the famous Immelman, and spent two years in prison at Crefeld, Schwamstead, Holtzminden and Heidelberg. He was sent to Switzerland in 1918, as his wounds, which included both arms, were so serious that he was considered to be permanently incapacitated from further active service. The treatment he received there, however, caused a quick recovery, and he returned to England. There he was engaged in instructing in aero schools until after the armistice. Major Pinder is now on the headquarters staff of the Canadian Air Force, and is now on a tour arranging for recuiting at the various points in the west for the air service.

The marriage, which took place in Victoria, on Monday, July 5th, was attended by Mrs. Irving, mother of the bride; Major R. Kerr, a brother officer of the Air Force, who also served in the flying force in France; the bride being given away by Mr. Justice Gregory, an old friend of the family. Major and Mrs. Pinder left the same evening for the east, stopping one day at Vancouver. They leave tonight for Edmonton.—Calgary Herald.

NIXON—EDWARDS

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Nairn, Kelliher, late of Edmonton, a quiet but extremely pretty wedding took place on July 13th, when Mrs. H. Nixon was united in marriage to Mr. S. Edwards. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. D. G. Connery, of Killihar. The bride looked charming in a gown of russet brown silk and georgette costume, and was attended by little Miss Marjorie Bruce and Mabel Nixon. After congratulations and a weding supper, the happy couple left for the coast, visiting friends in Edmonton en route. The groom's present to the bride was a diamond ring. Mr. and Mrs. Edwards will make their home in Vancouver.

BULYEA—JONES

On Wednesday evening at the home of Dr. H. E. Bulyea, 10201 113th street, Miss Ida Matilda Bulyea of Central Cambridge, N.B., and Mr. Frank Wilmot Jones of Harper's camp, B. C., were united in marriage. The bride was given away by her brother, Dr. H. E. Bulyea. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. A. Clarke of First Baptist church. The young couple have gone to reside at Harper's camp, B. C.

RAMSHAW—MEADOWS

A quiet wedding was solemnized in Holy Trinity church, Thursday, July 15, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, when Miss Gladys May Meadows became the wife of Mr. William H. Ramshaw, both of Edmonton South. The Rev. W. Everard Edmonds was the officiating clergyman. Miss Bella Good attended the bride, and Mr. Walter Haddock supported the groom. Both the groom and the best man are returned veterans The bride looked charming in a stylish suit of dark blue cloth trimmed with black silk braid, and wore a picture hat to match, finished with touches of pink. Mr. and Mrs. Ramshaw will make their home in Edmonton South.

Girlish, Wrinkle-Free Skin Easy to Have
Since its remarkable astringent and tonic properties became known, clever women all over the world have been using the saxolite face bath to "tone up" their faces, remove wrinkles and draw flabby cheeks and neck back to normal. After using the solution, the face immediately feels much firmer. The skin tightens evenly all over the face, thus reducing lines and sagginess. The formula is: Powdered saxolite, one ounce, dissolved in witch hazel, one-half pint.
This simple and harmless face bath is a splendid thing for the outdoor girl, since sun, wind and flying dust are so provocative of squinting, and other contortions which cause wrinkles and crew's feet. Also it is fine to freshen up a tired face in hot, depressing weather.

Why Do People Take Monkey Glands?

Rejuvenation, both physically and mental, can be acquired, much easier and more pleasantly than by taking or eating the glands from monkeys. The French have invented a Medicine, in tablet form, that does away with all other means of rejuvenation. These Tablets are now universally sold throughout Canada, and are known as VITAL Tablets. They supply the necessary Vigor and Youth. There is no need to import chimpanzees from Africa, to take their glands to inject into people. Why go to all this trouble, and expense, when VITAL Tablets can now be procured right in your own town, from your drug store? VITAL Tablets taken for a short period, disease of every description, old age with all its aches and pains, will be a thing of the past. Young men and women with their pale faces, thin blood, impure blood, blotches on the skin, run down, worn out, tired people can be placed in a state of good health, with pure blood, strong nerves, a strong stomach, a healthy body, full of youth and vigor. Every Tablet of this new medicine contains the elements to make you feel as nature intended you to feel, no matter what your trouble is, go to your druggist and procure a box of VITAL Tablets. If they do not do you good, go back and get your money. Get on your feet, away with that pale, worn out look on the face. VITAL will bring back the rose of youth. Price fifty cents per box at all drug stores.

Sold in Edmonton at Mooneys Drug Store, Hayes Drug Store, and Lines Drug Store. In Strathcona at Morris Drug Store, and all good druggists.

Next of Kin Hold Fine Baby Show

On Thursday afternoon in the large room, Memorial hall, a baby show, under the auspices of the Next-of-kin Association, open to members only of that organization, was held. The babies were fine, beautiful specimens, and the judges did not find their task of picking out the winners specially easy. Eventually the prize, of a silver mug, for the baby between 8 and 12 months old, was awarded to Irene Ball, aged 10 months. The prize for the baby from 4 to 8 months, another silver mug, was won by Winifred Tremball, aged 5 months. John Gale, aged 4 months, was the winner of the prize in the 1-to-4 months division. This was a silver spoon. Amongst other mothers whose babies competed were Mrs. Price, Mrs. Coyle, Mrs. Wild, Mrs. Barton, Mrs. Hollaway, and Mrs. Phillips. One little fellow only 17 days old, and a very fine child for his age, came in for a good share of attention, though he was not entered for competition.

The babies behaved splendidly, and gave the judges, Dr. Brander, Dr. Leach, and Nurse Sullivan, practically no trouble during the whole proceedings. In the absence of Mrs. Tierney, president of the Next-of-kin Association, the prizes were awarded by the vice-president, Mrs. H. M. E. Evans, and Mrs. E. Macey.

Ice cream and refreshments were served during the afternoon, and a little collection of aprons of various kinds gained the attention of a number of buyers, who soon bought up the lot. The proceeds of this sale will be donated to the funds of the Mutual Sympathy branch of the Next-of-kin Association.

Kansas Women Will Fight Ruling That Age Is Essential

Topeka, Kansas, July 16—Woman suffrage and women's club leaders generally Friday rallied to the support of the position taken by Mrs. Margaret Hill McCarter, Thursday, in refusing to give her age when she went to register as a voter. Mrs. McCarter declared she will contest the ruling that a woman can not register unless she gives her age more definitely than "over 21."

Work of Womens Institutes of Alberta

TAKE UP SCHOLARSHIPS

Two provinces, Alberta and Saskatchewan, have taken up the "scholarship" idea as part of the program of the women's institutes and homemakers' clubs. Alberta began last year and to Daysland and Verdant belongs the honor of being the first institutes to raise $300 each for this purpose—for this is the sum required to pay the expenses of a girl for a year at one of the agricultural schools of the province. The homemakers' clubs of Saskatchewan are devoting their efforts with the idea in view of getting teachers for the non-English speaking districts. This decision was made when a resolution to this effect was passed at their recent convention.

"Whereas, we believe that the only true Canadianisation of the non-English elements in our country must begin with the home life and familiarity with our daily habits of living;

"Therefore, it is our wish, as members of the homemakers' clubs, that our organization should establish a scholarship consisting of $350 to a teacher for the purpose of enabling her to take the one-year teacher's course in household science at the university, on the understanding that said teacher will be willing to teach in a non-English district for a term of not less than three years and use her knowledge of household science to assist in the Canadianization of the homes in her district."

This scholarship fund is supposed to cover living expenses, fees and books for the seven months' school term.

ALBERTA'S TRAVELLING LIBRARIES

Eighteen travelling libraries have just been assembled by the superintendent, Miss Mary MacIsaac, while innumerable reference books on the subjects of home economics, home-nursing, sanitation, hygiene, nutrition, household administration, cookery, sewing and textiles, agriculture, natural history, art, applied art, industrial art, architecture, geography, history, biographies, civics, education of women, anthologies and poetry have been added to the reference library and may be had on application to the superintendent through local secretaries and kept for a maximum period of two months. There is also the women's institute loan collection, which consists of bulletins, magazine clippings and reference books, especially prepared to help in the various topics that are discussed at the institute meetings. There is a splendid assortment of books by Canadian authors in the libraries.

GIRLS' CLUB WORK.

The forming of young people's clubs has filled a very much-needed part of rural life, especially in a new country like Alberta, where only a very few years ago there was absolutely not a single medium for social life of any kind. This was one of the causes that has made so many young people discontented with life in the country, with the eventual effect that they have left it altogether and flocked to the cities. Among the many kinds of clubs formed in the small town and rural communities that are very successful—this success evidenced by their rapid growth—is the Women's Institute Girls' club. This has many advantages, the chief being that it is one of the mediums of not only sociability but of education; its constitution being an amendment to an act of parliament which provides that it receives government assistance in a yearly grant and the privilege of having a speaker or a demonstration lecture course once a year

A number of girls' clubs, including Argyle, Munson and Collingwood, are studying first aid. Talbot has millinery classes; Sibbald and Cavendish have formed basketball teams, and Aldersyde has gone in for tennis. The girls raise money by various ways, such as Cavendish is giving a series of teas; Warner junior girls sold ice cream and cake on the occasion of Miss Noble's visit, July 8; Aldersyde gave a dance and raffled a quilt; Airdrie had a booth at the annual sports day July 14; Talbot got up a play and concert; Munson gace a "Thrift" dance, and Argyle Excelsior has a mite box. This latter club is going to donate the proceeds of this to the prohibition campaign. Carstairs girls' club recently gave a most successful lawn social, which netted the sum of $68, in order to raise funds to buy equipment for camping this summer. The girls sewed articles, baked cakes and solicited donations of home-cooking. A fish pond proved very attractive, and altogether these girls have raised $95 toward their camping expedition.

MRS. HUGHES, SOUTHERN DIRECTOR, VISITS INSTITUTES

Mrs. Hughes of Cavendish, director for Southern Alberta, has made a tour of the institutes in her district, speaking on institute aims and objects. Vandyne assembled at the home of Mrs. Brotherton to meet her and were most enthusiastic. Buffalo, which is a new institute, met at the home of Mrs. Jas. Mode. A friend of the members of this institute donated $5 as a start for the treasury with the announcement that from that meeting to the July meeting she would give a dollar for every dollar raised by the institute. The members are working very hard.

GEM WELCOMES NEWCOMERS

When Mrs. Rodgers, the provincial secretary, visited Gem, the institute arranged a reception for the newcomers of the district. A splendid musical program was procided and the meeting resulted in six new members being enrolled.

HELPING A SICK WOMAN

Broadview reports that they are keeping a sick woman of the district in fruit and flowers. This institute denoated $5 to the travellers' aid recently. Mrs. Geo. Johnston was a speaker at a recent meeting, her topic being "The Beauty of Pictures."

GIVE $10 TO FEDERATION

Arthurville-Paulson W. I. has donated $10 toward the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada. The June program was most interesting. It included several recitations by Mrs. Norton, an excellent paper on "The Country Woman," and a humorous recitation by Miss Ragg.

WILL HAVE MOCK POLLING BOOTH

Merna will have a mock polling booth at the August meeting and the roll call will be answered by current events. Mr. D. Pomeroy was the speaker at the July meeting, his topic being "Co-operation With the Home and School."

WILL BUILD A SIDEWALK

Spring Coulee reports: "The W. I. is raising funds to build a sidewalk at the school house. A dance and social was given in June, at which the sum of $56.25 was raised and will be used for this purpose.

WILL SERVE FREE LUNCH

Czar W. I. will serve a free lunch to the children at the school fair in September. This institute voted $5 toward the federation fund.

GARRINGTON SEWS FOR CHILDREN

Garrington members spent the time of last meeting sewing for a motherless family of four. This branch now has 42 members and is very active.

FLEET IS BUSY

Among the various things planned and discussed at the July meeting of the Fleet W. I. was the raising of the money for the scholarship fund, helping a little girl whose eyes need special medical attention and the annual picnic.

WILL HELP PROHIBITION

Endeavor resolved to help the prohibition campaign at the last meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. R. S. Watson. This branch has voted $15 toward the constituency fund.

SUNWISE HAS CHILDREN'S DAY

Sunwise planned a children's day July 14, when the children were given a real old-fashioned treat with all the ice cream they could eat.

TO HOLD A BAZAAR

Countess W. I. is preparing to hold a bazaar. The president, Mrs. Burrows, is giving a prize for the most useful and best article made from a flour sack. The institute made the sum of $33 at a recent bazaar.

TEACHING IN PRIMARY GRADES

Miss Hamilton gave a very interesting talk on methods used in teaching primary pupils at a recent meeting of Walsh W. I. After adjournment the usual social hour was spent and refreshments were served.

TO MEET AT MEMBERS' HOUSES.

Dinton W. I. has decided to meet at the houses of the various members and the last meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Laycraft. This institute is planning a concert and entertainment when a quilt, which the members have made, will be sold.

SOUNDING CREEK SENDS $107

Sounding Creek has sent altogether the sum of $107 for relief work in Southern Alberta. A market day and birthday social netted a sum over a hundred dollars and this branch reports that $130 will clear the rest room of any debt.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

Talbot W. I. reports that the women's institute and U. F. A. membership drive has been most successful and at the time of this report 44 members have been enrolled. An egg collection replenished the treasury to the extent of $12.

FRECKLES

March Worst Month for This Trouble—How to Remove Easily

There's a reason why nearly everybody freckles in March, but happily there is also a remedy for these ugly blemishes and no one need stay freckled.

Simply get an ounce of Othine, double strength, from your druggist and apply a little of it night and morning and in a few days you should see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the light ones have vanished entirely. Now is the time to rid yourself of freckles, for if not removed now they may stay all summer, and spoil an otherwise beautiful complexion. Your money back if Othine fails.

ESKIMOS LOSE IN NINTH WHEN MAROONS BATTER AL BONNER OUT OF THE BOX

Eskimos Had Victory Tucked Away Until Ninth Inning When Bevy of Extra Base Hits Ending With a Home Run Send Four Runs Over Plate And Win Game For Maroons

WINNIPEG, Man., July 16.—With victory all but tucked away in his glove Al Bonner, the big right hander of the Eskimos received a bombardment in the ninth round that drove him off the mound, and gave the Maroons four runs and victory, nine to seven, in the first game of the series here tonight. The Eskimos had shown the way from the very first round, had started with a three run lead and at the seventh were four to the good but Bonner was getting touched up rather lively in nearly every round and the climax came in the ninth when Melillo singled, Raleigh scored him with a triple and Benton followed with another three bagger tying the score. Valentine then took up the work on the mound but he couldn't stop the rampant Maroons as O'Neil nicked one of his fast ones for a home run and the game was pulled out of the fire. The contest was most interesting all the way despite the fact that the visitors took advantage of Hurry Benton's wildness to score most of their runs and make every one of their five hits figure in the scoring. But the locals were hitting the ball hard and only clever fielding prevented damage on many occasions but the dramatic finish made the fans forget the early mistakes and failures to come through with bingles when needed.

The game was snappy all the way, some bright fielding giving the fans plenty to enthuse over. The visitors had a busy time in the outfield pulling down the many high drives while they pulled off a sparkling infield double play which stopped a likely rally of the Sheehanites in the eighth. The batting of O'Neil and Raleigh was the big feature of a very bright contest, the right fielder crowning a wonderful nights walloping with a four ply blow having made a single, triple, double. Home run Raleigh also contributed a circuit drive with none out and had a single and triple. Forsythe was the batting king of the visitors with two timely bingles, a single and triple.

TOMMY BURNS BADLY BEATEN BY BECKETT

Tommy Wanted to Keep on But Seconds Threw it Up in Seventh

LONDON, Eng., July 16.—Tommy Burns, one time heavyweight champion pugilist of the world, was stopped in the seventh round of what was to have been a 20-round bout in the Albert Hall tonight, by Joe Beckett, heavyweight champion of England.

The seconds of the FrenchCanadian fighter threw up the sponge after Burns had taken counts of seven and nine. Burns protested and desired to continue the unequal fight, but his plea was unavailing. It was really a fight in which brute strength was pitted against age. Burns is nearly 13 years older than Beckett, and has not engaged in a boxing match for many years. Three months' of hard training had not reduced his waist line and he appeared to be sluggish when the fight began.

It seemed that Beckett could have ended the bout in the second round, when Burns, to save himself, repeatedly clinched after having received a series of blows to the head and body. Nevertheless the ex-champion came back in the third and this was his best round. His blows, however, lacked the old-time strength and he could not hurt his rugged opponent.

VETERANS ARE OUT OF CITY BALL LEAGUE

Unable to Field a Team Strong Enough to Make Game Interesting

The Vets have dropped out of the city baseball league. Manager Drayton announced to an executive meeting of the league held immediately after the game last night that he was unable to field a better team than he has been putting in the games all season and the results of its games indicated clearly that it was not good enough for the league. During the season he tried out dozens of players but has been absolutely unable to strengthen sufficiently to give the other clubs a battle. The players who are released by the dropping out of the Vets may catch a place on other teams. Godfrey goes to the Grotto and Vance to the Knights of Columbus. The schedule will remain the same, the games which they should play going to the other teams by default.

Today's game in the city league will be between the Grotto and the Y.M.C.A., and will start at 2.30 o'clock.

HOLMES AND WOODS LEAD IN FEATURE COMPETITION OF SCATTERGUN TOURNEY

Provincial Trap Shooting Championships Opened at Traps of Edmonton Gun Club Yesterday Some Excellent Scores Being Made in First Stages of The Shoot

The provincial championships in trapshooting were commenced Friday at Edmonton Gun Club traps under ideal weather conditions. The attendance was smaller than expected but the shooting was first class. The features of the shoot were the scores made by Wm. R. Wood of Calgary, and Walter Holmes of Edmonton in the 16-yard events and by Chris. Irjens in the special events. Holmes put up 25, 25, 22, 25, 23, 23, for 143 ex. 150 against Wood's 23, 24, 24, 25, 24, 24, for 144 ex. 150 in the first stage of the 300 target race; the second half to be contested today. In the doubles Irjens repeated his score of last year—45 ex. 50—to win and broke 48 ex. 50 in the first half of the 100 bird handicap, shotting from 19 yards. W. E. Clark and W. Freeman have also very creditable scores. R. J. Robinson of Calgary, the veteran trapshooter, is shooting in his accustomed top-notch style.

Runs of 50 straight or over were made by W. R. Wood (64), W. Freeman (64) W. Holmes (50).

Professionals present are:—C. T. Burtch, of U.M.C. Remington Co., and E. Turvey and J. W. Holmes of the Dominion Cartridge Co.

After the shooting Friday, a meeting of the Alberta Provincial Association was held, at which Calgary was chosen for next year's shoot and H. Simpson and W. R. Wood chosen president and secretary respectively.

FAVORITES AGAIN WIN BIG MONEY

Louie Gratton Wins Feature Race When Fastest Time of Season is Made

TOLEDO, July 16.—Louie Gratton, the favorite won the Willys-Overland 2.03 pacing stake worth $1,850, the feature of today's Grand Circuit card, the three heats being the fastest paced this season. Roy Gratton won the first heat, as the favorite got away badly. After Roy Gratton had finished last in the second heat, Driver Edman was substituted and finished a nose behind the winner in the last heat. Driver Whitney, having the mount behind Verlie Patchen was called to the stand after the race as the judges thought he drove wide to allow Louie Gratton through, but decision in the case was reserved until later.

Six youngsters made their first start of the year in the $1,000 stake for two-year-olds. Favonian, a rank outsider, came on and won the last two heats and the race after Jane Voloh had won the first one from the favorite Holly Rood Fancy, which was distanced in the second heat.

Peter L., winner at Cleveland last week, won the 2.11 trot, although Millie Irwin came fast in the stretch and got the decision in the first heat.

Edna Early won the 2.10 pace but Hazel Kustener captured second money in the race by coming from nowhere in the second heat and moving to the head of the procession.

KAYCEES WIN FROM GROTTO IN CITY LGE.

Grotto Made Many Errors Giving The Knights Six to Their Eight Runs

The Dekan Grotto gave the Knights of Columbus a win in the city league game last night by the making of errors at times when errors meant runs. The score was eight to four but only tow of the Knight's runs were earned.

The Grotto started a new pitcher Jackson against the Veteran moundsman Stoetzel. Jackson held the Knights down in good shape allowing only five hits one or two of them scratch. He was taken out in the fifth after two runs and three hits had been made. Cheikeluk went in but was not in as good form as in the last two games he pitched. Stoetzel pitched his usual steady game. There were few features to the contest. The box score:

By The Shores of Gull Lake

By Mrs. J. H. Acheson

The great feature, and the first of the two particular attractions of Gull Lake, is its wonderful beach—a splendid stretch of very shallow water, over clean, soft sand, free of potholes or other treacherous snares for the feet of bathers. This beach is said by travellers to be the equal of any of the famed resorts on Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

Children need little oversight, as they can wade for long distances out without getting into deep water, and as the water gets colder further out, distance does not lend enchantment and the temptaton to venture too far is slight. The little ones spend their days paddling about in the water, digging in the soft, damp sand, or playing about the canoes and boats along the beach. Mothers feel quite at ease, knowing that only through some exceptional happening can accident occur.

The second great attraction of Gull Lake is the "homeyness," its restfulness. Not so readily accessible as some of the other resorts people go for longer periods. Many own their own cottages, and go year after year. Renters usually go for periods of a month or six weeks. The cottages are secluded. Stretching along two miles of lake front, less than a dozen are built away from the beach. All are well sheltered, indeed, half hidden by brush and trees, and in consequence people feel perfectly at home; to wear old clothes, to lounge as they please, and in every way, to rest.

Foregatherings at Beach

For social events there are foregatherings at the beach in the evenings, bonfires, "weiny" roasts, and similar forms of entertainment being most popular. An afternoon fishing on the lake, where jackfish, etc., are to be found in plenty—and then a bonfire and a "feed" on the beach, with freshly fried fish as the "piece de resistence"—what better ending to a perfect day?

There is little of the "society" summer resort about Gull lake. To be sure there is a summer hotel, but not even there do holidayers feel compelled to vie with each other in dress or social frivolities. Large "cushy" chairs on the verandah, facing the lake, and shaded by great cottonwoods, whose huge, downy tufts despersed by the breeze, cloud the firs around in a filmy mist. But even there is restfulness and quiet. It is an ideal spot for the tired business man whose only holiday is over the week ends.

Boating and bathing are excellent. There are boats of all kinds: canoes, sail boats, rowboats, and even a launch or two for hire. A landing at the club house at Meridian Bay across the lake, where there is a tennis court, and where afternoon tea is served, makes a pleasant interlude in the sail. Dances are held there on certain evenings, and there are dances several times a week at the Lake View Hotel, at Gull Lake also.

Summer Resort for Dozen Years

Gull Lake, as a summer resort, dates back about a dozen years. In fact it is thirteen years since Mrs. Kinnaird, of Edmonton, arrived there with her family, and camped in a tent for the holiday season. The land then belonged to a farmer, Mr. Weise. Seeing his opportunity, he sub-divided the lake front and sold lots for twenty-five dollars apiece—lots which are now held for upwards of a thousand dollars each. There are about 115 cottages now, besides the tents. Most of the cottages are well built and commodious, with large and comfortable living room, often with a fireplace, and always with a spacious verandah.

The Lake View hotel has accomodation for about sixty guests, and has all its rooms reserved for this week end. The Thistle Inn has not been opened this year, and is one of the few places for sale.

Few Problems in Living

Living presents few problems. Eggs, butter, vegetables, etc., are brought to the door by the farmers around. Meat and bread this year are brought out daily from Lacombe—though other years there were a local butcher shop and bakery.

Three stores, kept by Mr. George Fernie, Mr. George Doherty, and Mr. R. Williamson, provide the necessary groceries, tinned stuff and other provisions, and also ice cream and soft drinks. Three daily trains to Lacombe provide passenger service from Edmonton and Calgary, and on Tuesdays and Fridays, a "local," familiarly known as the "peanut" or "jigger," comes out from Lacombe, and makes a trip of eight miles to Gull Lake, in around half an hour.

There is a daily mail, and by special arrangement The Edmonton Bulletin provides prompt news service there each morning about eleven o'clock. There is telephone connections also with Lacombe, and the Lake View hotel is lighted by gas. The drinking water is good. Last year the village sunk three wells, and some of the cottages have private ones also. The hotel well was drilled 90 feet, and struck a vein of water in 45 feet of shale.

Regatta an Annual Feature

The great feature of the season is the regatta held usually early in August. Last year there was a regatta for the children as well as the grown folk. At this there are all sorts of boat races, and the farmers from all around make it a general holiday.

Gull Lake is a favorite picnic resort for the neighboring towns, and U.F.A. and Sunday schools of Ponoka and Lacombe generally choose it for their annual outing.

It is a favorite camping spot for Calgarians; and the families of Dr. MacEachern, Dr. Shillington, Rev. Mr. Powell, Rev. Mr. Barnes—who hold church service on Sundays; Dr. Crawford, Dr. Mason, and Dr. MacNab, are among those who are now there.

Among the Edmonton people who are in cottages there now are: Mr. Hawes and family, in Dr. McQueen's cotage; Mr. Arthur Davies and Mr. Thompson, postmaster of Strathcona; the Hon. C. R. Mitchell, in Mr. May's cottage; Mr. W. MacNab, Mr. C. Creighton and Mr. Edward Burke, of the Loan Mortgage Co.; Mr. Robert MacDonald of the Yale and Selkirk hotels; Dr. Archibald, Mr. H. H. Parlee; Dr. Malcolmson; Mr. F. F. Fisher Rev. Mr. Tuttle; Mr. Howes; Mr. Carruthers; Mr. J. D McDonald; Mr. J. K. McDonald; Mr. W. S. Gilpin and D. A. Kirkland

The post office at Gull Lake is known as Aspen Beach. Across the Lake, at Brownlow's Landing is another small camping spot, with about a dozen cotages, and the Old Mill and Saratoga Beach, with half a dozen cottages each, are other resorts.

HUGHES SENT UP FOR TRIAL BY MAGISTRATE

she got the figures to make the items, she replied:

"From Mr. Hughes, from a slip of paper he gave me, as I was not in Spencer's office." She swore that she had never counted the bills.

Evidence was also given by W. B. Monteith, chartered accountant, who discovered the alleged discrepancies in the Spencer firm accounts.

Agreement Produced

H. A. McLean, K.C., counsel for Mr. Hughes, produced the agreement of July 3rd, 1920, between Mr. Hughes and D. Spencer, Limited, by which Mr. Hughes agreed to transfer all his property to a trustee until it was ascertained how much was due to the Spencers on an investigation of W. B. Monteith, as investigator.

The agreement provided for the payment of interest at six per cent. on all that was owing from the date each debt was incurred. Gerald C. McGeer, M.P.P., was agreed on as trustee.

The right was given to investigate all the assets of Mr. Hughes, including bank accounts and safety deposit boxes. Mr. Hughes agreed to accept the findings of W. B. Monteith as final and correct as to the amounts owing.

By this agreement, the transfer of the Times property and business was made to Mr. McGeer. Mr. Monteith explained that he was appointed secretary under McGeer and the power to sign checks transferred to himself. He testified that Mr. Hughes was still at the Times, however;

Applied for Dismissal

At the afternoon session, Mr. Elliott formally applied for dismissal of the charges against Mr. Hughes, stating that the agreement between the Spencers and Mr. Hughes was a "conclusive bar" to any such action as the present against his client.

"A prosecution in respect of the items comprised within the terms of the deed," contended Mr. Elliott, "necessarily deprives the accused of his opportunity to fulfill his obligations under the deed."

Magistrate Jay said that he noted Mr. Elliott's objection but would have to go on with the case. Mr. Monteith was then recalled for further examination of bookkeeping items.

PORTER CLAIMS HE WAS "DIPPED" BY G.T.P. PASSENGER

The case of John Taylor, who was sent up for trial on the charge of theft of $30 from a porter on the G. T. P. railway, appeared before Judge Crawford, in the District court Friday morning for speedy trial. Several crown witnesses were called in an attempt to establish his guilt. The defence also called witnesse to establish his innocence. The case is still pending and J. C. McDonald, defendant's lawyer, was granted an adjournment of the case that he might call two more witnesses.

This is a case where the accused by a sleight-of-hand trick is alleged to have removed the complainant's purse from an inner pocket in his coat without the victim being aware of what had happened.

CANADA TOOK SECOND PLACE AT LONG RANGE

Scotland Wins in First Range For McKinnon Challenge Cup

BISLEY CAMP, England, July 16.—(Canadian Associated Press).—The finish of the shooting of the first range for the Mackinnon Challenge cup at 900 yards, in teams of twelve, fifteen shots per man, was:

First, Scotland, 753; second, South Africa, 736; third, England, 734 fourth, Canada, 721; fifth, Ireland, 688.

Canadian scores individually were: Captain C. P. Crowe, Guelph, 66; Major F. Richardson, Victoria, 59; Sergeant James Boa, Montreal, 53; Captain F. R. Martin, Calgary, 59; Sergeant Hawkins, Toronto, 62; Major Utton, Toronto, 61; Lieut-Col. P. E. Bowen, Edmonton, 62; Lieut. J. O. Nix, Winnipeg, 54.

Captain Crowe's score incinded eight centrals and one miss. Major Monroe, London, Scottish, made 71.

At the 1,000-yards range, Scotland steadily maintained its position, being three points ahead of England, eight points ahead of Canada when six men had fired.

Canada, however, made the better score in the final range, therefore taking second place.

Totals, 1,000-yards and aggregate scores are:

Scotland, 702, 1445. Canada, 703, 1434. England, 700, 1434. South Africa, 696, 1432. Ireland, 656, 1364.

Canadian individual scores and aggregate at the 1,000-yard were:

Captain C. R. Crowe, Guelph, 61, 127; Major F. Richardson, Victoria, 55, 115; Sergeant James Boa, Montreal, 62, 115; Pete. W. J. Irwine, Ottawa, 55, 111; Lieut. SAY MEMBERS HAVE NO MANDATE FROM PEOPLE

TORONTO, July 16.—At a mass meeting of veterans tonight in Queens Park, the Grand Army of United Veterans passed a resolution calling upon the members of the dominion parliament for the York and Toronto ridings to resign their seats because the government had not a mandate from the people. If they do not resign they will be opposed by the Grand Army of United Veterans, it was declared at the meeting.

MARKETING OF 1920 CROP ON PRE-WAR BASIS

Official Announcement Is Made at Ottawa to This Effect

LEGISLATION READY

In Event of Crisis, Government Has Machinery to Re-Establish Board

Ottawa, July 16—The government has decided that the present wheat board will not function insofar as the wheat crop of 1920 is concerned. The marketing of this crop will revert to the usual and normal methods of pre-war times.

The government will, however, carefully watch the conditions outside of Canada and will exercise the right to proclaim the enabling legislation of last session if circumstances make it necessary so to act in the public interest. From the present point of view, it is hoped that no such action will be found necessary.

Legislation passed a few weeks ago enabled the government to constitute a wheat board, in continuance of the present wheat board. The wheat board, under the bill, was to have well-defined powers and could be called into operation, by proclammation in the Canada Gazette, should circumstances make it necessary.

Foster Gives Statement

In announcing the decision of the government, Sir George Foster, minister of trade and commerce, Friday afternoon made the following statement:

"The government has given very careful consideration to the course to be pursued in marketing the wheat crop of Canada for 1920. As is well known, a bill was passed at the late session of parliament enabling the government to constitute a wheat board with well defined powers, which board could be called into operation by proclamation in the Canada Gazette should circumstances make it necessary.

"The preference of the government has been for a return to normal methods of grain marketing as soon as such appeared to be warranted by conditions abroad. The three principal factors which last year decided the government to establish the wheat board were these:

"1) The fact that in Europe all buying of wheat was controlled by the various governments either separately or in concert, and that the buying by our principal customers, Great Britain, France and Italy, was carried on in concert. There was accordingly virtually one purchaser resulting in the practical elimination of competition. There was reluctance to enter upon purchase negotiations with consequent danger to the early movement of wheat during the navigation season.

"2) Financial conditions which necessitated advances and credits by foreign governments and which could only be adequately met by governmental agencies in Canada in order to ensure prompt and continued movement of wheat from the commencement of harvest.

"3) The control by the United States of the purchase and sale of wheat and the fixation of prices thereof together with an embargo on imports of both wheat and flour.

Govt. Control in Europe

"These factors either do not exist or are not in force to the same extent at the present time. From the best information available, it would now appear that while as far as can be ascertained European buying will be in a greater or lesser degree controlled by the governments of practically all countries in Europe dependent upon imports of wheat, there does not seem at the present time reason to believe that the purchase by the various governments or governmental agencies will not be made independent of each other, both as to transport and purchase, thus constituting conditions of competition that should result in a fair market value being obtained for the Canadian crop.

"The United States has controlled the market in grains and flour and the exchanges there are now open for trading in December and later options, and there is no longer any embargo upon imports of wheat or flour. All the indications, therefore, are that the marketing of grain and its products in the United States will resume the normal methods and flow in the usual channels.

"It must be remembered, however, that the United States have legislation under which control can be brought into effective force it at any time their government were to decide that national interests demanded such action.

"Under the circumstances above set forth, the Canadian government has decided to take no steps at present to proclaim the enabling act, which means that the present wheat board will not function insofar as the crop of 1920 is concerned, and that the marketing of this crop will revert to the usual and normal methods of pre-war times. The government will, however, carefully watch the conditions outside of Canada, and will exercise the right to proclaim the enabling legislation of last session if circumstances make it necessary so to act in the public interest.

From the present point of view, the government hopes that no such action will be found necessary."

PROVINCIAL POLICE COURT

One hundred dollars and the costs of the action was the penalty imposed on Fred Wilson of the Wilson Drug Company, 124th street, when he appeared in provincial police court before Magistrate George B. McLeod, the charge of having liquor on premises other than a private dwelling house, having been laid by Inspector Hodgkins.

According to the testimony of one witness, Wilson had five 5-gallon kegs of whiskey stored at the home of a friend.

Two other charges of infractions of the Liquor Act were also heard by the police magistrate. Mike Krysa, 10363 97th street, was fined $150 and costs for keeping liquor for sale.

Soccer Gossip

By J. K. MATHESON

The league has been practically awarded to the Great War Veterans. Of course this idea of the officials will have to be endorsed by the league executive, but it is thought that there will be no opposition. Since the unfortunate mix-up in regard to the league schedule, matters football, so far as the league competition is concerned have gone "Fluey." The only logical conclusion, apart from the suggestion to make a second half of the schedule yet, which is entirely feasible, is to award the championship to the Great War Veterans.

Veterans and firemen battled to a draw of two goals each last night, at Ross' Flats, in the intermediate league. The game was very evenly contested, and when the cup ties come on there should be some great games.

Apropos cup games, it is perhaps not a bad thing that the championship of the league should be decided so early in the season. This year there are several teams who intend to enter the cup ties, who have never entered. Before they are entitled to sign an entirely new team if they like, and some surprises are likely to be served up in the representations which will turn out for the various clubs in the cup ties. The interest of the football public should be well sustained and rejuvenated in the cup tie games, and these will be gone on with immediately.

Booth, the centre half of the Vets, is going to Vancouver today. This player has been a tower of strength to the soldiers ever since he joined them at the beginning of the season, and he plugged a hole in fine fashion which has not been adequately filled by the Vets. before for some time. He will doubtless play football at the coast, and we can recommend him to the tender mercies of the football authorities out there as a first class player, besides being of the few number who play the game, and never grouse with the referee or opposing players. He has played a fine game for the Vets. in his position all through the season and will be an acquisition to any club.

Tom Davies, the secrtary of the league, will probably have the entries for the cup arranged early next week. Tom is very sick about the way the league fell through, and no less disappointed is Charlie Small, the president. I think they have taken the proper course in recommending that the league be awarded to the Vets., as there are so many teams in the association desirous of entering the cup ties that a lot more time will be required this year to run the ties off.

Hillhurst, of Calgary, having protested against the C.P.R. of Calgary, on the ineligibility of a player, the matter was referred by mail to the provincial association. The plea in general effect, was that a player had arrived from Red Deer in Calgary and had signed for the C.P.R. He, however, went back to Red Deer for some time prior to putting in his proper residential qualification time, although ultimately he intended to reside in Calgary. The Calgary rule is quite definite in the matter, and it is believed that the protest will be upheld. Personally, from a reading of the rule, it would appear that Hillhurst have a very good case, as the incident is one of those things which the Alberta football Association have been striving for years to frame proper safeguards for. C.P.R. of Calgary, must have known perfectly well that they were infringing the rules, and they had players at their command who could have deputised with good results. But a club sometime or other in its lifetime takes a chance. C.P.R. will probably have to play the game over again. That should not scare them, although I am told that it will have a bearing on the championship.

COMMUTATION OF PENSIONS IS NOW BEING TAKEN UP

OTTAWA, July 16. —(Canadian Press)—Commutation of pensions, or payment to pensioners of lump sums in final settlement of their pension claims, as provided for by amendments to the Pensions act adopted by parliament is a matter that is now engaging the attention of the board of pension commissioners. These amendments which were recommended by the special parliamentary committee on pensions provide that members of the forces disabled to an extent between five and fourteen per cent. may elect to accept a final payment in lieu of the small pensions to which they are entitled and are run as low as two and a half dollars per month for an unmarried private with a disability of from five to nine per cent.

COUNTY COURT HOUSES CLOSED

Dublin, July 16.—A police patrol was ambushed near Lanesborough Wednesday night, one officer being killed instantly by the first volley. His companion, who was wounded, returned the fire of his assailants until his ammunition was exhausted, using the body of his dead comrade as a breastwork.

The Westmeath county council has ordered all courthouses in the county closed, and government officials evicted. It has directed the Irish Republican army to prevent magistrates and other government officers entering these buildings in future, asserting that the Sinn Fein courts have superseded these functionaries.

Developing Canada's Wealth Of Natural Resources

MINING, lumbering, farming, stockraising, fisheries—the fundamental industries on which all of Canada's varied activities of business are built—have received the practical co-operation of Bank of Montreal for more than a century.

IN 1920 our desire is as it was in 1817, to be helpful in every possible way in the development of every kind of Canadian business.

This co-operation extends through and beyond the large business enterprises to the men and the women who make those enterprises possible—to the miners, lumbermen, farmers, stock raisers, fishers, merchants, clerks, workers of every kind, to whom we are rendering an intimate, understanding, personal service through our Branches in every part of the Dominion.

Whatever your banking needs, consult our nearest Branch Manager and thus be in touch with our entire organization, which is working for the upbuilding of Canada.

Direct wire service maintained between Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver, New York, Chicago and San Francisco

No Fixed Price For Wheat Against a Falling Market

Now that the Chicago wheat market has been opened and the price shows a tendency to fall, the Dominion Government has proclaimed that there will be no fixed price for wheat this year. But it reserves the right to change its mind and fix a price if the market improves sufficiently to make that action necessary, "in the public interest," which being interpreted means that the former must take the lower price, but cannot have the higher.

It may be noted that even at the lower price, December wheat opened in Chicago at $2.72 to $2.75, which is seventeen to twenty cents a bushel more than the Canadian farmer gets for his last year's crop under the manipulation of the Canadian wheat board: after waiting until this year's harvest for the balance of the price of last year's crop, and without taking account of the difference of value in favor of his wheat of the same nominal grades as brought the price quoted in Chicago.

To Holiday or Not?

The holiday season is here again. From the noise and dust and heat of the city, and the daily round of business and industrial employment and house-work, men and women are migrating to lakes, and the mountains, and the Coast, to spend a while with the children in idleness.

Is the holiday a waste of time and energy? Are the idlers loafing? Are they slackers? Should able-bodied men and women be ashamed of themselves to spend a few weeks of splendid weather doing nothing, especially at a time when the world is short of most of the necessities of life, when the cost of living is high and can only be pulled down by the joint efforts of all of us, when there are war debts to be paid and provision to be made for unknowable conditions in the future?

There are people who really profess to think so. There are a far larger number of people who forego a holiday on the ground that they cannot afford it. Perhaps half the people in the city, for one reason or the other, "pass up" the holiday year after year and stick to the job winter and summer.

Both classes make a sad mistake. A holiday is not wasted time; and there are very few people who cannot afford a break if they really determined to have it. The holiday justifies itself. It makes for increased production, not lessened production. It makes also for better quality in production, which is equally important. The economic value of the individual is not to be measured by what he may do in a certain month, but by the net results of his year's labor. And the individual who works while he works will produce more in a year, and of better quality, if he produces nothing at all for a few weeks in the great out-door season.

That statement deserves to be tested by observation, and it will stand the test. The man who keeps going comes to the time when he can do no more than "keep going," and the man who can only keep going is not doing his best for himself or for society. No person can "work" while he works if he tries to work all the time. Nature has ordained otherwise. The human constitution will not stand perpetual strain. To keep incessantly on the job is to defy the laws of Providence, which have set bounds to the endurance of both body and mind; and those laws cannot be defied with impunity. Why was a night interposed between each two days, and one day in the seven proclaimed to be a day of rest, except that the physical and mental organism must have a chance to repair the wear and tear of the day's work?

Men are of more value than machinery, and made of less durable stuff. But every mill has to be shut down for an over-haul once in the year. If steel will not stand the ceaseless drive how can the human frame and the nervous mechanism be expected to stand it without running down in efficiency, and breaking down long before its time?

To keep fit is the first duty of every man and woman; fit to do the best work that they are capable of doing and fit also to meet the duties and responsibilities of family and social life. That is not possible without letting up once in a while and getting away from the "grind."

In fact, just at the moment that work becomes a "grind" the time has arrived to quit. There is little profit to anybody in doing what is irksome. The treadmill was a machine that consumed a vast amount of energy for the work that it did; and is yet. Work is never well done, nor the maximum amount of it done, except when the worker feels that he is up to the mark. It is the spontaneous exercise of one's talent that counts, and a tired out man has no "pep." To him a holiday is not a matter of pleasure only, but a real and serious duty that he owes to himself, his family, his employer or his business, and to society.

Where a holiday is spent is not nearly so important as how it is spent. It is not necessary to pay out hundreds of dollars for a trip across the continent to get a rest. Rest and recreation can be found almost anywhere in God's great out-doors if one takes along a contented mind and a resolute decision to "forget" it so far as his business or avocation is concerned, and if he does not take that mental attitude with him the holiday-seeker is likely to get comparatively little benefit wherever he idles. Surroundings which give one a real change and which arouse his interest in things with which he is not familiar, fulfil all the essential requirements for a real outing. If one can travel far and see new parts of the world, so much the better. But if he can not stand that expense he need not deprive himself of the advantages of a respite. Indeed it is the people who cannot afford much in the way of travel who usually need a holiday most. Wealthy people can usually manage to mix enough pleasure wth business to prevent fag. It is the man and the woman who have little in the way of pleasure in the common course of things who most need a lay-off in the summer time. And in this new country where camping places are free and easy of access a fortnight or so in the wilds is within the reach of even a light purse. With a tent, a roll of bedding, a frying pan and a grub box a family can have a holiday beside one of the lakes in this district that will bring them back to town with a new zest, and will linger in their memories as one of the sunny experiences of life. Try it!

Broiling.

Those people who complain that the summers in Alberta are not hot enough to suit them are surely getting what they want this year. Anybody who desires hotter weather than has prevailed here during the last few weeks, or who wants to be par-boiled in this fashion every year, should live down in the tropics. It is so hot even that the ladies are not wearing their furs!

A Proper Precaution.

The recent fatality at the entrance to the high level bridge has led the civic authorities to make a new regulation by which all traffic entering the bridge from the north must take the roadway west of the railway embankment. The ruling should have been made long ago. The entrance on the east side is too narrow, and the turn too sharp, to make it safe for autos to pass, particularly in the evening or when they are travelling fast.

The Wheat Acreage.

The official estimate is that 17 million acres in Canada are under wheat crop this year. To many Western people the acreage will seem small, rather than large. It amounts to only about two acres per head of population. Yet the three transcontinental railways plow through wheat fields clear across the prairies, and what can be seen from the car windows is only a fraction of the Western wheat crop. Eastern Canada evidently is not growing wheat extensively.

Why the "Unreasonable" Rates.

The Ontario coal commissioner says that with "reasonable" freight rates points in the northern part of that Province could be supplied with Alberta coal cheaper than with the Pennsylvania product. If he knows what he is talking about, then this basic Canadian industry is being sacrificed in the interests of the railways, and to the advantage of the foreign coal operators. In that case the question is not why should Alberta coal rates be lowered, but upon what pretext can the present rates be justified?

The Crops.

Crop reports from all parts of central and northern Alberta continue to be most reassuring. Here and there damage from hail is recorded, but in small and scattered areas. It is rather remarkable, in fact, that the long-continued hot weather has produced few thunder storms, and far less hail damage than usually results when a protracted hot spell occurs. Rain would be welcomed throughout the district generally, but there are no reports of check to the crop growth. In fact the crops appear to be coming along about as rapidly as it is possible for them to do so.

Europe Is Worried, Too.

Seemingly Europe has its coal problem, too. The deadlock at the Spa conference did not arise over the question of how much indemnity Germany is to pay in the long run, but on the point of how much coal Germany is to deliver to the Allies per month during the next six months. The larger question was in the background, but the immediate issue was coal and how much of it. It is not likely that the Allies would have stood out for two million tons per month unless they needed it, or foresaw that they would need it. They would certainly not have demanded it if getting it would be to their disadvantage; and normally Britain would stand to profit if Germany sent no coal at all into the world market. When a Welsh Premier of the great coal producing country of Europe is not only urging—but demanding — that Germany export coal in vast quantities, it is clear enough that the old continent is troubled about its fuel supply.

Current Comment

COAL SCARCITY ON LAKE SUPERIOR

Minneapolis Tribune:

Ashland, Wis., July 9.—The first cargo of coal to arrive here this month came in the steamer Penobscot, which docked yesterday. The cargo was of soft coal and probably will be consigned to mines or steam plants inland where there is urgent need for fuel to keep the industries operating. So far as ore vessels are concerned there is no improvement in the coal situation. Vessel captains last year paid $5.35 per ton for their fuel. This year they paid $10.50 per ton and are not "kicking" on the increase of almost 100 per cent. They say there is not an extra ton of coal on Lower Lake docks.

COAL SCARCE IN MINNESOTA AND DAKOTA

Minneapolis Tribune:

Up here in the Northwest it is urged as an imperative step to avert industrial curtailment and suffering that the Interstate Commerce commission make use of its authority to provide the cars that would make certain an adequate supply of coal for next winter.

Down in Washington representatives of a dozen industries plead with the Interstate Commerce commission to modify its order requiring railroads to accord preference to coal mines east of the Mississippi river in the assignment of open-top cars. These men declared that their plants would be forced to close, making many employees idle, if the order is not rescinded or modified.

USELESS PRIMARIES

Ottawa Journal:

Now that the tumult and the shouting is over at Chicago, will someone tell us the value of the direct primaries. The whole country was in a turmoil over them and the various candidates spent millions in their campaigns. Yet a man, whose name appeared on the primary ballots in only two or three states, was nominated.

The direct primaries is an American political improvement, along with the initiative, referendum and recall, which certain reformers would like to stablish in Canada.

As for ourselves we prefer the good old British Constitution and its well-tried system of responsible institutions.

A CONSERVATIVE VICTORY

Boston Herald:

It is a curious circumstance, and one that bears evidence to the underlying soundness of our republic, that in this period of world-wide upheaval—of outbreaks of radicalism of every sort—the United States of America should apparently make ready to install the most conservative administration since that of President McKinley. As in 1896, the Republicans have nominated a conservative ticket on a conservative platform, and have done so with every prospect of success.

One thing at least stands out clear: Any third party movement that may break loose bteween now and Novembr will be radical, and so calculated to divide the radical vote, of which the Democratic will be the chief element.

WHERE THE TAXES GO

Britain, France, Belgium and Italy are told that they must not only lift their own people out of the inferno into which they were hurled by Germany.

Allied nations are told that they must go further and lift the German people out of the inferno into which the Germans hurled themselves.

France must be bankrupted by the non-payment of the war indemnity in order to save Germany from being bankrupted by the payment of the war indemnity. Germany is trying to evade payment of the war indemnity by threats that Germany will die if Germany has to pay the war indemnity. The collection of the war indemnity is France's business. The subsequent fate of Germany is Germany's own business.

HIGH COST OF WAR

The Ottawa Citizen:

Of the United States' national budget for this year, which amounts to somewhat over $5,500,000,000, sixty-eight per cent. is for expenditure arising from recent and previous wars; twenty-five per cent. is for maintenance of the army and navy; three per cent. is for primary government functions; a little more than three per cent. is for public works, and one per cent. is for education, research and development work. In other words, of the $50 per capita collected each year for all purposes, $1.50 is spent for what is called the primary functions of government, almost as much is put into research, educational and development work to promote scientific research, to increase production and efficiency, to develop wealth, to promote public sanitation and to conserve natural resources.

AS TO DECREASED PRODUCTION

Samuel Gompers:

"Whatever are the evils in the distribution of the products of work (and there are many of them), those evils are not going to be remedied by producing less."

INEFFICIENCY AND GOVT. CONTROL

H. C. Forbes in Minneapolis Tribune:

Several railroad presidents report a gratifying improvement in the attitude and efficiency of their employees since the roads returned to private management.

MEIGHEN SLATED FOR OPPOSITION LEADER.

Toronto Telegram:

Ottawa, July 7—(Staff special)—The announcement that Sir Thomas White would not be available for the premiership came as no surprise to those who have been in touch with the future plans of the financial knight. It can also be asserted that it comes as no surprise to his former colleagues in the cabinet. They must have known all along that Sir Thomas when he quit the cabinet, had had his fill of public life, for the present at least.

But it was necessary that something should be done to wean the old Tories away from the idea that the Unionists had lifted up their voices as one man and declared for Hon. Arthur Meighen.

Gave Time for Pause

For that reason the name of Sir Thomas White was thrown into the contest. It gave the average M.P. pause. It gave him time to realize that with Sir Thomas in the big job he would be able to draw his increased indemnity for yet a little longer. In doing so he must also have realized that with Hon. Arthur Meighen in the saddle an abrupt cessation in his annual gratuity from a grateful country must necessarily follow.

"Just As Good"

In other words Sir Thomas White's name was used to silence the loud howl for Meighen and to replace it with the question: "If not White, where is the something just as good?" The answer to that question is even now being softly whispered in their ears. It it "Sir Henry Drayton."

Chaos Fills Politics

Sadly this is being borne in on even the most ardent Meighen supporters. No longer can they see a saviour for their country and their party. They now sadly admit chaos fills the political scenery, and that nothing but a general election can clear the air. Unconsciously they are strengthening the Drayton chances. There may be one man in the Union ranks who wants a general election under Meighen. If there is, that one man is Hon. Arthur Meighen. He must know as everybody else does, that he is much better fitted to be leader of the Opposition than he is to be premier of Canada. Also there is a trifle of $14,000 that goes to the leader of the Opposition.

But it is a rattling good guess that every other man-jack of them would rather continue to draw $4,000 per under Sir Henry Drayton than to face a hostile electorate under Hon. Arthur Meighen.

Has No Enemies

And that is the situation in a nutshell. Drayton has a lot of friends and no enemies. Even Hon. Arthur would probably continue to serve under his banner. Anyway, Sir Geo. Foster would continue to wag an instructive forefinger in the face of a passive Opposition; Hon. Judge Doherty would continue to draw salary and pensions under the genial influence of the Drayton smile; and Hon. J. D. Reid would curb his desire for senatorial sleep for yet a little longer.

Calder Wants to Stay

As for Hon. James Calder, he doesn't want to quit. He likes the job, he likes the honor, and he likes the increased salary. In fact he is said to be one of those who did most to bring about the increase in wages all round. So Hon. James is promoting the interests of Sir Henry Drayton that the job may continue. Even Hon. Arthur Sifton might find a slight improvement in his health should the name of Drayton finally sift down to Rideau Hall.

Of course, there is mention of Sir James Lougheed as a safe and sane candidate, but even Sir Robert Borden would hardly care to have a man who has declared his confidence in the Senate as "a bulwark against the clamor and caprice of the mob." That would surely be an invitation to the "mob" to rise and smite the "bulwark," and the man who created it. In other words, the new National Liberal and Conservative party could hardly jump out in the open and declare itself the party of the capitalist. And that is what the election of Sir James would mean. You can safely scratch out the name of Sir James Lougheed.

But on top of it all it might be in order to repeat the prediction of a French-Canadian politician, who has been watching the game from the Montreal end. "White and Gouin will stand off for a year or two till everything is in a mess," he declares, "and then Sir Thomas White and Sir Lomer Gouin will slip in and save the country."

SOVIET PENALTIES FOR "LOAFING."

From London Times.

Moscow gives the following account of a trial which took place in Tula for "loafing":—

In Tula, the chief railway tribunal tried a case in connextion with the criminal fall in production in the Tula railway works. The commissars, administration, and workers were accused. The indictment disclosed a heavy picture of loafing, criminal carelessness, inattention, and cognisant "bacon-saving."

Those guilty of taking days off for the purpose of speculation weren sentenced to 10 years' forced labor.

A militiaman who slept at his post was sentenced to eight years. The Commissars and Administration, for fall in production, were sentenced to three years' hard labor, while the remainder of the accused were sentenced to hard labor without imprisonment.

Another Moscow message states that the Borovitch Bolshevist organisation have decided to send to a concentration camp those of its members who have not participated in the "Working Saturdays." — Wireless Press.

AS NOVIA SCOTIA SEES IT.

From Election Address of Premier Murray.

"At the last session of the Legislature, a resolution was passed calling for an early conference with the Governments of New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island in reference to the claims of the Maritime Provinces against the Federal Government with respect to western lands and the cash subsidies paid to western provinces in lieu of lands. I deem this matter of the very highest importance, and shall press our claims with the utmost vigor for a readjustment of the federal subsidies on such a basis as will give to Nova Scotia a fair compensation for the alienation of vast territories in which our province had a proprietary interest."

News of the District

ERSKINE.

Bulletin News Service.

At the meeting of the Nevis U.F.A. July 10, 25 members were present, three new members coming in on that date. The organization has already made splendid progress in securing business for the district. The Pike Elevator Company have secured a site from the C. P. R. and propose building a large capacity building for the fall crop. A branch office of the Royal Bank opened at Nevis this week, Mr. Boyer of Erskine going up every Tuesday and Friday. It is the intention of the U. F. A. to hold a picnic as soon as a prominent speaker can be obtained.

ABILENE.

Bulletin News Service.

There has been an abundance of rain and the crops look fine. A great harvest is expected. There is not as much wheat in this year as last, owing to the late spring.

Mr. Cook has sold his half section and is preparing to leave the country.

Mr. Riley Berry has sold his half section and will turn his attention to something else besides farming.

Willie Saunders, who has been in the hospital at Edmonton since March, died there and was brought to Lafond for burial. He had a homestead at Abilene, which will be given to his mother. His father lost his life in France in the Great War. Deceased was a noble boy and loved by all who knew him.

A great inconvenience is felt by the surrounding country on account of the railroad being washed out in places. It is hoped the train will again be running soon.

Miss Ida Saunders, who has been in Seattle the past year, is home for the summer visiting her mother and brothers. She will return to Seattle this fall.

Charlie Greenstreet is putting in his spare time locating wells for the farmers.

The U. F. A. has been a great help to the farmers this year in getting their binder twine.—Abilene, July 12.

MINNEHIK

Crops are looking very fine. Prospects are good for a big hay crop. Grazing is excellent, and the stock is all in fine condition. There is lots of rain and Buck Lake is quite high yet. Hay land around the lake shores is yet 18 inches under water, so haying will be a few weeks later this year than usual.

J. Bowman, the fire ranger for this district, had the misfortune Friday night, to lose his saddle horse where he was camped on Buck Creek. The horse became tangled in his rope during the night and strangled himself.

Mr. E. Koblem and Wm. Williamson were business callers in Minnehik Saturday.

Mrs. Hohendorf and Mrs. Highington from across Buck Lake spent the day with Mrs. W. Willson.

The Minnehik store and post office is again on the move. This time moving 1 1-4 miles south on the Geo. Nelson farm.

A picnic on July 12 at the Tipping homestead and a dance in the evening was a good success.

The Indian families, Bearheads and Susans, from Wabamum reserve, who have been slashing brush for Chas. Parker, returned home last week via Berrymore.

Roy Gibbon, the storekeeper, leaves this week for Wetaskiwin on business.

Miss Isabel Siegel returned home last week after spending the winter in school at Lacombe.

The district nurse, Miss M. Hall of Yeoford, made a professional visit to Fred Viegel, at this place, last Thursday. Mr. Viegel was hurt by an outlaw horse he was working, but was resting quite easy and was able to be moved to the Siegel home Thursday evening.

C. D. Bowen and wife moved home last week after spending a few months working at the Burrows sawmill.

Frank Ellsworth and A. Davis left last week for Fullerton's mill, where they expect to work.

Mr. and Mrs. John Adams of Pendryl post office, spent last Sunday and Monday at the W. Willson home.

Mrs. Ellsworth and Mrs. Bowen were Sunday visitors at Mrs. Chas. Parker's.

E. I. Willson just returned last Saturday from a trip to Rimby and reports the roads in bad condition yet.

Daton Tipping of Wolf River post office has made two trips to Yeoford with the mail from this place.

As the regular mail carrier resigned on account of bad roads, F. Willson will take the mail this week.

With bad roads, no mail and no telephone we felt as if we were marked off the map for a time, but hope conditions will improve soon.

Minnehik, July 12.

In Edmonton 36 Years Ago

From the files of the Edmonton Bulletin, Saturday, July 19th, 1884.

Wheat fields in full bloom.

Sturgeon river mill has cut over 100,000 shingles this season.

Jos. McDonald left Tuesday for Calgary, freighting for H. B. Co.

To be in fashion one must have a land dispute to vindicate.

Forest Ranger Connor has new potatoes weighing half a pound.

R. Jarvis left Thursday for Calgary to bring in Major Butler and children.

Bishop Grandin, of St. Albert, is at Lake Cariboo on his annual visit of inspection.

The land office will be opened as soon as Mr. Pearce gets through with the disputed claims.

P. Ottewell, wife and two children and Fred Ross, arrived from Calgary per McKernan's team.

First service was held in the new Presbyterian church at Sturgeon river last Sunday, by Rev. Mr. Campbell. The new church is rapidly approaching completion. When finished a formal opening service will take place.

BIG FISH CATCH EXPECTED

Clark and Brant, fishermen with headquarters in the town of Lac la Biche, report prospects for a large season's catch as being promising. The Clark Fish company have not amalgamated with the Athabasca Fish company, as was previously announced. The latter concern became obsolete, and business is now being conducted by Messrs Clark and Brant.

Grain Market

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

Winnipeg, July 16—The cash grain situation shows a slight improvement, with a better enquiry for odd cars of oats of all grades at ½c better. Barley was in good demand for number three and fair for other grades. Number 2 C. W. rye and flax were in good demand Friday. Oats closed 2½c higher for July, 1¼c up for October and 1½c higher for December. Barley, 3c higher for July, 3½c up for October, and 2c lower for December. Flax, 2c lower for July and 2¼c down for October.

Oats opened ⅛c higher to unchanged for October at 90¼ to 90⅛, and ¼ to ⅛c higher for December at 83⅝ to 83½.

Barley opened one cent lower for October at 133½ and flax 2¾ lower for October at 365.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, July 16—Extraordinary weakness developed in the wheat market Friday and prices made a steep descent. The December delivery in which most of the trading centered, fell more than 10 cents a bushel before showing signs of a rally. There was a notable lack of buying orders. Bearish weather reports from the Northwest States and talk of money scarcity explained in some degree the action of the market. A part of the selling was said to be on foreign account. Opening prices, which ranged from the same as Thursday's finish to 9½ lower, with December 260½ to 2.68 and March 2.74 were followed by a further decline to 2.60 for December and then a reaction to 2.62.

In the corn pit there was active selling on the part of some commission houses that were conspicuous on the bear side Thursday. Demand was lacking except from shorts. After opening 1¾ down to 1¾ advance, including September at 150 to 150½, the whole market declined sharply, but later recovered most of the loss.

Oats weakened with other grain. September opened ¼ off to ⅛ up at 75½ to 76¼, declined to 75⅛ and then turned up grade.

Provisions were steady to firm in sympathy with an advance in the hog market.

New York Stocks

(By W. Ross Alger & Co.

New York, July 16—Stocks continued to lose ground in the early and intermediate periods of Friday's session, bupt some substantial recoveries were made when the money market developed unexpected ease. Sales totalled approximately 550,000 shares.

The early rally failed to hold renewed offerings of steels, oils and shippings, also motors and coppers, forcing many leaders under final price of the previous session. A few stocks were conspicuous for their strength, however, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western gaining six points on a few sales, Stromberg 2½, May department stores 2, and Sumatra tobacco 1½. The nine per cent. opening quotation for call money represented the highest initial rate of the week and pointed to a possible advance over Thursday's maximum figure. Exchange on London was 1¼ higher for cables and demand bills.

Selling concentrated to a greater extent in shippings, motors and equipments at mid-day. Atlantic Gulf showed an extreme loss of 5 points, Marine preferred and Chandler, Pierce-Arrow, Studebaker and American and Baldwin locomotive, 2 to 2½. Chemical and paper shares also reacted, but rails were comparatively steady.

SILVER EXCHANGE.

New York, July 16—Bar silver, domestic, 99½; foreign, 90¼.

MONTREAL STOCKS.

Montreal, July 16—The local stock exchange opened somewhat on the dull side Friday morning, and the tone was slightly weak with a few exceptions. Trading was broader than usual in the first half hour. Breweries was firm in the early trading and Atlantic sugar opened well but later sagged a couple of points. The paper stocks were only in fair demand with prices showing a weaker tendency.

TORONTO EXCHANGE.

Toronto, July 16—Trading on the Toronto exchange Friday morning embraced a variety of issues, but transactions were small in volume and the market developed a weaker tendency.

Canada car and foundry was about the only stock to show firmness, a sale of one block of 25 shares showing an advance of 4½ points at 60.

Practically all pulp and paper stocks shared in the general decline. Spanish River preferred, dropped a point at 128½ Brompton lost a fraction, Abitibi was weak at 83 after opening at 84.

WOOL MARKET FALLS

BOSTON, July 16.—The Commercial Bulletin tommorow will say

"The market is still dropping to a safe basis for operations and some observers feel hopeful that it is being approached. Prices are slightly easier, if anything, this week. Reports from the west indicate fairly heavy consignments of territory wools and little being done in the bright wool sections.

"The manufacturing section is hardly changed, as compared with a week ago, the big question being: 'when will the American Woolen company resume operations?' "

EGG MARKET IN CANADA

OTTAWA, July 16.—(Canadian Press)—No change was reported yesterday in the egg situation. Prices are firmly maintained and high grade stock is scarce. The representative of a prominent Glasgow importing house, now visiting Canada, says the British market is very firm. He further states that work is plentiful and the buying power of the public is good.

WEEKLY TRADE REPORT

WINNIPEG, July 16.—(Canadian Press)—The weekly trade report of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust association, gives several interesting points. One is that many lines of goods are now coming forward from factories more freely. Another is that prices, as a rule, are remaining firm, the only exception being in boots and shoes in which an easing of the price is clearly apparent.

Toronto advices stated that the wholesale grocery trade is fairly brisk with prices firm. Drygoods, boots and shoes, men's and women's wear, quiet. Wholesalers report many lines coming forward from the factories much more freely than in the past, but prices remaining firm in most lines. Some tendency to slightly lower prices in boots and shoes. The retail trade in Ontario country points is reported to be fairly good, but in the larger cities trade is not up to the usual average for this time of year.

Montreal and Quebec reports state that between-season finds wholesale trade generally quiet. In manufacturing lines the shortage of coal is causing much inconvenience and many more factories will be obliged to close down owing to this cause, no relief being in sight. Retail trade in larger cities is up to the average and good n country towns.

Maritime provinces advices indicate little change from last week which stated that wholesale lines were mostly busy and retail trade up to the average with the exception of clothing lines and boots, both these being very quiet and expensive lines being a dead letter.

Winnipeg and Manitoba wholesalers find business up to the average for July and with grocery and provision lines busy. Production, in many cases, seems to be catching up with the demand and goods are obtainable more easily from Europe and the States, including Switzerland and Italy, from which points imports have been at a standstill for the past two years. Retail trade throughout Manitoba is on the quiet side generally.

Saskatoon and Regina advices given indications of slightly improved conditions in wholesale circles, the volume of business during the past two weeks being above the average. Retail trade also looks brighter generally, good weather conditions being responsible for an improvement in buying.

Auction Sale

2300 CATTLE

The undersigned has been instructed by Messrs. Frank Hill and Jack Butler, of Brooks, Alberta, to sell their entire outfit of cattle absolutely without reserve at the Canadian Pacific Railway Stockyards, Brooks, Alberta, on

JULY 19, 20, 21, 1920

Sale each day from 9:30 to 12 o'clock, and 1:30 to 4 o'clock p.m. The cattle include the following:
300 head of 1 year old steers.
1300 head 2 year old steers.
200 head 3 year old steers.
200 head 1 year old heifers.
200 head 2 year old heifers.
100 head young cows—mostly with calves at foot.

These cattle are mostly of Hereford and Shorthorn breeding. We will attend to all shipments of cattle from the sale free of charge. Cattle will be sold as listed.

Brooks is 120 miles east of Calgary on the main line of C.P.R. These cattle are all clean and can be shipped to any point in Canada or the United States.

TERSM CASH. NO RESERVE

COWS COWS

THURSDAY, JULY 22ND
AT 2 P.M.

Acting on instructions from Mr. John Sceneider, of Burderheim, who is reducing his herd, we are offering for sale in our yard opposite the Civic Block

10 SHORTHORN COWS

5 cows, 4 yrs. old, fresh 2 weeks.
5 cows, 5-8 years, fresh last April.
1 yearling reg. Bull.

These cows are an exceptionally choice bunch of well bred cattle, yielding on an average 15 qts. milk per day. The five cows fresh in April are again bred.

Don't miss these cows, they will be sold as the owner is obliged to curtail his labor.

Mr. Sneider is also selling:
2 Gray mares, 3-5 yrs, 1300 lbs.
1 Bay mare, 5 yrs., 1300 lbs.
1 Black mare, 5 yrs., 1300 lbs.
All work mares.

CULTIVATION OF SUMMER FALLOW TO CONSERVE THE MOISTURE AND KEEP WEEDS IN CHECK

One Plowing Fairly Deep, Gives Better Results Than Two Plowings—Land Should Be Cultivated Sufficiently to Destroy All Weeds and Be Kept Firm

From the standpoint of crop production there are two types of farming in vogue in Central Alberta, dry farming in the districts where the rainfall for all crop requirements, farming under a system where no particular attention is given to the conservation of moisture. In the dry areas where the rainfall is limited, it has been the experience of hundreds of farmers that summerfallowing at regular intervals is essential in order to obtain the best results.

Many Benefits.

The benefits of summerfallowing in the dry areas are many. The principal advantages derived are first, a plentiful supply of available plant food and moisture, which under ordinary conditions insure a good crop of grain the following year, and second the destruction of a large number of weeds. The methods of obtaining these results as the experience of farmers in widely separated districts, and the results of experimental stations show, vary considerably. Methods that have proved quite successful in one district have given but poor results in others. This has been found to be due largely to the difference in the soils. In a given district the soil may be light and susceptible to blowing, while in another an entirely different factor may be the chief factor for consideration.

Plow Six Inches Deep

Most farmers agree, however, that in Central Alberta in those districts where summerfallowing is necessary, the land should be plowed some time between June 1st, and June 20th, depending upon the conditions; and at a depth of from six to seven inches. Generally speaking six inches is known as summerfallow depth. The cultivation after plowing to keep down the weeds, however, varies considerably.

Harrows Frequently

S. C. Pritchard of Camrose from his experience in growing crops in that district has found that the crop following summerfallow, if the summerfallowing is properly done will be approximately twenty-five per cent. heavier than the preceeding crop. The method of cultivation that he follows is to harrow the land after plowing and continue to harrow at intervals through the remainder of the season as often as is necessary to keep down the weeds, and to get as many of the weeds to sprout in the fall as possible in order that they will be destroyed by the frost. In the Camrose district the soil is fairly heavy and not likely to blow.

Applys Barnyard Manure

In the Vermilion district, W. H. Steel who is a stock farmer, and grows principally oats and green feed, summerfallows on third of his land every year, and by utilizing all the available manure on the farm has been able not only to maintain the fertility of the soil but to actually increase the productivity and improve the land. He has found it profitable to apply the manure in the fall, during the winter, or in the spring before plowing. As soon as the land is plowed it is harrowed with a drag harrow to form a mulch and conserve the moisture, and after all the land is harrowed it is packed with a subsurface packer. The subsurface packer in one operation firms the soil and leaves a good mulch on the surface. The weeds are sure to grow, and in order to destroy all weeds and prevent them from going to seed the land is cultivated sufficiently throughout the summer to keep them in check. The implement that Mr. Steel uses for this is the disc. Two discings during the seasons with one stroke of the harrow is sufficient. Under ordinary conditions the disc would loosen and pulverize the soil unduly, and be liable to drift, but the application of barnyard manure every third year has added a considerable vegetable matter and left the soil in a mellow condition which is not liable to blow.

B. C. Milne, assistant superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Station at Lacombe from the experimental work with summerfallowing in that district during the past ten years says that while summerfallow is not a common practice in the Lacombe district, and while the rotations at the station do not include summerfallow treatment a considerable work has been done along this line with a view to determining the most satisfactory methods, both for eradication of weeds and conservation of moisture.

One Plowing Best

Plowing for summerfallow at depths of four, six, and eight inches have shown that a depth of about six inches is the most satisfactory for general conditions. The effects of fairly deep plowing have shown on the following years crop of wheat and on the second years crop of oats. Plowing for summerfallow in early June, cultivating until September, and re-plowing has given smaller yields than single plowing and thorough cultivation throughout the season. The growth of hay on the plots which were ploughed twice has been much ranker and more inclined to lodge than when only one plowing was practiced. Sowing a crop of rape on summer fallow land which is pastured off and disced thoroughly before seeding the next spring has reduced the yields of wheat 13 bushels per acre less than a similar plot ploughed once at the same depth and kept cultivated the remainder of the season. The value of the pasture taken from this land is not nearly sufficient to offset the loss in the yield of crops during the succeeding two seasons.

Early Plowing Preferable

Land for summerfallow has been ploughed on May 15th, June 15th, and July 15th, with distinctly better results, both as to crop and weed control, by plowing either in May or June. July plowing is decidedly too late for successful summerfallow treatment. By skim plowing or double discing the land immediately after the crop is removed weed seeds are germinated, moisture is held in the ground, and the crops of grain following the summerfallow treatment are materially heavier than where no fall cultivation is given.

Cultivation

The value of fall cultivation in controlling weeds cannot be estimated in dollars and cents, but, is a factor which is not to be overlooked, since summerfallowing if done at all should be done thoroughly. We have found it advisable to use the packer on the land as soon as possible after plowing since this firms the soil and prevents undue loss of moisture. If the soil is found to be exceptionably loose at any time the packer can again be used to aid in firming it down. The duck foot cultivator is decidedly the most satisfactory implement to use on the summerfallow field. By using wide teeth on them the weeds are cut and the soil left in a somewhat lumpy condition which prevents soil drifting. The drag harrow can be used when necessary with good results. Thedisc should not be used in summerfallow unless absolutely necessary to pulverize the soil. Particularly late in the season it is not advisable to use the disc harrow since the soil is opened and loosened to such an extent that a great loss of moisture takes place.

In short then, the essentials of proper summerfallow treatment are late fall cultivation, to conserve moisture and start weed growth, plowing to a depth of at least six inches early in June making sure that all weeds are covered, firm the land with a packer and keep it black throughout the remainder of the season by using the duck foot cultivator and drag harrow.

FOURTEENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION OF WESTERN IRRIGATION ASSN. TO BE HELD IN LETHBRIDGE

Convention Held July 28th to 30th—Very Instructive Programme Arranged—Hon. Duncan Marshall, Dean E. A. Howes, and Prof. J. H. Cutter Among Speakers

The arrangements for the Fourteenth Annual Convention of the Western Canada Irrigation Association, which will be held at Lethbridge, Alberta, July 28, 29 and 30, are now practically completed. This convention will undoubtedly be one of the most important in the history of the association. It is being held in the city that may be called the birthplace of irrigation in Western Canada, for it was at Lethbridge that the first irrigation system in Canada was projected. This city, being now the centre of a great movement for irrigation extension, is well suited to be the scene of an irrigation convention at this time.

A program of addresses that are instructive, helpful and interesting to all concerned in irrigation farming and to those engaged in agriculture generally has been drawn up. One of the principal discussions will be on "Soil Drifting," a topic of much concern to farmers throughout the prairie provinces. Professor W. M. Jardine, president of the Kansas State College of Agriculture; F. H. Auld, deputy minister of agriculture for Saskatchewan; J. Bracken, the new principal of the Manitoba Agricultural College; C. S. Noble, of Nobleford, and others, will take part in this discussion.

Another matter which is of interest to farmers in Western Canada at the present time is "Silos and Ensilage." Prof. G. H. Hutton, who has given considerable attention to the matter of erection of silos, and the growing of ensilage, will be one of the speakers on this topic. This discussion will also be taken up by R. J. Ferris, Silo Instructor and Demonstrator of the British Columbia Department of Agriculture, and others.

"The College of Agriculture and Farm Engineering" will be the subject of an address by E. A. Howes, Dean of the Faculty of Agriculture of the University of Alberta, and G. N. Houston, assistant commissioner of irrigation, department of the interior. Mr. W. H. Fairfield, superintendent Dominion experimental farm at Lethbridge, will speak on "The History and Progress of Irrigation Around Lethbridge," while W. A. Buchanan, M.P., will deal with "The Present and Future of Irrigation Around Lethbridge." A valuable address will be given on "Road Crossings, Structures, Laterals and Farm Ditches, " by F. H. Peters, commissioner of irrigation ,and will be followed up by D. W. Hays, General Manager of the Canada Land and Irrigation Company. G. Anderson, consulting irrigation engineer for Province of Alberta, has promised a paper on "Irrigation Possibilities in Southern Alberta," which should be very interesting. "The Irrigation Farm Home and Its Surroundings," should be ably dealt with by A. Griffin, superintendent, operation and maintenance of the Eastern section of the Canadian Pacific Irigation black. "The Development of Irrigation in Southwest Saskatchewan," will be discussed by J. D. Wilson, of Maple Creek, and others.

The Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands for British Columbia, has promised to be in attendance, if possible, and will speak on "Some of British Columbia's Irrigation Problems." Another cabinet minister of agriculture for Alberta, will speak on the "Relation of Schools of Agriculture to Irrigation.' 'Seed Growing," will be effectively and interestingly dealt with by Don. H. Bark and Professor G. H. Cutler, of the University of Alberta, as well as by Allan P. Senior, of Twin Falls, Idaho, who will, however, confine his address to the growing of peas for which the irrigated areas of Western Canada are well suited.

WHEN HIDES GO DOWN, THE BEEF GOES UP

Shift Responsibility for the High Price of Beef on Tanned Leather Merchants

The fall in the price of hides makes a difference in the value of beef cattle. The Industrial Development Council of Canadian Meat Packers has issued a circular of information on the subject that is of interest. The circular states that 35,000,000 pounds of hides a year are handled by Canadian packers. Recent tests at Toronto showed an average 1,000-pound steer to yield 540 pounds of carcass meat and 70 pounds of hide. There were 257 pounds of waste (manure, shrinkage and evaporation), which were wholly lost, while the remainder was by-product. Assuming the by-product to have a value of $10, the cost come to of the animal works out as follows:

Cost of 1,000-pound live animal at 12c per pound, $120. Value of 70 pounds of hite at, say 30 cents a pound, $21. Value of by-products, say $10. Deducting $31 as value of hide and by-products, the 540 pounds of beef would cost 16.5 cents a pound. Without any charge for labor, processing or selling. But if the hide were only worth 15 cents a pound instead of 30 cents, the cost of the beef would be increased to 18.42 cents a pound.

The point that the meat packers' association desires to make is that as th prices of hides goes down the cost of dressed beef goes up. And as they are not in the leather business, they naturally want to direct public attention to the drop in the price of hides as a reason why the tanners and leather merchants, instead of the packers, should be held responsible by the consumers for the increased price of beef. They omit from the statement of their case the important fact that in purchasing live animals the selling value of the hide is figured in the first cost. The packer does not need to add the drop in the price of hides to the consumers' price for beef, because when he bought the live animal the actual—not the former—market value of the hide was figured in the transaction. Where hides are dear the packer can, and no doubt does, pay more for cattle than where they are cheap. But having bought the hide at the low price he has no right to charge the former higher price of the hide against the consumer of the beef. If the packer was in the habit of buying cattle without regard to the market price of their hides there might be some value in the argument of the Meat Packers' Association. But if they did business in that way they would not last long. As they are not only lasting but doing very well, it is obvious that they don't pay the farmer for the hides more than they are worth.

Questions and Answers

Questions pertaining to any phase of agriculture will be answered as far as possible through this column. Replies will be secured from farmers and specialists who have made a study of the particular subject in question. All correspondence should be addressed to the Farm Editor.

Question—How can I get rid of wild parsnip in a hay meadow? I have a hay meadow of about sixty acres seeded down to red top and blue joint, and the wild parsnip is spreading so rapidly that it is choking out the hay. Would cutting the wild parsnip at a certain time kill them? It is not practicable to plow this meadow or dig out the wild parsnip.—H. R. S. Fawn Lake.

Answer—Cutting the wild parsnip will not entirely destroy them as the plants will again grow up from the roots. Cutting, however, just before the seed matures, will help to keep them from spreading. The only sure means of destroying the weed is either to plow up the field after the hay crop has been taken off and cultivate, or to spud them out. The latter would hardly be practicable.

Strawberries.

Question—Can strawberries be grown successfully in Alberta? What varieties do you recommend? What time of the year should they be set out, and on what kind of soil?—M.D.

Answer—Strawberries have been grown successfully in Central Alberta for a number of years; however, they require more care and attention than most of the small fruits. On the University farm, Edmonton South, they have been grown for the last four or five years. H. A. Taylor, a market gardener, also of Edmonton South, is growing strawberries on a commercial scale.

In the Edmonton district the Senator Dunlap is the outstanding variety and is grown by ninety per cent. of the people growing strawberries. The experience of the majority of gardeners has been that the best time to set out strawberries is in the spring of the year, during the rainy season. Strawberries will grow on almost any good soil that does not contain too much clay; however, the best results are usually obtained when grown on a rich, sandy loam.

If possible, the strawberry bed should be located on the south side of a wall or bluff, and the plants should be well mulched in the fall. The mulch is for protection against the thawing and freezing in the spring, and not as a protection against the cold during winter.—E. J. Stowe.

PHEASANTS IN NORTH DAKOTA

New York Tribune:

Agriculturists and horticulturists of North Dakota are watching with interest the experiment of Dr. R. G. de Puy, of Jamestown, who recently placed on his ranch at Jim Lake a large flock of Chinese ringneck pheasants.

The State Game and Fish Board of North Dakota has learned from good authority that this variety of pheasant is a very hardy bird and will thrive in any climate. The pheasant, especially the Chinese ringneck and English varieties, are the most valuable insect-eating birds, as well as the most attractive and eagerly sought game birds, of all the five species that can be raised in captivity or in a semi-domestic way, and be kept in the district in which they are propagated.

SUITABLE PASTURE AND FORAGE CROPS FOR ALBERTA SHOWN BY RESULTS OBTAINED AT LACOMBE

Fall Rye Provides Very Good Pasture During Late Fall and Early Spring—Corn Unreliable, but Sunflowers have Yielded Fifteed Tons Per Acre

In Central Alberta the question of suitable pasture and forage crop is one of prime importance, and is being studied very closely by both experimentalists and farmers alike. At the Lacombe experimental station a considerable work has been done along these lines and B. C. Milne, the assistant superintendent at that station, from the results obtained, makes the following recommendations:

Since open range is rapidly being taken up, and herd law prevents cattle running at large in some districts, it is advisable for each farmer to make the best use of his own land. By breaking a field and seeding it down to a suitable grass mixture, the pasture carrying capacity of the land can be doubled. Kentucky blue grass and brome grass are most hardy and suitable for this purpose. They both stand pasturing well, start early in the spring and last well throughout the season.

Fall Rye for Pasture

To supplement grass pastures, fall rye, sown about the end of August, at the rate of 1½ bushels per acre, deserves special mention. It makes satisfactory growth under very arid conditions, provides pasture during the fall and again the following spring, and, if the stock are taken off the field about May 24 a grain crop of 20 bushels per acre can generally be harvested. While the market for fall rye is regulated at present by the demand for seed, it can be disposed of to good advantage as grain, providing sufficient is grown in the district to make one or more carloads.

Mixtures

At the Lacombe station, alfalfa is the most promising legume, and works in particularly well in a grass mixture. When grown alone it is often difficult to cure. Northern grown seed of the Grimm variety is most suitable for Alberta conditions. With it, timothy, western rye grass, Kentucky blue grass, meadow fescue, and brome grass can successfully be grown. In some districts, during the last few years, brome is the only grass that has given good yields of hay, but it must be remembered that this grass spreads by creeping root stalks and seeds, making it similar to couch grass as to difficulty in control. However, if it is cut for hay before the seeds form, and the sod broken six inches deep in July and kept worked the remainder of the season, very little grass will show in the following year's crop. Twelve to fourteen pounds of seed per acre are used

When the rainfall is limited, western rye grass also yields well. It should be sown at the rate of 10 or 12 pounds per acre and cut for hay when starting to blossom, otherwise the stalks become very woody.

Timothy for Horses

Timothy, seeded at the rate of five or more pounds of good seed per acre, gives a clean hay of good value for horses, but it is not very nutritious or satisfactory for cattle. It is affected rather badly by drought.

At Lacombe all these grasses can be seeded with a nurse crop of grain with success. Barley is the most suitable cereal and should be seeded at the rate of a bushel or a bushel and one-half per acre. In drier districts the use of a nurse crop is questionable unless a light seeding of grain has to be used to prevent soil drifting. In seeding down to any grass the soil should be well supplied with moisture and properly cultivated.

Sweet Clover has been tested as a hog pasture, where its rank growth and peculiar taste did not allow it to show up well. About three tons of hay per acre can be harvested, but, when it is considered that it is a biennial requiring one year to establish itself and then yielding a crop the second year only, it is doubtful if it is a valuable crop for districts where alfalfa can be grown or good crops of peas and oats, or oats alone, raised for forage purposes.

Corn Unreliable

Corn having been found to be an unreliable crop in Central Alberta has led to the adoption of peas and oats as a forage crop or for ensiling. Two bushels of oats and one bushel of peas are sown to the acre, the crop being out when the oats are in the early dough stage. This crop yields from eight to twelve tons green weight of feed per acre and has fed well in the sheaf or when cut. As ensilage it is the most satisfactory kind so far tested.

Sunflowers yielded slightly over 15 tons per acre in a small test conducted last year, but it is necessary to conduct further trials, both as to yields per acre and feeding value before recommending them ahead of peas and oats, especially when such excellent yields of this later crop can be grown as at the Lacombe experimental station.

TO PROVIDE LIST OF OPPORTUNITIES IN CITY BUSINESS

Working along the line of activity toward the development of the industrial resources of this province and the Edmonton district, the Alberta Industrial development association writes the Edmonton Board of Trade asking for information of all the business opportunities afforded in this city.

The matter of the compilation of this data has been placed in the hands of M. J. Hutchinson, associate secretary of the Board of Trade, who will forward the information at the earliest opportunity.

CROPS IN A FAVORABLE CONDITION

Moisture Required in Some Districts—Some Rye Cut—Hay Crop Heavy

The condition of the crops in Central Alberta at the present time is favorable in most localities. The past two weeks have brought about remarkable growth. The weather has been exceedingly warm and bright and up to the present there has been sufficient moisture to satisfy all growth requirements, and as a net result the grain crops are in a condition that could be little improved upon. Generally speaking, however, rain will be required soon if the crops are to continue development at the same rate as they have in the past two or three weeks.

Rye Cut.

The wheat on an average is from eighteen to thirty inches in height, and the most of it is in the shot blade. Some small fields in the Edmonton district by actual measurement have a growth of 30 inches, while on the University farm, Prelude, which was sown early, is beginning to head. The oat and barley crop are also progressing favirably. The fall rye crop is also very good. The stand is very heavy and two orthree farmers are reported as already having harvested their fall rye crop.

Hay Crops Good.

The hay crops, as well as the grain crops, have made remarkable growth. Oldtimers who have been in the district for years, state that the growth of native hay was never as luxurious as this year. The pasture provided by the abnormal growth of grass has a far-reaching and beneficial effect. The cows, although poor in flesh in the early spring, soon regained their normal strength and as a result the flow of cream this year is heavier than any year in the history of the province. Early in the spring creamerymen viewed the prospects for a heavy flow of cream in a more or less pessimistic light, however, at the present time the receipts of cream are heavier than ever before and the season of 1920 promises to be a banner year for butter production.

Vigorous Condition.

The season has been a phenomenal one. Never in the history of Alberta agriculture have the crops reached the same stage of development in the short space of time, and it is doubtful if there was ever a season for the last ten or fifteen years where the crops were in such a vigorous growing condition. The season was very late, the acreage of fall plowing small, and the horse power on the majority of farms as a result of the feed shortage occasioned by the severe winter, seriously depleted. It took a lot of courage to seed a large acreage of wheat in the face of these conditions, and to a great many the prospects for the Alberta farmer to remain a "next year" man were exceedingly strong, and wheat growing looked like a big gamble.

Moisture Saved th eSituation.

Crop production is based upon six factors, the seed, plant food, moisture, heat, light and air. If these are present in the proper proportions crop production is unlimited. This spring there was an abundance of moisture in the soil, a factor which for the past two years, has been a limiting one. The spring was cool, the cool weather, however, continued only during the seeding period and since the time the grain has been seeded and through the ground, the warm weather combined with frequent showers have transformed Central Alberta into a veritable forcing bed, and as a result, practically all of the expectations up to the present time have materialized. The cool weather in the spring, instead of being a handicap, was a decided advantage, the horses were in a run-down condition, and had the weather been hot, would never have been able to accomplish the spring work in the time that it was done.

IMPROVING THE POULTRY FLOCKS OF ALBERTA BY CULLING INFERIOR BIRDS

Representatives of the Poultry Branch Inspected 6,115 Birds This Season—Discarded 2,766—Egg Production in One Flock Culled Twice, Increased From 72 to 134 Eggs Per Hen Per Year

To improve the poultry industry of Alberta by assisting individual farmers in culling their flocks, mating of breeding pens, and inspection of male birds. This is what the Alberta representatives of the Poultry Division of the Dominion Live Stock Branch set out to do last summer, and judging from the work that they have accomplished since then, it will not be long before the poultry industry of Alberta will hold a new place in the agriculture of the province.

Profits Nearly Doubled

A hen may be just a hen, nevertheless as in any other class of livestock, some hens are more profitable than others regardless as to whether they are pure bred or not, and to realize the greatest profits the flocks must be carefully culled, healthy, well bred, well cared for and well housed. That the work is practical and is of real benefit to the farmers is well illustrated in a flock that was inspected twice. The egg laying capacity of this flock was increased from seventy two eggs per hen, per year, to one hundred and thirty four eggs. In other words the profits from this flock were nearly doubled. On an average forty per cent. of the birds are marked culls in the first inspection, and in the last inspection of this flock only twelve per cent. were discarded as not being up to the average.

Three Divisions

The flock improvement work is divided into three parts. First, the mating of breeding pens in the spring of the year from which the owners and others may secure good eggs for hatching from Government approved flocks. Second, the culling of the farm flock during the late summer and the early fall when every bird is handled by an officer of the poultry division, and all birds which are not likely to be profitable are leg banded, thus enabling the owner to dispose of the culls and keep only those that are most likely to yield a profit during the coming season; and third, the inspection of male birds for distribution during the fall and winter for use the next season.

Handle Every Bird

It is the practice of the Department where ten or more farmers in one district desire the services of a poultry expert a representative is sent free of charge to do the work. These men are all practical poultry men who understand every phase of the game. They don't merely go to a farmer and tell him what to do but actually go into the poultry yard and handle every bird and put a leg band on all those that they find below the standard, and at the same time, they discuss with the owner such problems as housing, feeding and breeding for increased egg production. The poultry experts in going about the country find a great need for improvement of housing conditions and assist farmers in planning modern poultry houses or reconstructing the old ones. Plans of poultry houses that have proved successful in this country are supplied by the poultry branch.

Approved Flocks

Last year the activities of the Poultry Branch in Alberta were confined largely to the districts of Lougheed, Killam, Sedgewick, Crossfield, Gleichen and Vulcan. In the spring of 1920 the work in these districts was followed up by inspecting the flocks with the idea of obtaining a number of good flocks from which hatching eggs might be obtained. Eighty pure bred flocks comprising 1877 birds were inspected and of this number over seventy per cent. were approved.

The approved flock is one in which in the opinion of the inspector is satisfactory as a source of supply for hatching eggs for other farmers in the district.

Culling Work This Year

The summer culling work which commenced the first week in July is now well under way with three men devoting the majority of their time to this work. So far, flocks have been culled in the High River, Nanton, Blackie, Macleod, and Winnifred districts. In all 6115 birds have been handled in these districts out of which 2760 were leg banded and discarded as culls, while 3355 were considered to be profitable to keep for another season. None of these flocks have ever been culled before.

Up to the present time only five districts have been culled this season, however, ten or more applications have been received from the following fourteen districts namely: Cereal, Parkland, Sedgewick, Lougheed, Killam, Wavy Lake, Hardisty, Prairie Park, Willow Hollow, Craigmyle, Compeer, Veteran, Hayter, Zetland. In the fourteen districts there are approximately 50,000 birds, all of which will be handled within the next few months.

WHAT PRESS AGENTS SAY

"HIS HOUSE IN ORDER." FINE BILL FOR ELSIE FERGUSON AT THE EMPRESS NEXT WEEK

Talented and Beautiful Star on Screen Three Days, Starting Monday, in Play That Has Been on London Stage Ever Since It Was Produced, in 1906

Recognized as one of the most brilliant stars of the screen in the world, Elsie Ferguson has an enormous following of film fans wherever Paramount-Artcraft films are shown, and that is in every city, town and village in the country. In "His House in Order," which comes to the Empress theatre for the first three days of next week, patrons will find another typical Elsie Ferguson picture, a production that is far above the average run.

The mimetic talents which made Miss Ferguson one of the most celebrated stars of the American stage, likewise have made her one of the most distinguished luminaries of the screen. An actress of remarkable power, as beautiful as she is talented, Miss Ferguson dominates every screen by her artistry, so that nothing is lacking to make her portrayals distinctive achievements. Thus her characterizations in "Barbary Sheep," which marked her debut as a screen player, "The Avalanche," "The Witness for the Defence," "A Social Exile," "Counterfeit" and many others, are recognized classics of the screen. In "His House in Order" Miss Ferguson has a congenial role which will vastly enhance her reputation and increase her vogue with screen fans.

The story of "His House in Order" is the work of Sir Arthur Wing Pinero, the celebrated English playwright. It was produced in play form at St. James' theatre, London, on February 1, 1906, and has held the stage ever since. It was presented in New York in the same year and has been presented all over the country. This is said to be one of Sir Arthur's strongest dramatic stories, and none of its beauty or strength has been sacrificed in its picturization.

Miss Ferguson is finely supported in her new picture. Her leading man is Holmes E. Herbert, an English actor of reputation, and he played opposite to her in "A Doll's House." Vernon Steele, well known to aPramount Artcraft audiences, has a strong role. Others in the cast include Margaret Linden, Marie Burke and Lawrence Johnson ,the latter being one of the best-liked juvenile players known to the screen.

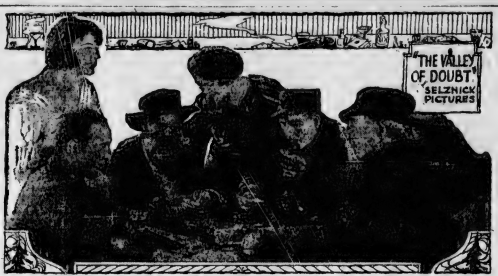
SCREEN BEAUTY AT ALLEN ON THURSDAY NEXT

Katherine MacDonald, in "Passion's Playground," a Drama of Monte Carlo

Out of the sanctity of a Scottish convent, Mary Grant, through whose veins flowed the blood of her gambler-father, is thrown into the glamor of Monte Carlo's famous society. This is the central thought of Katherine MacDonald's latest production, "Passion's Playground," adapted from the famous story, "The Guests of Hrcules," by the Williamsons. The picture will be shown on the Allen screen next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Never in Miss MacDonald's career has she been afforded a role with the romantic and dramatic possibilities that come to her as the convent girl warned beforehand to beware of the alluring resort and reminded of the memory of a chum who three years before had fled from the convent to become lost in the mazé of gambling passions.

It is in the strange meeting with the mysterious runaway girl that the Williamsons have provided a climax for their great plot. Pledged to secrecy, Mary Grant takes upon herself the disgrace that accompanied the strange fate of the "missing" girl.



Scene from "The Valley of Doubt," showing at the Allen the first half of next week.

Secrets of the Movies Revealed

Q—How are shadowgraph or silhouette motion pictures made?

A—The silhouette is made by having the actors perform behind a white sheet or screen, in front of a powerful light. Both living actors, and models of some thin material with jointed limbs are used. The contrast in sizes of the actors is produced by the distance from the light at which the person performed. The camera is placed in front of the sheet, so that merely the shadows of the figures are produced.

Q—What famous director started in movies as a policeman?

A—Robert Henley.

Q—How much did it cost to produce Douglas Fairbanks' new picture "The Mollycoddle"?

A—It is said to have cost $400,000 no small part of which, however, was Douglas' salary.

Q—What famous movie star, noted for her dangerous exploits, recently rode a motorcycle from the top of Mount Wilson to Mt. Lowe, Cal., over a trail a foot wide covered with snow?

A—Grace Cunard. It is the first time this has ever been accomplished.

Q—What screen actor was born at an army post in India?

A—Robert Bentley, whose father an Englishman, was banished to India because he chose as his wife a woman who did not suit his fastidious parents.

Q—Has Harry Lauder ever appeared in the movies?

A—No, but he has finally succumbed to the golden lure. When he completes his present world tour he is going to make movies by a new talking movie process, by which his famous Scottish bu-r-r wil lbe preserved for posterity.

What great handicap has been removed against amateur scenario writers? The answer to this question will appear in this department in our next issue.

E. K. LINCOLN IN "VIRTUOUS MEN" HAS BIG SUPPORTING CAST IN BIG FEATURE COMING TO THE REGENT

Ralph Ince Special Production Has the Most Imposing Array of Names ever Gathered Together in One Production—Here Next Monday

In keeping with the extreme care exercised by the producers of "Virtuous Men," starring E. K. Lincoln, in regard to selection of director, star, author and story, several weeks of careful study were given the matter of picking out a suitable cast to appear in Lincoln's support. The management of the Regent Theatre, has secured "Virtuous Men" for three days commencing next Monday.

"The story, directed by Ralph Ince, has several distinct types of characters not found in the average screen production. In order to assure perfection in selecting these types, practically every available player in the business was interviewed. Probably the most imposing array of names ever gathered together in one production appear in support of Lincoln. Grace Darling, selected for the ingenue lead, is internationally famous as a screen beauty. Clara Joel, who appears in the leading feminine 'heavy' role, is conceded to be a real star of the legitimate stage. She has been seen more recently as the 'baby vamp' in the Broadway success, 'Business Before Pleasure,' and was featured in 'Within the Law.' William B. Mack, famous for his stage characterizations for many years, has a role perfectly suited to his ability. Robert W. Cummings, another popular star of many Broadway stage successes, was specially engaged to interpret the leading 'villain' male part. Well known alike on stage and screen, John P. Wade will be seen in a character befitting his fine acting ability.

"Among the other players may be mentioned Irving Brooks, Danny Hayes, famous for his characterizations of 'Hick' roles, and Logan Paul and William Cohill, both well known to 'movie' fans and theatregoers through their many appearances in big productions."

LORRAINE EVON, who presents "The Golden Bird," as a feature of next week's Pantages vaudeville bill.

HAROLD LLOYD'S NEW COMEDY AND GREAT DETECTIVE STORY DOUBLE PROGRAM AT EMPRESS

"An Eastern Westerner" and "The Mystery of the Yellow Room" Make Up a Splendid Bill for the Last Half of Next Week

A side-splitting comedy by Harold Lloyd, "An Eastern Westerner," and an entrancing mystery story, "The Mystery of the Yellow Room" make up the double program that will be presented at the Empress theatre for the last half of next week.

Harold Lloyd has not fallen down on a comedy yet, andthose who go to see "An Eastern Westerner" are warned to leave their handkerchiefs at home and prepare their funny bones for tickling. It is full of laughs throughout, and the action is described as of the rapid-fire, hair-trigger, double-barreled variety.

To those who like to unravel the threads of a detective story, "The Mystery of the Yellow Room" will afford delight. It is a photographic interpretation of the French novel of the same name by Gaston Leroux, which has been translated into several languages.

"The Mystery of the Yellow Room" remains such until the end of the picture, when the young Parisian reporter, played by Lorin Raker, saves the man who has been innocently accused by telling in court how a clue led him to cross the Atlantic, where he found evidence against the real criminal. Until that surprising climax one is in doubt as to the identity of the person who attacked the heroine, Mathilde Stangerson, played with much emotional ability by Miss Ethel Grey Terry. George Cowl as Frederick Larsan, detective, and Edmund Elton, who as Robert Darzac is accused of robbery and the murder of an employee of a radium laboratory, provide many thrills and surprises. The solution of the mystery makes a good guessing contest, as four persons are under suspicion until the final scene.

LOUIS BENNISON COMES TO MONARCH IN WESTERN PLAY

"Oh, Johnny!" in which Louis Bennison will be seen for the first time as a screen actor, at the Monarch theatre, beginning next Thursday, has more than the ordinary values of film comedy.

When Adele Butler leaves her chum and partner, Johnny Burke, to live with her fashionable relations on Long Island, she is just as unspoiled, simple and charming a girl as you could wish to find anywhere. Her aunt and uncle, however, though of one of the oldest families in the East, have most of the defects and few of the qualities of their kind. They spoil the girl, instil false ideas and false values into her head until she is in a fair way to become like them.

So much so that when Johnny appears to visit her she is at first inclined to be ashamed of her old chum and partner. She is delighted to see him and she can never forget his kindness, but after the excitement of the meeting has worn off she sees his uncouth manners and his lack of the superficial graces too vividly.

It is not until Johnny is able to prove that the supposed fashionables who were trying to teach her to despise him were actually imposing and preying upon her and conniving to cheat her of her fortune that she realizes the thorough worthlessness of the snobbish ideas she was on the verge of acquiring. Johnny saves her money from the clutches of her greedy relatives and she, in turn, comes to the conclusion that the West is the proper place for her.

DRAMATIC SITUATIONS, MYSTERY AND LIVE INTEREST IN MONARCH FEATURE STARTING ON MONDAY

Olive Tell Will Be Seen in "Love Without Question," Which is the Film Version of the Popular Novel, "The Abandoned Room"

Mystery, suspense, tense dramatic situations and highly interesting love interest are remarkably well combined in the Jans super-feature, "Love Without Question," which comes to the Monarch Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

It is a film adaption of one of the most popular novels of this generation, "The Abandoned Room," by C. Wadsworth Camp, which made a record as a "best seller." The screen version was produced under the personal supervision of B. A. Rolfe, a past master in the art of photo play making, and in this feature he had added greatly to his already excellent reputation as a producer of film dramas that the public like.

In the leading role of "Love Without Question," is Broadway's favorite star, dainty Olive Tell. Miss Tell scores the hit of her career in the role of the girl who loved perhaps not wisely but too well. Her supporting cast includes James Morrison, than which there is no better leading man appearing before the camera, Ivo Dawson, Peggy Parr and others equally well known.

The story of 'Love Without Question" concerns the unfolding of one of the most mysterious crimes ever brought before the public, while interwoven in the detective story is a most unusual love tale that has never before been presented on the screen. Because of this the photodrama abounds in interest and tells a story that holds an audience spellbound from the first reel to the final fade out.

CLEVER LITTLE CANARY FOLLOWS VIOLIN IN "THE GOLDEN BIRD," NEXT WEEK'S PAN. HEADLINER

Added Attraction is Hawaiian Serenaders, in Which Liletta's Lula-Lula Dance Is Featured—"The Ragtime Dining Car" Is a Minstrel Act

There is entertainment in abundance on next week's bill at Pantages. There is comedy, novelty and singing and dancing in abundance, sufficient to satisfy the most critical vaudeville patron. "The Golden Bird," a canary of almost human inteligence, as presented by Lorraine Evon, will carry the honors of the program. This wonderful bird sings, while accompanied on the violin by Miss Evon. It is one of the most novel acts in vaudeville. Miss Evon also plays several solo numbers.

Liletta and her Hawaiian Serenaders are billed as added attractions. The act features Lileta, a beautiful daughter of the tropics in original and descriptive Hawaiian dances. Six other Hawaiian musicians are members of the company. The settings are beautiful, showing Diamond Head and Waikiki Beach in Hawaii.

Howard and Fields, assisted by Oscar Lee, present a most realistic touch of Ragtime Dining Car." They have a pleasing arrangement of new songs. A staircase dance in which both man and woman dance up and down the stairs in intricate evolutions is the feature of Mack and Williams' act. Eddie Mack has an international reputation as a hard shoe dancer.

Jarrow, the humorous trickster, is a man with a lemon, some money and some humor, enterataining with comedy manipulations. Another first-class act will be added to the bill for the Edmonton engagement.

Moving picture features include another installment of "Seeing Canada," along with "The Black Secret," starring Pearl White, Literary Digest Topics of the Day and the Fox Weekly.

OLIVE THOMAS NEW FEATURE IS DIFFERENT

A play of rare scenic splendors, of deep emotional moments, of stirring dramatic incidents, finely acted and supefbly directed is the new picture, "Out Yonder," starring charming Olive Thomas, which comes to the Regent next Thursday.

The role of "Flotsam," in which Miss Thomas is cast, is totally different from any which she has thus far essayed. Flotsam is a ragged little sea waif, the daughter of a lighthouse keeper, whose life is spent on a lonely reef in the Atlantic. No place here for the gorgeous creations of the French modistes that the fair Olive has heretofore shown to such advantage, and yet she never before has been more charming nor made a greater appeal.

Many spectacular incidents and extraordinary scenic effects are embodied in the picture and in the matter of realism Director Ralph Ince has gone far beyond any previous effort.

A cast of notable players appear in support of Miss Thomas, chief among them being Huntley Gordon, Mary Coverdale, Louise Prussing, John Smiley, Cyril Chadwick and Edward Ellis.

Scene from "Mis' Nelly of N'Orleans," starring Mrs. Fiske, famous American star, who will appear at the Empire Theatre for three days, starting Monday, July 19.

FAMOUS AMERICAN STAR, MRS. FISKE, WILL APPEAR AT EMPIRE THEATRE ON MONDAY

Comedienne Has Most Sparkling Role of Her Career in "Mis' Nelly of N'Orleans,"—Strong Supporting Cast, Headed by Ben Lewis

Mrs. Fiske comes to the Empire theatre for three nights and a matinee beginning July 19, in the most radiant and sparkling role of her career. In Laurence Eyre's comedy, "Mis' Nelly of N'Orleans," the distinguished commedienne portrays a charming woman in the forties, who cherishes, thrives and lives upon the realities of youth and romance. Mis' Nelly may die, she tells us, but she can never grow old; and the fall of the final curtain leaves us convinced under the intriguing and captivating power of Mrs. Fiske's genius, that Mis' Nelly, for all her moonshine and make-believe, is real; that Mis' Nelly in her own unique and madcap way, has mastered the elusive art of life, for which philosophers search in vain.

The play tells the story of young love and love that is ever young in the magic moonlight of N'Orleans. Twenty years before the action begins, Nelly Daventry, vivacious, careless, mischievous, too proud to deign any explanation for her whims and impulses, is jilted by a proud and jealous Creole lover. She exiles herself to Paris remaining there until she hears of the prospective match between the son of this man and her own niece. Returning suddenly to N'Orleans, she displays a firm opposition to the marriage until she discovers that the boy is really adorable, and that his father, still smarting under the memory of his experience with Mis' Nelly in '86, is himself prepared to shatter his son's love dream with every means legal and pernicious within his power.

Mis' Nelly decided to teach this "bull headed" parent a lesson. To that end she contrives a plot wherein she revives the scene of her own romance of twenty years before, staging it in the old garden, with its Mardi Gras lights, mysterious recesses and vine covered walls; an atmosphere of magic, heavily laden with the fragrance of jasmine and honeysuckle. The play is produced under the management of Cohan and Harris, the director being Harrison Grey Fiske. Mrs. Fiske will be supported by an admir-

"OTHER MEN'S SHOES" NOW FEATURE AT REGENT THEATRE

The long awaited Edgar Lewis production, "Other Men's Shoes," is now showing at the Regent theatre today and all week. This is the first Edgar Lewis picture distributed under the Pathe banner.

Edgar Lewis' production of such features as "The Great Divide," "The Barrier," "The Bondsman," "The Blunderer," "The Nigger," "The Light at Dusk," "The Bar Sinister," "The Sign Invisible," and many others has won for him the reputation of the greatest director of outdoor stories. The themes of his stories are always clean and wwholesome, yet vigorous and potent and abounding in dramatic situations.

"Other Men's Shoes," is no exception to Mr. Lewis' rule of good photoplay entertainment. Andrew Soutar is the author of the story, which is skillfully woven around twin brothers, who are so alike in face, figure and voice, that one can take the place of the other without detection by his most intimate friends.

Craufurd Kent was chosen by Mr. Lewis as the ideal type to portray the dual role, and others in the cast are Irene Boyle, Jean Armour, Harold Forshay, John P. Wade, Phil Sanford, Stepyhen Gratton and young Bobby Connelly.

It often happens that a good talker is a poor thinker.

HUMOR SENSE ONLY WAY TO GAIN LAUGHS

Mrs. Fiske Explains the Mystery of Her Great Success on the Stage

What is Mrs. Fiske's explanation of her skill as a commedienne? For years she has mystified us. And now in "Mis' Nelly of N'Orleans," the latest comedy success of Mrs. Fiske's, which opens at the Empire on Monday, July 19, for three days, the persistent query bobs up again. How does she provoke a laugh? Mrs. Fiske's role was due either to a synthesis of opposition or was the result of a sudden preception of the incongruous by the audience. But this logic is inadequate as an explanation of the continuous waves of merriment that sweep through the audience witnessing "Mis' Nelly of N'Orleans."

According to Mrs. Fiske the comedy gift is a definite thing, innate, aborn and inherent in the individual. "Not the result of technical skill, nor proficiency nor long years of training—but is analogous to a sense of humor," Mrs. Fiske tells us, instantly alert, spontaneous and effervescent, keen and alive at all times, constantly sensing the comic in every situation. And yet, (there Mrs. Fiske is very emphatic) the intuitive comedy sense will attain no great heights unless it is supplemented by imagination and training and moulded and directed by an alert and discriminating mentality. This is always obvious in the first rehearsals of any comedy. When a young actor speaks a line with comedy intent and falls short of the desired effect it is because he lacks the finenesse finesse of training.

BOARD TRADE TO SEND DELEGATES TO CONFERENCE

Important Gathering of Empire Boards at Toronto in September

"How many delegates from your city will attend the most important gathering of business men ever held in the British empire," is the question put to the Edmonton board of trade relative to the city's representation at the ninth annual congress of the chambers of commerce of the British empire, to be held in Toronto, September 18 to 22. The board of trade has the matter of appointment of delegates under consideration.

The letter received from the congress secretary states that strong representations will be present at the congress from the United Kingdom and the overseas dominions, thereby giving promise that the assembly will be one of the most important ever conducted.

"THE VALLEY OF DOUBT," WRITTEN BY WILLARD LOYE, TELLS OF LIFE IN CANADIAN LUMBERING CAMPS

Two Most Realistic Fights Feature This Drama of the Northwest, Which Will Be Screened at the Allen Theatre, Starting Next Monday

A picture of more than usual interest to Edmonton movie fans in that it is written about the Canadian northwest by Willard Mack, whose parents reside near Medicine Hat, will be the attraction at the Allen theatre the first three days of next week. It is called "The Valley of Doubt," and is a stirring tale of life in the Canadian snows and lumber camps, with most of the action taking place out of doors. Arline Pretty and Thurston Hall play the principal roles, and "Jean" the famous collie dog, has an important part.

"The Valley of Doubt" is claimed by the director, Burton George to be his finest production, and is described by the reviewers as a photo-drama of unusual strength and magnificent scenic effects, dealing primarily with the rugged lumbermen of the Canadian woods. Throughout the entire run of the story there has been injected many intense compelling dramatic moments, notable among them being two of the most realistic fights ever staged before the camera.

In one of these, two husky lumbermen, one a vigorous, upright French-Canadian, meet in the open with only a big moon overhead and a carpet of beautiful white snow beneath, to witness the struggl. It is a battle to a finish in which the Canadian is victorious after having grappled fiercely for an hour.

In the other fight a magnificent collie dog, "Jean," gives battle to a villainous intruder who would have attacked pretty Marion Hilgrade, played by Arline Pretty.

Opium Eggs Repose In Police Vaults With no Claimants

Calgary, July 16—Two thousand dollars worth of opium that was shipped from Montreal to a Calgary Chinese resident and that was concealed in eggs, reposes in the local police vaults. When the Dominion Express Company delivered the eggs at the address to which they were consigned, some were broken and the contents were leaking through the containers. The consignee refused to accept them. The express company held the eggs for a certain time then sold them to a local restaurant. When the case was opened and the eggs examined it was found that they held opium and not their legitimate contents. The police were informed but at the address to which the company had taken them none of the Chinese knew anything about the person to whom they were directed and the police thus were stalled.

The Beauties and Wonders of Kootenay

The C.P.R. passenger department reports a larger sale of holiday tickets than in any previous season. Most of the tickets are for points in the mountains or on the Pacific coast. From the Great Plains to either mountain or sea is a change, striking enough to be highly attractive; and beneficial as well, both to health and temperament. The summer outing is an institution of modern civilization, promoted greatly by travel facilities, and better economic conditions. It is one of the advantages of Alberta that it has alongside a region of mountain, lake and sea, where the summer outing may be enjoyed under every possible variety of pleasing conditions.

The Kootenay country of British Columbia, is as large as Switzerland, and offers features of beauty, grandeur and variety, quite equal to that world famous summer resort. The orchards that supply Alberta with fruit are in the Valleys of the Kootenay, along the margin of the lakes that lie between the mountain ranges. The mountains themselves are yielding from within wealth in silver and copper and lead and zinc; and from their sides vast quantities of lumber for the needs of the prairie.

The Kootenay country (using that name for convenience to cover the region south of the C.P.R. main line, and from the Rockies to the Cascades), is readily accessible in all its parts by railway and steamer; and the length of the excurison may be adjusted to fit the purse of the tourist. The C. P. Railway lines give access to its valleys and the company's steamers traverse its lakes. Good hotels are established at all important points, and excellent motor roads connect all settlements. Two C.P.R. lines traverse the country from east to west. The main line is approximately the northern boundary, while the Crows Nest traverses the southern part near the United States line. The two lines enter the Rockies about 100 miles apart, by the Kicking Horse and Crows Nest passes respectively, and come together near Yale on the Fraser river on the west side of the Cascade range. The main line cuts the Cascades following the valley of the Fraser. The Crows Nest cuts through the Hope pass, and follows down the Coquihalla river to the Fraser. The railway engineering by which this line crosses the Cascades is a marvel, and the scenery and situations are worth at least a couple of days travel to see.

The two main lines cross the mountain from east to west. There are five rail or rail and steamer connections between these main lines which follow the valleys between the ranges.

Nearest the prairies is the rail connection from Golden on the main line to Cranbrook on the Crow's Nest. This line follows up the Columbia river to lake Windermere and thence down the Kootenay river to Ft. Steele and Cranbrook. Windermere had a reputation for beauty long before the railroad was built, when steamers ran up the Columbia from Golden. There are productive mines and fine agricultural settlements at Windermere. The round trip by way of Calgary, Banff, Golden, Windermere, Ft. Steele, Cranbrook, Fernie, Blairmore, MacLeod and Lethbridge is not long either in distance or time, and need not be unduly expensive.

From Golden to Cranbrook the Rockies are on the left and the Selkirks on the right. The sources of the Columbia and of the Kootenay are in the valley between; the Columbia flowing north and the Kootenay south. There are hotels and a summer camp at Lake Windermere. This short trip gives all the best of the mountain scenery.

The next cross trip is from Revelstoke to Nelson by way of Arrow lakes. The main line crosses the Selkirks before reaching Revelstoke. A branch line from Revelstoke connects with the steamer at Arrowhead. The steamer connects at Robson at the foot of the lakes with rail to Nelson.

At Nakusp half way down the Arrow lakes there is rail connection with Kaslo on Kootenay lake by way of Sandon; famous for its silver mines. Steamer can be taken on Kootenay lake from Kaslo to Nelson

On the way to Sandon the railway touches the head of Slocan lake, from whence steamer may be taken to Slocan city at the foot of the lake and thence rail to Nelson.

From Nelson on the return trip steamer is taken on Kootenay lake to Kootenay Landing and then rail by the Crows Nest line, to Cranbrook and eastward through the Crow's Nest pass. Nelson is the capital of the mining portion of the Kootenay country and all points of scenic or mining interest can be easily reached from there.

Next west, is the connection from Sicamous on the main line to Penticton on the "Crow" by way of the famous Okanagan lake, with its orchards lining both shores. The Okanagan valley is the principal orchard and garden region of British Columbia, and is the best known portion of the southern interior. Vernon, Kelowna, Peachland, Summerland, Naramata, and Penticton are all well known orchard settlements, and hundreds of cars of cherries, plums, apples and peaches are shipped each year to the prairies. From Penticton eastward the railway passes Grand Forks and Cascade in the Kettle river valley on the way to Nelson.

Shuswap lake lies north of the main line of the C.P.R. Sicamous is on the lake shore ,and there are fine orchards and grand scenery around the lake with excellent boating and fishing on the lake.

Kanloops on the main line is at the head of Kamloops lake and is at the junction of the north and south Thompson rivers. The Canadian National gives a service to Kamloops as well as the C.P.R. There are many orchards both west and east of Kamloops along the Thompson river. Kamloops is one of the oldest towns in B C and is the capital of the central interior.

The Nicola valley is next west of the Okanagan and is reached from the main line at Spence's bridge, connecting with the "Crow", (there called the Kettle valley) railway, at Brodie. From Brodie eastward to Penticton on the return east the Kettle valley railway passes through the Similkameen country. Great copper mines are being worked at Hadley, a few miles from Princeton the capital of the Similkameen.

It may be because the Kootenay is so near and has such close economic relationship with the prairies, that it has attracted so little attention from holiday makers in the past. But the economic relationship should add rather than detract from interest in the natural beauties, which we would read about with wonder if they were in the Himalayas, but do not recognize when they are just next door.

ARCTIC CIRCLE WILL POPULATE "AS MANITOBA"

Stefansson Declares That Climate Will Be No Handicap When Wealth Known

STORY OF "JIM FUGI"

Samoan Islander Went North by Mistake and Remained by Choice

New York, July 16—(By Canadian Press)—The story of "Jim Fiji," the man who prefers the Arctic circle in Canada to the bright sunshine and soft alluring climate of the Samoan islands, is told by Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the famous Arctic explorer, in an article published in the July number of The Maple Leaf, the official organ of the New York Canadian club which is out today.

Stefansson in this article predicts that in Canadian territory north of the Arctic circle, most of the meat of Canada's export trade will be produced half a century hence, as well as much of the mineral supply for Canada's growing industries. This great expanse of country in the far north of the Dominion is going to be settled, Stefansson declares, "Just as Manitoba has been," without much reference to the climate, but solely on the basis of what it has to offer in the way of minerals, food production, water power and the like.

Stefansson lauds the climate of Northern Canada, which he says is disagreeable only to those who do not know it. It is in this connection that he tells the story of "Jim Fiji."

To the Arctic by Mistake

"When the world's fair was held in Chicago in 1893," he writes, "one of the exhibits was a young man who had grown to maturity in the Samoan islands and who had been brought to Chicago as a part of the exhibit of 'native races.' When the fair was over he drifted to San Francisco with an idea of getting back to the Samoas. He could not speak English very well so he went down to the waterfront to see if he could, by examination, of the ships, find one that would take him home. He saw a small sailing ship that had several 'Kanakas' aboard, natives of the Hawaiian Islands. He could not speak to these Hawaiians, but he knew what people and what country they belonged to, so he went to the officers of this ship and asked for a job, for he thought they were sailing for the Hawaiian Islands. Two or three months later he found himself in the Arctic; and instead of getting to the tropic Hawaiis he had to spend the winter with a whaler at Herschel Island, 200 miles north of the Arctic circle, on the north coast of Canada. He found the winter hard, for he did not know how to take care of himself in the cold weather. He froze his face and his fingers and he shivered and was miserable, and he has told me that he would have given anything to be out of it and home. But it was a 3-year voyage, and during the second and third years he learned how to clothe himself properly and to protect himself from frost, and he liked the third year so well that when the vessel got down to San Francisco he immediately shipped on another whaler to go north again. At the end of this 3-year voyage he liked the north so well that when the ship turned toward home he asked permission of the captain to remain behind.

Lived There Since

"He has lived in that country ever since, trapping and occasionally working for whalers or traders, and on the Canadian Arctic expedition he worked three years for us. He has been both industrious and frugal, has caught a great many foxes, has sold his furs at favorable prices, and now he has a good deal of money in the bank.

"In 1917 his hair had turned nearly white and he was getting to be an old man. Although I am a great believer in the north it struck me one day that it might be no bad speculation for 'Jim Fiji,' as everybody calls him, to go back with some of his riches to the Samoan Islands and settle down. I suggested to him one day that a good thing to do would be to go south with us to San Francisco, put most of his money into Liberty bonds, take a few thousands to the Samoans and buy an estate on which he could live. The idea struck him very favorably and thereafter we had many talks about what he was going to do. He told me how you could get a man down there to work for you all day for five cents and he had great visions of what he was going to do as a landlord.

Back to Farthest North

"At the end of the expedition I came east to Ottawa and New York and 'Jim Fiji' went to San Francisco. Some months later I went out to San Francisco, and the day after I got there 'Jim Fiji' called on me. I was surprised to find him still there, but he explained that when he got there he heard that one of his cousins was on the way from the Samoas and so he thought he would await is arrival before starting for home. When this cousin arrived he told me, among other things, that wages had gone up and that you no longer were able to hire a man for five cents a day. Various other things had changed for the worse, but the main thing that worried Jim was that he found that he could not stand, very well, the heat of San Francisco; and, as he imagined that the Samoas would be even hotter, he had decided that he did not care to go back after all and his intentions now were to buy another trapping outfit and go to the Arctic again.

"That is what he has done. In the spring of 1919 he was taken north by Captain C. T. Pedersen of the trading ship 'Herman,' and Captain Pedersen tells me he landed Jim on Cape Pathurst, the second most northerly point in all Canada. He expects to live there the rest of his life."

An Ideal Ocean Voyage

Seeing Jasper Park, Prince Rupert, Vancouver

An inland ocean voyage is a contradiction in terms. But such a voyage would be the ideal of many land dwellers whose joy in the wide freedom of the seas is tempered by remembrance or anticipation of the agonies which so often accompany voyaging on rough water. The limitless space of the ocean, the mystery of its depths, the salt breezes blowing over its curling waves, hold an unspeakable charm. But humanity is frail and material. And no surroundings or conditions, no sights or sounds, can make up for physical agony or acute discomfort. An ocean voyage with a guarantee of smooth water is something which the holiday makers of the world have always wished for but never hoped to achieve.

It is a notable fact that the Inside Passage between Prince Rupert and Vancouver for 600 miles along the Pacific shore of British Columbia offers just such ideal conditions of ocean travel. Off the main shore there lies a chain of islands all the way, which shelter the Inside Passage completely from the storms that sometimes occur even on the ocean named "Pacific." Splendidly appointed steamers ply along this route sailing day after day in what seems to be a succession of inland lakes amongst vast mountain ranges and rugged peaks, scenery second to none in the world.

The Canadian National sells round trip tickets from Edmonton to Prince Rupert by G.T.P.; to Vancouver by steamer; return by C.N.R. A trip that in its ocean feature has no equal in the world, and in its land attractions includes Jasper Park and Mount Robson, both going and coming.

On the outgoing trip via G.T.P. is seen the valley of the upper Fraser with its succession of sawmills, the mountains of Golden Cariboo to the west and the peaks of the Rockies to the east. Prince George, the northern inland capital, the Nechaco and Bulkley valleys; the canons of the Skeena, and at last the ocean. Prince Rupert where rail and steamer connect, is the base of the North Pacific fisheries, of the gold, silver and copper mines of the Portland Canal, of the lumbering industry on Queen Charlotte's Islands, and of the trade of the Yukon. The return trip may be made by the same route or over the C.N.R. from Vancouver, as the tourist chooses.

Shamrock's Victory Arouses Joyous Scenes at Bangor, Down; General Credit Given Lipton

New York Press Says Success Was Well Deserved, in Spite of Breakdown on Resolute—Repairs Being Made for Saturday's Race—Distinguished Company Witnessed First Trial Thursday.

Belfast, July 16—News that the Shamrock IV had won the first race against the Resolute in the series for the America's cup, was received amid joyous scenes at Bangor Down Thursday night because in the event of the ultimate victory of Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht, future races will occur there. Large crowds there for the regatta being held during the present week, awaited reports of the result of the race with intense interest.

New York, July 16—(Canadian Press)—While expressing regret at the accident to the Resolute in Thursday's race, the New York papers are practically unanimous in declaring that it was "part of the game," and Sir Thomas Lipton was perfectly justified in accepting a victory which the fates handed to him. Doubt is expressed as to whether the construction of the Resolute is sufficiently staunch to stand the heavy strain which a taste of real rough weather would place upon her, and it is recalled that the contest must not be considered one of speed and seamanship alone, but of strength of construction as well.

"What would have happened Thursday but for the accident to the Resolute, the experts will endlessly dispute," says the Times.

Repairs Being Made

Sandy Hook, N.J. July 16—Repairs on the cup sloop Resolute, whose throat halyards parted in Thursday's race, when victory over the Shamrock IV seemed well in hand, proceeded rapidly Friday, and there was every prospect that the defender would be in readiness for another joust in the America's cup match off Sandy Hook Saturday.

"We will complete our work of adjusting new halyards Friday," said Robert W. Emmone, II, managing owner. A new metal gaff was to be slung on the Resolute, and Captain Charles Francis Adams, the cup yacht skipper, did not seem unduly chagrined over the accident that robbed him of a fine chance of victory.

Nat Herreshoff, designer and builder of the Resolute, made a careful inspection of the seventy footer and superintended the repairs on board, Herreshoff had no comment to make on the performance of the Shamrock IV. Sailors on the Resolute expressed the opinion that the Lipton challenger cannot lift the cup.

The Shamrock's crew were happy Friday aboard their tender Killarney, while Sir Thomas Lipton beamed with fine good humor on visitors who called to congratulate him on board his steam yacht, the Victoria. The accident to Resolute coming on top of three other major mishaps earlier in the season—the loss of the mast off New Haven, the breaking of the jaws of the gaff and the carrying away of a topmast off Newport—had a tendency to somewhat shake the faith in the ability of the Herreshoff creation to hold together until the end of the season.

It is claimed, however, that Thursday's race has demonstrated that the Resolute possesses better weatherly qualities and that in the light airs, she is several minutes faster up the breeze than Shamrock. It was on such a point of sailing and under such conditions that the challenger was thought to be superior.

The two yachts have yet to test their relative abilities down the breeze or broad off under large reach sails. This is expected to come Saturday in a 30-mile race over a triangular course.

It was also anticipated Friday that Designer Nicholson and Captain Burton, of Shamrock IV, would endeavor to obtain a re-measurement of the challenger in the hope of still further reducing the handicap time allowance since it has been explained that the challenger is using a much smaller club topsail than was included in the original measurement of the New York Yacht club officials.

Geddes Was Present

New York, July 16—(Canadian Press)—Great Britain's representative at Thursday's international yacht race was Sir Auckland Geddes, ambassador to the United States, who was a guest of Sir Thomas Lipton on board the later's steam yacht Victoria.

A guest on board the Victoria was Major General Nelson A. Miles, who was one of the "boy generals" of the Civil War, and a famous Indian fighter.

Captain Nathaniel Herreshoff, designer of the defender Resolute, was a guest on J. P. Morgan's steam yacht Corsair.

Observing "3-Mile Limit

New York, July 16—(Canadian Press)—From the view point of those who witnessed Thursday's international yacht race from aboard the Ward liner Orizaba, the contest was a decided success. Neither the adverse conditions nor the fact that the defender became disabled, had any disheartening effect on the six hundred anti-Volstead yachting enthusiasts who boarded the liner Thursday morning.

The Orizaba, which happened to be in port, was turned into a floating grandstand for the occasion, with a bar fully equipped even to cloves. For $25.00 anybody who had an aversion to prohibition could witness the contest outside the three-mile limit. There was a decided contrast between the countenances of those who saw the race from the Orizaba, and those who patronized the excursion boats when the spectators debarked at their piers Thursday evening.

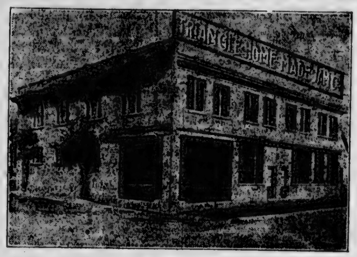
NEW FACTORY PREMISES WHERE THE POPULAR TRIANGLE BRAND JAMS AND PRESERVES ARE MADE IN EDMONTON

Popular Product Causes Demand For More Manufacturing Accommodation—Factory Opened at 109th Ave. and 96th Street

One of the most remarkable features of commercial life in western cities is the manner in which industries, small at their inception, do develop into businesses of great importance with illimitable prospects. At the present time there are some outstanding examples of such in Edmonton.

Another business which has made an excellent start along these lines is the Triangle Brand Home-Made Jam company, which has just moved into its new premises at the southeast corner of 109th Ave. and 96th street. This company was formed some time ago to take over the business of the late M. E. Low, who instituted the Triangle brand of jams and preserves. Since that time the demand for the product of the firm has been growing steadily all the time with the result that it was found necessary to secure a new location for the plant. This was secured by the purchase of the brick block at the corner of 109th Ave. and 96th street, and the place has been adapted into a first-class plant. The factory now consists of a large office, with warehouse and store at rear, a capping and storing room, where the jam after being made is left to set, and subsequently sealed down. Behind is the boiling room where are located the stoves. There, in silver-lined copper kettles, all the jams and preserves are made under the most cleanly conditions by expert employees. The cooking is carried out in home-made style, the ingredients used being good fruit and pure sugar only. This combination accounts for the delicate flavor of the product, and the fact that the consuming public is showing its appreciation by ordering more all the time. Triangle brand products are now obtainable throughout Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia.



The Triangle lines include grapefruit and orange marmalade, strawberry, pineapple, raspberry, plum, peach and apple jams, preserved ginger and apple, black and red currant jellies, raspberry jelly, Mincemeat, is a very strong line and this year ten tons were made up to the end of May. In order to meet the requests that have been made for these specialities, the manufacture of candied fruit is to be undertaken by the firm. Citron and orange peel are now being made at the factory.

With the additional room given by the new factory it is confidently anticipated that the business will show a large increase within a short time, as the Triangle jams are ever securing wider popularity. They are largely used in hotels and on railroads.

Plunkett and Savage are the local agents, handling all the sales in Edmonton, and the Herald Brokerage Company, of Calgary, is the firm of brokers for Southern Alberta.

The numbers attending the special summer services in First Presbyterian church are increasing. Good citizenship is dependant on a living faith, which in turn is much helped by a vital message, and First church is seeking to be of real use and help in the community, as her past history and present prominence would warrant the public in expecting.

The Bandsman

Little Tommy, the terror, had been a good boy most of the day and was permited to sit at the table along with his parents' distinguished visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Brown.

He had received strict instructions to ask no questions, and Tommy tried hard to obey; but nature won, and he suddenly inquired:

"Mamma, do Mr. and Mrs. Brown still play in the band? Will they play us something when tea is over?"

"Why, Tommy, Mr. and Mrs. Brown don't play in any band. Why do you ask such a question?"

"Because," said the terror, in disappointed tones, "I heard you tell papa that Mr. Brown played second fiddle to his wife."

Later on the music started, and Tommy was the drum.

WHEAT BREAKS

Chicago, July 16—Wheat underwent a sensational break in price Friday. The market opened all the way from unchanged figures to 9½c lower, and soon was down 10½c a bushel in some cases for December, the principal speculative delivery. The big tumble in values was attributed more to lack of buying orders than to any great pressure to sell.

The score: 6-4, 6-4, 2-6, 3-6, 6-2.

PEACE WITH AUSTRIA IS RATIFIED.

Paris, July, 16—The exchange of ratifications of the treaty of St. Germain, which established peace between the allies and Austria, took place Friday morning in the cloak room at the foreign office. Jules Cambon presided over the ceremony. Afterwards M. Herish, representing Czecho-Slovakia, signed the agreement for the protection of minorities within the former territory of the AustroHungarian empire.

BOLSHEVISTS DRIVE IN UKRAINE HALTED.

Berne, July 16—The Russian Bolshevist offensive in the Ukraine has come to a standstill, according to advices from Bucharest, which declare the counter-offensive of the Ukrainian forces is making progress. The Ukrainian armies are being backed up by growing forces of volunteers forming in the rear of the Bolsheviki, and aided by the extensive uprisings of peasants.

LITHUANIANS WILL OCCUPY VILNA.

Warsaw, July 16—(Associated Press)—Polish governmental authorities have agreed with the Lithuanians for the occupation of Vilna by Lithuanian troops, and this step will soon be taken, according to information received in military quarters. The surrender of Vilna to the Lithuanians was conceded by the soviet government of Russia some time ago in negotiations between the two countries.

ARMENIANS JOIN WITH GREEK ARMY.

Constantinople, July 16—(Associated Press)—Eight thousand Armenian refugees concentrated in Smyrna, have enlisted in the Greek army. The Turks have begun deportations of Armenians eastward from sections where the Armenians might aid the Greeks. There have been deportations from Cesarea and many other places. Reports say the Armenians fear that the massacres and deportations of the last four years will be repeated. The Armenians are declared to be greatly discouraged because of the withdrawal of the British from Batum.

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO LOVERS OF MUSIC, VOCAL, INSTRUMENTAL AND ORCHESTRAL

WEEKLY REVIEW of MUSIC in EDMONTON

In one of his addresses delivered at the musical festival held here last May, Dr. Henry Coward affirmed that were he a younger man he would certainly accept one of the many tempting offers he had received to come and permanently reside in western Canada. Canada, he said, is a new country, and, as such promises much for those who come from the old land. Furthermore financial offers were so tempting that they were almost irresistable, and on that account western Canada was able to draw on the best musical talent of the old land. Realizing that the west possesses some excellent musicians, eastern institutions are beginning to scout the country with a view to tempting some of the foremost to leave the last best west for the greater luxurious ease of the east. The first victim is a musician well known throughout the west and everywhere regarded with profound respect in his chosen profession—J. Herbert Knight.

Mr. Knight, organist of Knox church, Calgary, has been appointed head of the department of the Peabody conservatory of music, Baltimore, Md., succeeding Harold D. Phillips, according to an announcement made by Harold Randolph, the director of the institution.

Mr. Knight was born in England, but for the past several years has resided in Canada. He has an enviable reputation as a recitalist, organist, choirmaster, teacher, and examiner. As a composer he has achieved considerable distinction, and has had many works published by leading English and American firms. One of his anthems, "O. Christ, What Burdens Bowed Thy Head," was one of the two pieces sung in the small choir competition at this year's Alberta musical festival. He will prove a valuable addition to Baltimore in musical fraternity and should give a decided impetus to the furthering of church music in that city.

Mr. Knight received his musical training under Dr. J. Kendrick Payne, organist of Manchester cathedral, in organ; under Sir Charles Halle in piano; under Dr. John Hiles in harmony, composition; and under Dr. Andrew Black in vocal work. Mr. Knight is a bachelor of music of Victoria university, Manchester, and is an associate of Trinity college of music, London.

The Toronto conservatory of music is making strenuous endeavors to induce an Edmonton teacher to go east to join the staff at that institution. The teacher in question has the best record of any teacher in the west at the Toronto conservatory of music, insofar as the reports of various examiners of pupils are concerned. Dr. Vogt is very anxious to secure the services of the teacher, and though no definite decision has as yet been made, should he prove successful, he will surely obtain a teacher of sterling qualities and one who will be a very valuable addition to an already competent staff.

Though the east appears to be claiming its quota of musicians from the west, the west still attracts, and the newest victim of the prairies is one of the leading musicians of eastern Canada.

Dr. Herbert Sanders, Mus. Bac., F. R.C.O., L.R.A.M., A.R.C.M., organist at Dominion Methodist church, Ottawa and conductor of the Ottawa Oratorio society, has accepted the position of director of the conservatory of music, Regina college, at a yearly salary of $5,000, and will assume his duties there on September 1st

In his 12 years residence in Ottawa, Dr. Sanders exerted all his influence towards educating Ottawa citizens to a higher musical standard. His work with the Oratorio society has been an outstanding example of what may be accomplished with amateur talent when energetically trained and conducted.

Dr. Sanders was born and trained in England where he received the above enviable letters after his name from the leading musical institutions of Great Britain. Several years ago his value as a critic was recognized by McGill university when he was selected as examiner for that college. Dr. Sanders has registered no little success as a composer.

The new post which he has accepted will furnish him with a wider field for the exercise of his undeniable talent. The conservatory of music, Regina college, is one of the largest west of Toronto, and has an annual attendance of over 400 pupils. There are ten teachers employed on the staff, and it is the intention of the faculty, following the acquisition of Dr. Sanders, to considerably extend the musical branch of the curriculum.

Music and Musicians the World Over

The London Symphony Orchestra, like many on this side of the sea, recently gave a concert in aid of its own endowment fund.

"It is a beggar sitting by the wayside with its alms bowl, but it is one of those beggars wee are glad to have always with us," declared the London Times of May 18. "If in this great democracy the voice of the people is decisive, if the people have taken the place of Old King Cole, it ought to consider who is to subsidize his fiddlers three.

"Those three fiddlers, no doubt, made life a good deal more livable, and received something more substantial than praise for their efforts, and—from what we guess rather than know of King Cole—a pension after their fingers were too stiff to play any more. And those who have inherited the 'merry old soul' that understood how to create good servants, will probably find something in an old stocking to send to 61 Regent Street."

The three fiddlers—the strings wind and wood—it was added, "distinguished themselves last night in some wonderful music" under Mr. Coates, the music including Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, Elgar's "Enigma" variations, and the "Prometheus" of Scriabine.

A concert of the Royal Philharmonic Society, reported in London's Morning Post of earlier date, presented Bach's suite in C, two soloists heard respectively in Lalo's 'cello concerto and Gluck's "Iphigenia" air, and a revival of the symphony in E by Rachmaninoff.

A London exchange remarks that "There is no doubt about it, the American 'invasion' has begun, and from now on till probably somewhere in July we shall be hearing the same old Bach, Beethoven, Brahms and Chopin at their hands, even as we have heard it at the hands of every home-grown and itinerant musician for years and years."

A Bach festival and a complete cycle of Beethoven's string quartet have recently been interesting to concert-goers in London, as similar enterprises of the Bethlehem Bach Choir and the all-star Beethoven Association did last season in New York. Three concerts comprised the Westminster Bach festival, sung in English, by the way, except for the B-minor Mass, which was in Latin. The Beethoven cycle occupied six evenings of a single week in London's Aeolian Hall.

Does Walter Damrosch speak Italian? The question is seriously asked since the versatile conductor succeeded in winning Italion hearts with a speech in Rome ,on the New York Symphony Orchestra's tour of Europe as reported in two weeks ago. Local compatriots were able to read it simultaneously in their own tongue, as printed in an Italian daily newspaper in New York, just as the same words were circulated in cities of the Italian peninsula to a wider audience than heard the speaker in Rome.

"Questa non e la mia prima visita a questo paese della musica e dei fiori," Mr. Damrosch was quoted as saying, a reference to former pourneys he had made in that land of music and flowers. "Io fui in Italia quando viveva il grande compositore Verdi," he declared, and went on to tell of his reception at Verdi's villa of Sant' Agata, near Piacenza, in the master's lifetime. The present, however, he added, was the first time an American orchestra had come to Europe to demonstrate the musical culture acquired "alla fonte di tutte le arti, l'Italia." Beyond the Alps, in other words, lies more than music, for Italy is "fountain of all the arts."

The Italian tour had opened at Genoa, where applause as the concert progressed reached 'delirious heights' when the orchestra gave Italy's "Marcia Reale," At Rome, where two concerts were given, the first audience showed greatest enthusiasm after Faure's "La Fileuse" and excerpta from Wagner's "Tristan" and "Master Singers."

Sousa's Band is to open its season in New York this Fall, playing at the Hippodrome on Sept. 26, which is precisely the twenty-eighth anniversary of its first performance under the present name in 1892. In the season just past Mr. Sousa's popularity was shown by increased audiences on his tour. As compared with the rate of growth of some score of towns where population was 25 to 50 per cent. higher than on its former visits, the band played to proportionately more people.

Arturo Tosconono and the Scala Orchestra of Milan are to make a ten-week tour of America, beginning next January. An estimated expense of $250,000 has been guaranteed by a group of patrons.

Mme. Tetrazzini has announced a "farewell" American tour next season, under the direction of William H. Leahy of San Francisco.

Orville Harrold's daughter, Patti Harrold, recently made her first appearance as prima donna in the musical comedy, "Irene." Beth Martin, daughter of Riccardo Martin, the tenor, is appearing with Eva Le Gallienne, daughter of Richard Le Gallienne, in the play of "Not So Long Ago."

On Saturday, June 26, Columbia university, New York will commence it's third season of open air concerts free to the public The series will continue on alternate nights for twelve weeks. The university authorities themselves are sponsors for amazing figures as to probable attendance, based on two past years. Should the weather favor, it is asserted that the crowd on the opening night will be between 25,000 and 30,000 persons. If it rains the players and audience will merely adjourn to the gymnasium, so that in any event the announced programs will be given on each Monday, Wednesday and Friday evening until Sept. 3. Practically the same policies as obtained in former seasons, which were so unusually successful, will be adhered to this year, but all plans have been enlarged upon, notably in extending the concerts on "off nights" to the city parks.

The Goldman Concert Band, under the direction of Edwin Franko Goldman, nephew of Nathan and Sam Franko, will again be the main attraction, while many soloists will also appear. Mr. Goldman, who organized these concerts, will offer interesting novelties, and will more particularly present the works of MacDowell, Herbert and Hadley.

Three hundred thousand New Yorkers, it is said, attended last season's concerts in the Stadium of the City College, where it is hoped to increase the total to a million this year. The previous figures would average 30,000 a week. With such a public for Summer music, the "loss" by the guarantors of, say, $50,000, or ever double that amount, is gain indeed an investment for the future .

The opening of the Stadium concerts for this summer has been set for the night of Saturday, June 26. It was announced yesterday that these concerts, which are to be given by the National Symphony Orchestra, will again be under the auspices of the Music League of the People's Institute and will be managed by the Metropolitan Musical Bureau, headed by F. C. Coppicus.

Mrs. Charles S. Guggenheimer is again Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Stadium concerts, with Rudolph Lewisohn as Honorary Chairman and Mrs. Newbold LeRoy Edgar and Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson as active members. Last summer the concerts were given by an orchestra assembled and conducted by Arnold Volpe. For this third season the donors principally responsible for the two previous series are now co-operating with a new organization in the musical life of New York.

Walter Henry Rothwell, conductor of the Los Angeles Philharmonic, will have artistic direction of the concerts. He has announced his intention to give symphonic, Wagnerian and popular programs on successive nights each week, "to make these concerts attractive to all classes of people and satisfy all tastes." Soloists both vocal and instrumental will take part in the seventy concerts of a season of ten weeks.

Former Senator W. A. Clarke of Montana has written to Mr. Lewishon concerning Mr. Rothwell's work in California. The letter said the conductor "has been with my son all winter in the orchestra which he established in Los Angeles, and which has been very successful." The Senator added that he himself, at an expense of between $40,000 and $50,000 a year was giving similar concerts at the Columbia Gardens at Butte.

Daniel Gregory Mason and Alois Reiser are the two composers whose works the Society for the Publication of American Music has chosen from among 111 manuscripts submitted, and will publish this year, with four others to follow "so far as funds will permit."

Mr. Mason writes to The Press concerning another competition recently held for a different object, that of selection for public performance. Speaking not for himself, but for some twenty-one men and one woman who were directly concerned in this other competition, he says:

"The phrase 'American composer' is fast becoming nauseous to all who sincerely care for music in America. Those who care nothing for music, and little for America, have been quick to see, since the war, how the nationalistic instinct then stirred up could be turned to their own commercial advantage. They were either unconscious that any higher interests were involved, or cynically indifferent to them. Hence, all their patrioteering talk about the 'American composer' (a phrase almost as useful for advertising purposes as 'European reputation' used to be, and doubtless still is) really indicated no disposition to give our composers qua composers a hearing, but only a canny press agent opportunism in 'featuring' their 'Americanism.' Not only the composers but the music living public must resent being manipulated in this way.

"The most recent instance of the sort is the 'reading' of works by unknown composers by the New Symphony Orchestra. This made a number of excellent newspaper 'stories,' but what actually happened (I speak from the accounts of friends, as I was unable to attend the rehearsals myself) was that the orchestra scrambled hastily through a number of manuscripts prima vista and not even conducted by Mr. Bodanzky. I know personally of one charming if light piece, in a dance rhythm, that the composer told me was hurried and confused, in spite of his protests, into utter ineffectiveness. All this the public was not told, but only that nothing was discovered worthy of performance.

"And, meanwhile, as I can also testify from personal knowledge, the New Symphony Orchestra did not hesitate to write to one of our composers (not a novice, this time, but a man of recognized reputation) in regard to a work already played by one of our best orchestras, that 'Mr. Bodanzky says it is a work which no composer could afford to neglect and that he feels quite sure he will be able to include it in his programs next season'—and then, when the time comes, declines performance without explanation. In short, the New Symphony Orchestra, in its actual dealings with our composers, is not ashamed to pose as their benefactor in order to advertise itself with the thoughtless"

On May 5 Jascha Heifetz made his first appearance in London. The music critic of The Daily Telegraph recorded his impressions as follows:

Heifetz is arrived, following his records, and, be it said, he "plays exactly like them"—or he did on his first appearance here in Queens Hall yesterday afternoon. He played yet another arrangement of Vitali's Chaconne, with Mr. Kiddle at the organ, and he played Wieniawski's concerto with the "Romance," and thenceforward he played, with one exception, a number of pianoforte and other arrangements, but no violin music. How is one to judge of his musicianship from this kind of thing? To his everlasting glory he omitted all that awful saccharine with which most violinists endow—or "sticky"—the aforesaid "Romance," and indeed he played the concerto very finely. But almost no opportunity was vouchsafed for judging his performances save from the acrobatic standpoint, just as at first, years ago, we had to judge Kubelik, Mischa Elman and a whole host of other (then) youngsters. The acrobatics of Heifetz are of the same kind as that of the others, but perhaps of a higher degree; a lovely tone that never loses a scintilla even in the most rapid passage work. In fact, he played never a "false note" during the afternoon—an abundant technique and a most masterly assurance are all there; but the phrasing of Schubert's "Ave Maria" was so broken that we feel we must hold the pen until Heifetz plays music that shall prove his musicianship. The notes on his program almost give ground for the surmise that here again we have a case of "vox (or technique) et praeterea nihil"; but we prefer to wait and see. It is fair to say that there was a very large audience (not at all entirely of Londoners) and that enthusiasm abounded.

The further adventures of Jascha Heifetz in London are described in The Daily Telegraph as follows:

"There are singers and players whose sins, remembered in their absence, seem to disappear when one is actually listening to them. One may talk of Mme. Bernhardt's idiosyncrasies, of Mr. Kreisler's mannerisms. But when Mme. Bernhardt is acting or Mr. Kreisler is playing his violin these faults appear as a foil for the supreme beauty of the performance rather than a blemish. The opposite is true of Mr. Heifetz. There were moments yesterday afternoon when, to be brutally frank, one felt a little bored by his flawless technique and his perfect but not always well-timed tone effects. Yet as a demonstration of violin playing pure and simple the recital was notable in many ways. The two Paganini capricci in the last group of pieces in the program were played with the finish of a first class virtuoso. Again in the last movement of Mendelssohn's concerto, Mr. Heifetz must have surely broken the record of speed for certain passages. These things are of unquestionable value for the teacher and the student, but, of course, they are no substitute for individual magnetism, and the fault of the recital lay in the fact that the program included two important works—Tartini's Sonata in G minor and Bach's Chaconne—which demand, far more than technical accomplishment, imaginative qualities and sympathy, insight and a style founded not on textbooks, but on individual temperament. The Tartini sonata, for instance, is not a difficult thing to play as difficulties go nowadays. It summarizes in a wonderful degree the best tendencies of its time. But it belongs entirely to that time. Form, idiom, scope, its very limitations tell of an age that is not ours. It is not enough to play it as accurately and with the fine, thinnish tone that is fashionable, as Mr. Heifetz did yesterday. It was known once as 'The Lament of Dido.' Should Dido wear an aigrette in her hair and a Bond Street frock because she appears on a modern stage? Surely not.

"The same criticism applies in the main to Mr. Heifetz's playing of Bach's Chaconne. The Mendelssohn concerto showed how difficult it is for the technician to resist the temptation of exceeding the speed limit. The moment the performer reached the first group of triplets he began to force the pace, and the phenomenon was repeated whenever the lure of an open field presented itself—hardly to the advantage of the composition.

"Finally, one would wish to protest against the price charged for Mr. Heifetz's program. None could object to a reasonable charge for a program containing notes—analytical and historical—or for any similar attempt to enlighten the public. But sixpence is too high a price for the pleasure of reading somebody's advertisements."

Italy has discovered a new violinist in a young Bohemian named Vasa Prihoda, from Prague. He is 19 years old, was born August 21, 1900, at Vodnany, in Bohemia, and studied with Maestro Marak at the Conservatory of Prague. The miseries of reconstruction after the war drove Prihoda from Bohemia to Milan, penniless, but with his violin, a Gagliano, There Signor Ferrerrio, publisher of the Grande Italia, interested Gaetano Bavagnoli, former Metropolitan Opera conductor, in the young violinist. Under their sponsorship he made this debut at Milan on the night of December 31, 1919.

John J. Cross, director, announces that courses ranging from the beginnings of music to the presenting of choral music is a series of festival concerts will be given in this year's summer session at Columbia University. Professor Rossetter G. Cole will be departmental representative in general charge of the courses, which begin July 6.

The basis for an intelligent appreciation of musical compositions from the standpoint of the listener will be studied in a course treating with the history of the art of music and of music as an element of liberal culture. Professor Cole will give his course, for which no previous knowledge of music is required.

Courses in elementary harmony, advanced harmony and musical form, elementary orchestration and vocal training will also be given. Lessons in vocal training which will include natural breathing adapted to the functions of the vocal apparatus, rules for the natural production and development of vocal sounds and their qualifications for tonal effects, co-ordination of the speaking action to the function of the sounding and resounding organs and practical suggestions for expression through music sentiment will be taught by Signor Luigi Parisotti.

Individual work in voice placing and song interpretation will be studied in a course by R. Norman Jolliffe, instructor in music at Teachers College. The direction of school demonstrations in the teaching of school music and the use of the talking machine, sight singing and melodic dictation, the conducting of school music and school orchestra arrangement.

Courses in piano technique and interpretation will be taught advanced students of the piano by May Josephine Wiethan, lecturer in music at Columbia.

The Summer Session Chorus, to which all students interested in choral music may belong, will give three festival concerts during the summer session. Walter Henry Hall, professor of church and choral music at Columbia will conduct the chorus.

Beginning of Presbyterianism in the West

The beginning of Presbyterianism in the West was dealt with by Dr. D. G. McQueen in an historical address on Sunday morning, June 27th, the thirty-third anniversary of his arrival in Edmonton. A synopsis of his sermon on that date follows:

Rev. Dr. D. G. McQueen

A request was sent out from Edmonton in 1880 for a missionary; and the home missionary committee in Toronto turned that request over to the Methodist church board in Toronto, as they had services here. The Presbyterians in Edmonton wanted supply of their own faith. Disappointed in their first request, they sent another request, and wished to know how long the Presbyterian Church was going to neglect them. The Rev. Mr. Duncan was appointed, but he failed to come; and the Rev. A. B. Baird, who was then taking post graduate work in Germany, after a course in Edinburgh, was appointed. He accepted the appointment, and started out from Winnipeg with a horse and buckboard and camping outfit. He reached Edmonton on October 29th, 1881. A meeting of the people was called for November 3rd, and a congregation organized. The first service was held on the 6th of November in the then vacant Methodist church. A committee was appointed to secure a permanent place of worship, they reported in favor of accepting the offer of the Methodist church for services. But the congregation declined the offer, and secured the use of Bannerman's hall on Jasper avenue, a building which still stands, opposite Fraser avenue.

Work Started on Church

In February of 1882, at a meeting of the congregation, it was decided to proceed with the erection of a church building on the site donated to them by the Hudson's Bay company, on the corner of 104th street and 99th avenue, where the present manse stands. This church was opened on the 5th of November, 1882, and continued to be the place of worship until the 30th of July, 1902, when the new church building on the south-west corner of Jasper avenue and 103rd street was opened. Here they continued to worship until March of 1912, when they entered the present church building on 105th street, which was formally opened on the second day of June, the Sunday immediately preceding the meeting of the general assembly in First Church that year. The late Dr. J. C. Herdman opened the church on the corner of Jasper and 103rd street; the present church was opened by Dr. G. M. Milligan, of Toronto. The corner stone of the church on 103rd street was laid by the late Dr. Robertson, and he would have opened the church, but died before the opening in January, 1902.

The sermons at the opening of the present church were preached by the Rev. Dr. Milligan, of Toronto, and the dedication of the church was by the Rev. Dr. Baird, of Winnipeg.

Charter Members of Congregation

At the first communion service in November of 1881, the following became the charter members of the congregation: Mrs. Philip Heimick, Mrs. Alfred Hutchings, Mrs. J. Goodridge, Mrs. Thos. Henderson, Mrs. Allan Omand, Mr. Hugh McKay, Mr. D. S. McKay, Mr. James Petrie, Mr. George A. Blake.

The membership at the beginning of this year 1920 was 923.

Edmonton had been in five successive Presbyteries: Manitoba, Portage la Prairie, Brandon, Regina and Calgary.

Dr. McQueen was ordained in the Presbyterian church at Q'Appelle on his way west, by the Presbytery of Regina, on the 21st day of June, 1887, the late Queen Victoria's Jubilee. He left Calgary on the 23rd of June, by stage, reaching Edmonton on Monday afternoon, the 27th day of June. On that afternoon he got his first glimpse of Edmonton, which consisted of a few scattered houses nestling among the trees on the north bank of the Saskatchewan. This first view was obtained from Mr. MacDonald's hill, where the Calgary and Edmonton trail struck down into the valley. He was met on the arrival of the stage on the north side by the Rev. Mr. Baird, with horse and buckboard, and was immediately driven to his residence on Cliff street, in the east end of the city, where they "batched" together until Mr. Baird departed for Winnipeg on the 10th of August that same year. Mr. Baird had been appointed lecturer in Manitoba College, and in charge of what was then the St. Augustine Mission in Fort Rouge, now St. Augustine's church.

The first elders of First Church, Edmonton, elected in April, 1887, were the late Alex Taylor, the late W. Johnstone Walker and James Johnstone.

Dr. McQueen in Full Charge.

Mr. Baird's departure left Mr. McQueen in full charge of the work, receiving the appointment of Protestant public school inspector in place of Mr. Baird resigned, which office he held until the amendment of the school ordinance demanded the whole time of the inspector.

The points at which services were held in those days were Edmonton, Fort Saskatchewan, Belmont, Sturgeon River and Clover Bar, to which were added later Poplar Lake and South Edmonton, the river being crossed by ferries, of which there were three, one at John Walter's, one at D. R. Fraser's mill and the other at Fort Saskatchewan. Occasionally the river could be forded about where the high level bridge now stands, and also at Fort Saskatchewan.

Occasional service was held at Red Deer on trips to and from Calgary, attending half-yearly Presbytery meeting. Attending Presbytery was very costly, one meeting at Medicine Hat costing $51.00, which heavy expense led to the pooling of the expenses of those attending Presbytery meetings.

To Edmonton by Buckboard

In 1890 Mr. McQueen went east to be married, which event happened on the 23rd of September. Dr. Robertson said this was the best day's work Mr. McQueen had ever done. Part of the honeymoon trip was driving from Calgary, the nearest railway point on the C.P.R., then the only transcontinental line, to Edmonton by buckboard.

As the work grew, students were got in to assist in the summer time. But in the winter the work had to be cared for by Mr. McQueen, the missionary, in Edmonton, driving out and giving these outside places a monthly afternoon service.

Dr. McQueen in those early days used to sit at the door of his shack and look away to the east across the valley of the Saskatchewan, over the Beaver Hills, and wonder if he would ever see the country settled up. Now two additional transcontinental railway lines, with intersecting branch lines in all directions, have opened up the country and give indication of how the country has progressed.

When Edmonton Was Tent Town

The late Rev. Angus Robertson followed the construction of the C.P.R., and located in Calgary when it was nothing but a tent town. He was succeeded by the late Dr. James C. Herdman, who came out in the fall of 1885. The late Charles McKillop came out in 1886 and located as the first Presbyterian missionary in Lethbridge. Then Dr. McQueen came in 1887. These three were known as the sentinel guards of the mountain passes, the Crows Nest, the Kicking Horse and the Yellowhead and the great lone land to the north passes, Edmonton being the gateway to the north as well as the gateway to the Yellowhead Pass.

When one thinks of the small beginnings of things in church life and work in this great land, and the development that has taken place, he is led to say with the prophet Zechariah, "Who hath despised the day of small things?" and also "Surely goodness and mercy have followed us all the days of our life."

If Strength Declines
As Age Advances
Follow this Suggestion

So many women grow old before their time, perhaps your wife or sister. A little while ago, buoyant, full of vigor and activity—she enjoyed life and imparted pleasure to the whole family; but now in a few short years she has faded and lost color and strength. She is just ready to develop some disease that will further weaken and debilitate. You remember how it began, failure of appetite, tired in the morning, found housework burdensome always nervous and a little irritable. It's a shame to let her go down hill further when you can build her up so quickly with Ferrozone. The change this nourishing tonic makes in a weak woman is surprising. It gives great zest for food, increases appetite and digestion enormously. The blood gets richer and stronger, and adds new life to every organ in the body. A rebuilding process works through the entire system. The first week will show an improvement, and a month or two will fatten up the thinnest, most run-down woman you can think of. Take Ferrozone for lost color, for nervousness, for weakness,—use it when run-down and feeling poorly—it will do you more lasting good, keep you in better health, than anything else. Just as good for men and children, too, because Ferrozone is harmless and safe, 50c per box or six for $2.50, at all dealers, or direct by mail from the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

In the shootoff of 275 marksmen for seven places in the final stages of the King's prize competition, Private Robert Edmund, Toronto, was 268th and Company-Sergeant-Major Goodhouse was 275th.

The shoot-off for additional places for the second stage of the St George's found the Canadians placed as follows: Private Edmund, 103rd; Captain Vincent, 119th; Private Irvine, 142nd; Lieutenant Skinner, 144th, and Captain Crowe, 146th.

OPTIONAL ROUTE PLAN ADOPTED ON GOVT. LINES

Passengers May Travel on Either the C. N. R. or the G. T. P. West of Winnipeg

The Canadian National Railways and Grand Trunk Pacific announce improved passenger facilities of these two systems, whereby passengers holding transportation over either of these lines may havve the privilege of using optional routes between Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon and Edmonton. These arrangements are reciprocal inasmuch as passengers leaving Winnipeg holding tickets over the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway destined to Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton or beyond, may have their tickets honored on Canadian National trains, or vice versa, for all or a portion of the route via the above junctional points.

Additional facilities are also being provided in the way of standard and tourist sleeping cars to meet these changed conditions.

Shift in Staff of Two National Systems Will Not Displace Men Asserts Minister of Railways

Hon. J. D. Reid Indicates Many Changes Proposed in the Amalgamation of Canadian National and G. T. P., But Says 22,000 Miles of Line Requires All the Present Employees—Need Foreign Labor for Construction.

Winnipeg, July 16—Announcement of the first physical sign in Winnipeg of the amalgamation of the Canadian National railways and the Grand Trunk Pacific system was made Friday. From this evening the freight terminals and transfer companies of the two systems will be consolidated directly under the jurisdiction of General Agent A. W. Warner. It was stated unofficially that the down-town ticket offices of the systems would be consolidated from August 1.

Winnipeg, July 16—Shifting in personnel through the re-organization and amalgamation of the Canadian National railways, the Grand Trunk and the Grand Trunk Pacific was indicated by Hon. J. D. Reid, minister of railways and canals, who arrived in Winnipeg Friday. Mr. Reid further indicated that the amalgamation would not interfere with the superannuation rights of any of the men on the two systems. He discussed construction for higher railroad freight rates.

"It is impossible for me to go into details of amalgamation," said Mr. Reid. "I have not seen Mr. Hanna, nor have I been over the western lines I have no report of the situation on which to base any statement of the solution of the problems which would confront us.

"So it would be impossible for me to talk of actual changes in personnel or any details of that sort. However, in 22,000 miles of railway, with hundreds of more miles being built, there is going to be no difficulty whatever in taking care of the men now with both systems."

In discussing the opening up of new territory, Mr. Reid said:

"We are building lines now and there are more lines to be built. Much construction was halted by the war. Construction now is difficult, because of high costs and the scarcity of labor. But I do not really think that is going to handicap us for long.

"There has been talk of men from the farms being used for railroad construction work. It cannot be done. It takes foreign labor, used to that sort of work to handle rails and make roadbeds. It will not be long, I am sure, before we will see in Canada enough foreign labor, of the kind that railroad construction work must use, to make rapid strides in railroad work."

MAYOR CHURCH TO DEFY REPORT OF GOVT. COMMISSION

Declares He Will Treat Any Finding "With Contempt"

Toronto, July 16—Mayor T. L. Church said Thursday that if the royal commission appointed by the Ontario government to investigate and report on the projected hydro-electric radial railways, did make a report, he would drop it in the wastepaper basket and treat it with contempt.

"The hydro radial association will ignore the commission altogether," declared the mayor, and he added that the association would not give the commission any satisfaction on radial matters.

The mayor did not say that he was speaking for the association, however.

DELICATE POINT OF LAW HINGES ON COURT CASE

Where Does "Premises" Begin and End in One-Room Division

Can a person run a temperance bar and a cigar stand in the same room and employ female help to serve the smokes without being liable to punishment for an infraction of city bylaw 25, is the question which Magistrate Emily Murphy is called upon to give judgment in the women's police court.

The defendant in the action, Mrs. Helen Domroy, keeper of the Rex temperance bar on First street, is charged with a violation of the bylaw 25 in that she illegally employs female help in such a place for purposes other than scrubbing and cleaning. This is the first case of its kind to come up for decision and it is being watched with a great deal of interest by the temperance women of the city, who were instrumental in getting the bylaw passed for the protection of young women.

The defendant admits having employed Myrtle Jean Brodsky but states that her services are required only for the cigar stand, which, by the way, is housed in the same room as the soft drink parlor, and that the girl is not asked to serve drinks to patrons of the bar. The police making the investigation, however, claim that they caught the girl in the act of coming out of a stall with two empty glasses which she took behind the bar and the stall from which she came was occupied by a customer who admitted the use of the beverages.

The legal point, raised by W. W. Wells, lawyer for the defence, is that while the accused carried on the business of cigar stand and temperance bar in the same room, they are not on the same premises as there are distinct licenses taken out for each.

The case as far as the evidence and the argument goes, was completed before Mrs. Murphy, who now has the matter under consideration and has promised to hand down judgment Saturday morning.

GERMANS AGREE ON PRINCIPLES, BUT ASK TERMS

Begin Session With the Allied Ministers on Coal Delivery Problem

ASK EXPLANATION

Expected to Ask Modification of Certain Provisions of the Ultimatum

Spa, July 16—(Associated Press)—The German delegates at the conference here have agreed in principle with the terms submitted to them by the allies, as to eGrmany's deliveries of coal, but will ask for the explanation of certain articles in the allied note. They made this announcement just before entering into conference with the allied ministers here Friday afternoon.

Ask Modification

Spa, July, 16—The German delegation at the conference here sent word to the supreme council Friday morning that the German reply to the allied ultimatum on coal deliveries would not be ready before four o'clock Friday afternoon. The Germans are expected to ask modification of the terms of the protocol.

The reply was due at 11 o'clock Friday morning.

From what could be learned during the morning the thing that was standing in the way of acceptance by the Germans of the allied terms, was the clause providing for occupation of the Ruhr valley unless the coal deliveries reached a total of six million tons by October 15.

Dr. Walter Simons, the German foreign minister told his colleagues when they met to confer over the allied conditions, that this subject had not been mentioned during his conversation with Premiers Lloyd George and Millerand Thursday when a verbal agreement was virtually reached. The Germans, it appears, were greatly annoyed to find it in the text of the terms handed them in the note of Thursday night.

MANITOBA'S NEW STATE BUILDING DECLARED OPEN

Lt.-Gov. Aikins Formally Swings Doors Open With Impressive Ceremony

Winnipeg, July 16—With impressive ceremony, Manitoba's new parliament buildings were formally declared opened by Sir James Aikins, lieutenant-governor of the province, yesterday at 3 o'clock. Premier Norris then gave the freedom of the buildings to the citizens for the day, which was observed as the 50th anniversary of the province's birth. Thousands of people attended for the formal opening.

Premier Norris read a telegram from the Duke of Devonshire, governor-general of Canada, in which he expressed most cordial congratulations on the 50th anniversary of the province.

Big Increase in Construction For Present Year Shows General Prosperity of City on Up Grade

Building Inspector Reports More Permits Issued for the First Six Months Than During the Whole of Last Year—More Buildings of Commercial Class Now Under Way.

Construction under way this year and that which has already been done, amounts in value to $3,000,000 says Building Inspector McIvor in his report for the six months of the year up to June 30.

He comments upon the fact that the general growth and prosperity of the city is indicated by the permits taken out, a number of these being for large warehouses, factories and garages

There has been a decided advance in the number of buildings and improvements undertaken this year, states the building inspector, and so far the number of applications for permits far exceed in value the whole of the permits taken out last year.

Up to the end of June the total value of permits issued was $1,940,850 while for the corresponding period of last year it was $435,060.

The classification is as follows: Dwellings, $102,400; garages, $60,000; stores and offices, $493,600; warehouses, $534,000; additions and alterations, $95,850; factories, $240,000; public buildings, $416,000.

The permits were issued during the different months as follows: January, $2,650; February, $149,100; March, $600,650; April, $218,300; May, $426,675; June, $544,675.

MIDNIGHT VISITORS

By Adeline McGilvery

"Of course I'm not afraid," said Susie. "I'd much rather stay home than go over to the Chapmans. I'll have a fine time all by my lonesome.

"There's nothing that could possibly harm you," Mrs. Byrne replied, "but somehow I feel that you oughtn't to stay in the house alone all night."

"Oh now Mummy!" cried Susie, "don't go and worry about me. I'll lock up tight and won't open the door for anybody unless I see the person's paw first."

"Well, 'phone us if you get scared," her mother requested, "you know the number."

Rather reluctantly and with many an anxious look behind Mrs. Byrne drove off with Papa Byrne, leaving Susie in the doorway waving her hand. The glow from the late afternoon sun fell on the girl's fair curls which framed her sweet and happy face. The mother was almost tempted to turn back before they had reached the corner.

"I musn't be silly and make a baby of her," she thought, as the car sped along. "Susie has a lot of horse sense."

And Susie bustling around the empty house sang to keep herself company, thinking: "Mummy's a peach but it strikes me as rather queer that she should worry about me—at my age—as if I were a baby!"

She locked the house up tighter than it had ever been locked before, seemed to her, but when she came at last to the kitchen door and put out her head no Tabby was waiting there. Now Tabby was her special pet and she never let him stay out at night "to associate with rough cats."

"Here Tabby, Tabby, Tab, Tab, Tab, Tab, Byta, Byta, Bytab!" she called, looking sharply at the grass and along the dark hedge. But there came no answering mew or light rush of soft feet. The little mistress called and called until her tongue got twisted, then she went in and got a fork and plate and made a noise like beating eggs which usually fetched the greedy Tabby, who believed in being on hand when there was any cooking going on. But even this strategy failed.

It was growing dark and Susie finally had to lock the back door and go up to bed.

"Of course, I have to have air," she said, after locking up the other bedroom windows. "I guess I'll keep this window open for Tabby."

There was a trellis for the rose vine just by the window on which puss was wont to ascend and descend as it was an easy bounce to the wnidow.

Susie's nerves were good and she was sleepy so it was not more than a minute after her head had touched the pillow before she was sound asleep. It seemed she had been asleep only a minute when a sound awoke her. For awhile she lay still listening, then suddenly she remembered she was all alone in the house. At the same time the sound that had awakened her came again.

"Tabby!" she called softly.

A muffled sound was the reply.

Susie's heart beat fast. It wasn't Tabby's voice at all! It sounded to Susie's startled ear like a poor imitation of a cat's call. She lay very still her big eyes fixed on the window. Suppose it was a burglar! Or a wild animal—perhaps a tiger escaped from a zoo!

Tabby's tread was as light as "blown petals on the grass," but now the trellis was creaking and swaying and crashing. As the sound came near, she jumped quietly from her bed but just then something bounced into the window and she recognized her pet. He had something in his mouth.

Her fingers groped along the wall and in another second she had pressed the electric button and the room was full of light. There on the rug stood Tabby with a large grayish-brown object in his mouth. Susie came and looked close. It was a small screech owl. It lay quite still with closed eyes.

"Poor owlie!" cried the compassionate Susie. "Naughty Tabby see what you've done—killed a nice, little owl! Oh, well! he's dead now and out of misery. My what pretty feathers! Come to think of it, they'd look rather classy on my brown hat. Here. Tabby, good kitty, give me the little owwlie. That's right. Nice pussy, brought Susie a pretty present, didn't he? Tomorrow—you wait now! there'll be a nice bi tof chicken for somebody, see if there isn't!"

She took up the owl and smoothed the crumpled feathears—they were very pretty and promised to make quite a millinery triumph out of the old brown hat. Susie carried it to her dresser intending to lay it in one of the drawers so Tabby, who might turn Indian giver, could be free from temptation.

Just as she was about to put it down, the bundle of feathers came alive in a flash—oh, terribly alive! The eyes opened wide, the wings spread out and the little curved beak struck wildly at Susie's breast and fastened itself in the front of her night dress.

There On The Rug Stood Tabby With A Large Grayish Brown Object In His Mouth

Well, this was a little too much for Susie! She could face burglars and wild animals with coolness—so she said—but a dead owl suddenly coming to life in that horrid way, like a jack-in-the-box, and sticking itself to the front of one's gown was too much. The owl must have felt at home for the next few minutes, as it was a screech owl and if anyybody ever did screech and scream Susie was that one.

In fact, she was still at it and doing a wild fandango on the rug—a performance which caused Tabby to have grave misgivings about his mistresses sanity—when in rushed Mr. and Mrs. Byrnes.

"What—what is it!" cried the frantic Mother, seizing her daughter in her arms.

Something wriggly and scratchy and flappy snatched hold of the ruff under Mrs. Byrnes' chin and held on.

"T—t—take it away!" gasped the startled lady, "Help, help!"

Papa Byrne knocked off Mr. Owl, who fluttered aimlessly around the room looking rather as if he were defying anybody to put him on a brown hat, while Tabby, afraid to venture from his retreat under the dresser, looked on with switching whiskers.

"I worried so about you, Susie dear," explained Mrs. Byrne, "I made Father bring me home. Grandma is much better anyway and I thought something might scare you."

And Susie, laughing and quaking, hid her face in her mother's shoulder quite willing to be babied.

"There he goes!" cried Mr. Byrne, as the owl flapped clumsily out into the night, leaving a happy family and an indignant cat behind.

GARDEN HINTS

Don't kill the toad! Don't stone the frog!
Don't prod the wiggling pollywog!
The gardener has no better friend
His plants and labor to defend.
No spray nor poison powder flung
Can beat the toad's industrious tongue.
From leaf and stalk he nightly takes Big crops not raised with hoes and rakes
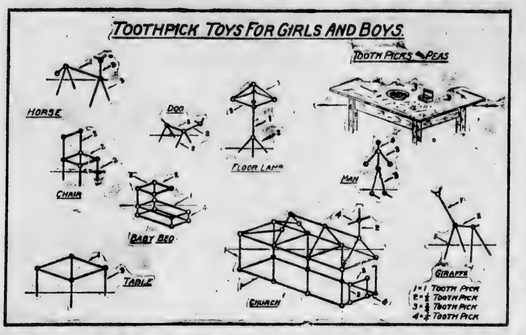
Of bugs and every crawling thing
That sorrow to the gardener bring.

TOYS AND USEFUL ARTICLES THAT A BOY CAN MAKE.

BY FRANK I. SOLAR.

INSTRUCTOR, DEPT OF MANUAL TRAINING, PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF DETROIT.



Making toothpick toys is great sport for little folks, but they will not be the only ones to enjoy the fun. After the first few models are made the whole family will want to try their hand, at building, because the work is so easy and interesting.

The material for making these toys and other articles is easy to obtain. A box of cheap toothpicks and a cup full of dried green peas is all that is necessary.

Prepare for the fun by placing the peas in a bowl, cover with cold water and let them soak from eight to ten hours. A little experience will determine the length of time for soaking. The peas should not be so hard that they will split open when the toothpicks are pushed into them, neither should they be so soft that the skin will peal off.

Thin flat toothpicks are better than the larger round peas. A pen knife can be used to sharpen the ends of the toothpicks, also to cut them in different lengths. Cut and sharpen a number of toothpicks in three-quarter lengths. Often it is convenient to thread a pea to the center of a tothpick. For this purpose whittle the toothpick as thin as possible, but not so thin that it wwill break.

It is best to begin withasimplearticle—atable, for instance. Select four whole and four threequarter length tothpicks and four peas. Make the top first and then stick the legs in place. A table in the lower right-hand corner of the cut will explain what the different figures on the drawing refer to.

Now for the chair. It is made similar to the table—only one-half lengths are used, and three extra toothpicks and two peas make the back.

Try the giraffe next. It will be very simple because you can tell wwhat length toothpick to use by referring to the table in the corner. The ears and tail are the only new parts needed and they are just little short pieces of toothpicks.

Make the dog and horse according to the numbers on the drawing. These are different from the giraffe, only in the length of toothpicks and the horse has a pea stuck on the end of his tail. After the peas have dried for a few hours, a nose, mouth and eyes can be put on with ink.

Now make the baby bed, man and floor lamp and after this practice you will be ready to try the church. If you think you are expert enough windows may also be added.

By this time you will have ideas of your own and want to build houses, circus tents and many other things. You can make carts and wagons by cutting the wheels from paper. Thousands of things can be made and many original ideas will come to anyone after a little work with the toothpicks and peas.

The next rainy day or some time when a party of little friends come to visit you, try to entertain them with toothpicks and peas and you will be surprised what a good time they will have.

Do not leave the peas in water too long or they will sour and sprout. When you are through playing, pour off the water and throw on a cloth to dry.

"This poor fellow is in a terrible condition," said the visitor. "Yes," replied the asylum attendant, "He's the most violent patient we have in this ward." "What caused him to lose his mind?" "He tried to figure out some way to harness the energy that was going to waste in tango parlors."

The Junior Cook

Lettuce Salad

Pull fresh lettuce from the garden using the leaves that are too crowded wherever possible and clearing out the row so that head may develop.

Wash carefully in two waters.

Pick over and remove all leaves that are not pretty and tempting looking.

Wash again.

Wrap in a damp cloth and lay in a cool place for at least one hour—longer is better.

Arrange on plates with the stems of the leaves toward the centre. A salad should be good to look at as well as good to taste.

In the centre, over the stem ends, put one slice of hard-boiled egg, or a few slices of beets, or a few slices of carrots, or, if a fruit salad is wanted, a quarter of a banana cut into strips.

Put in a cup the juice of one lemon or two tablespoonsful of vinegar, three tablespoonsful of vegetable oil, one-half teaspoonful salt and one-quarter teaspoonful of paprika.

Mix well with a teaspoon and pour over the salad.

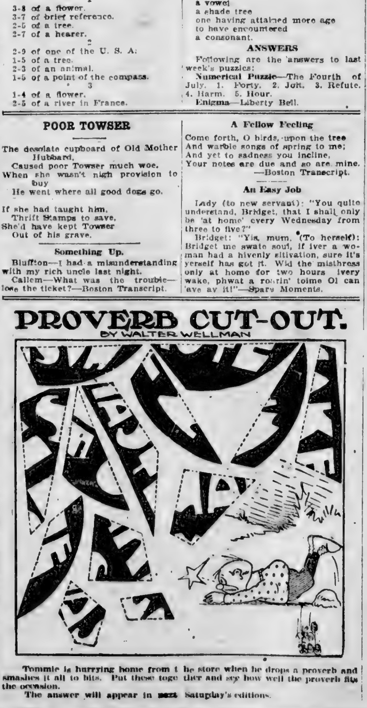
Serve at once with salt wafers.

This serves four or five persons.

Of course, "store" lettuce makes good salad too but nothing is quite as good as that which comes from your own garden.

PROVERB CUT-OUT.

BY WALTER WELLMAN



Tommie is hurrying home from the store when he drops a proverb and smashes it all to bits. Put these together and see how well the proverb fits the occasion.

The answer will appear in next Saturday's editions.

Blowing Bubbles Without a Pipe

It was a rainy day and James stood beside the window scowling at the clouds that covered the sky.

"Come and play school," suggested Belle, who sat on the nursery floor surrounded by a large family of dolls.

"Aw, that isn't any fun," pouted James, "if it would only stop raining then we could go outside and play. I just feel like a good game of ball."

"I wish it would stop raining," said Belle, "then maybe there'd be a rainbow and that would be pretty."

Mother, who had been listening quietly to the children's chatter, put down her sewing and crossed to the window beside James. "Maybe we can satisfy both of you," she said. "Balls and rainbows can both be found indoors even when the ground outside is wet and the sky is gray. First, I must see smiles instead of frowns or the rainbow won't give us any joy at all."

"How can you make a rainbow in the house?" asked Belle.

"I know that," cried James, "Just look through a glass prism, and then you can see all the rainbow colors on the wall. That's easy and it's not so awful much fun, either."

"No rainbow or anything else for that matter is fun," said Mother, "when you think about it in such a way. But my rainbow is not a prism made one. If you would like to we would make a bubble rainbow."

"Oh, that would be fun," cried Belle.

"But how can we do that?" asked James, "I broke my bubble pipe the other day and have not had a chance to buy a new one."

"There is always a way when you want to find one. If you will pack up your grumps and try to smile, I will let you mix the soap water. Belle, you put away the doll children and clear off the toy table and when everything is ready call me and I will show you how to blow bubbles without a pipe." And mother, looking very mysterious walked out of the room.

In a few minutes two smiling and eager children called mother back into the nursery. They looked expectantly to see what she would bring with which they could blow bubbles, and were a trifle disappointed to see that she carried nothing but her sewing and her spool box. Seeing their crest-fallen faces, she opened the box and took out two empty spools from which the paper at either end had been torn. "These are fairy pipes," she said, "dip one end into the bowl of soap suds and blow through the hole in the other end and see what happens."

Into the bowls were dipped the spools and then how the children did blow. No pouts nor frowns could remain on those puffed out cheeks. They had to stop their blowing to laugh at each other. At first the wooden spool absorbed the water and no bubbles came; but all of a sudden from the end of Belle's little spool came a beautiful rainbowy bubble. "See," she cried, "I have one!"

"Me, too," puffed James as his big bubble flew up into the air and bounced dangerously against the ceiling.

"I think spool soap bubbles are lots of fun, don't you, James?" asked Belle. But James was having too good a time to answer such a foolish question.

Of course blowing bubbles is fun, and blowing them through a spool is just twice as much fun as any other way. In the first place, you do have to put on rubbers and rainc and carry an umbrella down to corner in all the wet to buy a pipe the little store. Every household bors spools, and a spool soap bub party can be arranged in less ti than it takes to tell. Try it for you self and see. But be careful—be su you blow the bubble out of the spo and not into it. The spool is not long as the stem of a pipe and eve little intake of breath will give you mouthful of soap suds and you kno that is no ta very pleasant sensatio Once you have produced a bubble an tried this method you will immediately become so expert a bubble make that you will never want to blow bubbles in any other way.

As one big monster bubble bursts o the tip of Belle's nose, she put dow her spool and cuddled up beside he mother. "What makes the bubbles mother?" she asked.

"The soap suds, of course," sai James.

"But how?" persisted Belle, "an how do all the colors and picture come in them?" Even James could not answer that, and when he saw tha mother was getting ready to explain the mystery of the bubble to his little sister, he put down his spool and prepared to listen.

"The soap suds hold the particles of the water together and give substance to the fluid, but that alone is not sufficient to give us the beautiful bubbles that you have seen floating about the room today. When you blow your breath into the spool, it creeps in under the film of soap and water and inflates it or makes it swell. The more you blow the more air gets into the film covering and the bigger grows your bubble. But the film of soap water is very thin and when you blow more air into it than it is strong enough to hold, why then—you know what happens."

"The bubble bursts," said James.

"Exactly," answered the mother, "and then all your blowing and puffing is for nothing."

"But what makes the colors and pictures that we see in the bubble?" asked Belle.

"The soap makes the water even more of a reflecting surface than it ordinarily is, and as the light is caught and reflected by the rounded surface of the bubble it throws off the various colors that we see. The bubble is like that rainbow in that no two persons ever see just the same colors or pictures in it at the same time, because no two persons' eyes are ever at exactly the same spot at the same moment and the reflections and refractions of light in the bubble ar changing constantly. The pictures ar also reflections of the various object that are within the neighborhood o the bubble."

"Now I know why you said w could have a rainbow in the house. I is because of the colors reflected b the bubble, isn't it?" asked James.

"And we really did play ball," added Belle, "for the bubbles bounce around just as much as any reall truly balls could have done."

"ME, too," cried James as his big bubble flew up into the air.

KINDNESS HONOR COURTESY LOYALTY OBEDIENCE

Dear Boys and Girls.—After all, you will have to wait until next letter to learn what I have to tell you about the new wplan for the Corner. However, I think I can promise you that it is worth waiting for.

By the way, how many of you are preparing bird houses to keep the winter birds during the cold weather? If you can attract some of the little creatures to one of these shelters and watch them flying about you will have entertainment during the colder days.

Birds, you know, are of great value to the farmer, in keeping down the insects that otherwise would feed on his crop and garden stuff, so by attracting them to your boxes you are helping yourselves too.—UNCLE TOM.

TODAY'S WEED
(Hare's Ear Mustard.)

This plant, which grows from one to three feet high, is smooth, and when young, covered with bloom like a cabbage. The leaves in shape resemple a hare's ear, and clasp the stem. The flowers are creamy-white, and about a quarter of an inch across. The plant flowers in June and July and the seeds ripen during August and September. It is found all over the province, especially in the Foothills. As soon as noticed these plants should be hand-pulled and destroyed, as if they get much headway, summer-fallowing will be needed.

WOLFHOUNDS

Throughout northern regions there are several breeds of semi-domesticated dogs that are wolf-like, with erect ears, and long, woolly hair. The Eskimo dog has small, erect ears, straight bushy tail, moderately sharp muzzle, and a tough coat, differing slightly as to color. Like the wolf it does not bark. It is a good hunter, cunning and enduring, but is so rapacious that it is impossible to train him not to attack sheep and other small domesticated animals.

The Irish Wolfhound was a large and rugged hound of grey-hound form, and was known to the Romans, and an Irish King, in the tenth century gave a celebrated one to Jarl Gunmar ,of Norway. They are still to be found in Ireland, though greatly reduced in stock.

The Highland Deerhound, another celebrated breed, was a close relation of the Irish Wolfhound, if they were not two strains of the identical breed, altered by circumstances and envvironment. They, too, were known far back in history, and figure in ancient legends. The Scottish heroes, Wallace and Bruce in their wanderings often were chased by these dogs.

The Russian Wolfhound, or Borzoi, is the most graceful and elegant of these breeds, with a beautiful silky coat, and a long head. He is a very "spectacular" dog, and a capital house dog. Queen Alexandra owned two famous dogs of this breed, which were given to her by the late Czar.

I must tell you that the Egyptians named a certain star the Dog Star, because it notified them of the coming rise of the Nile. As soon as it was seen above the horizon they immediately removed their flocks to higher ground, for as the rise of the Nile meant a good harvest, and as the dog was regarded as a protector, this star was hailed as their protector and guard. It was only in later days that it came to be regarded as a sign of insufferable heat and prevalent disease.

GAMES THAT OTHER CHILDREN PLAY
(Corner Spry.)

This game is good if there are ten or twelve players. The players are divided into four groups, stationed in each corner, and called North, South, East and West.

Four captains stand in the centre, each with a bean-bag, or ball, and facing his corner of players, who stand in a row. The captain throws the bean-bg to ech plyer in turn in his group, who throws it back at once to the captain, and so on until the last player is reached. As the captain throws to the last player, he calls "Corner Spry!" and runs to the head of the row, the last player becoming captain. The group that succeeds in having all of its players in the captain's place, first, wins the game.

Uncle Tom's Mail Bag

(A Cat Called Jeff)

Dear Uncle Tom,—I would like to join your Club. I am seven years old, and go to school every day. I am in Grade 1. I have one sister older than myself. I have twelve sheep, six big ones, and six lambs. I have a cat, too. I call it Jeff. I would like to get a badge.—Johnny Holmberg.

Hay Lake, Alberta, July 9, 1920.

Do you get much wool from your sheep, Johnny, and a good price for it? Does your sister belong to the Club too?—Uncle Tom.

Passed His Examination

Dear Uncle Tom,—I am very glad that school has closed for a month or two. I passed in my examinations and now am in Grade 7. I hope we get a good teacher after vacation.

I am sorry to say that I have lost my badge. Please send me another one.—Bertil Anderson.

Meeting Creek, Alta., July 8, 1920.

I am sorry that you have lost your badge, Bertil, as you only had it since the middle of June. Perhaps it will turn up if you have a good hunt. The only members who have been sent new badges are those who were members before I went away, and lost them while the club was having vacation. However, I shall keep your name on the list, and if you have not found your badge by August 15, write to me again then, and I shall send you another one. You will still, of course, be a member, even though you haven't the badge just now, and perhaps it has only been mislaid, and you will find it before the month is up. If not, write again then and tell me and I shall send you one to replace it.—Uncle Tom.

Dear Uncle Tom,—I would like to join the club, too. I am 10 years old, and in Grade 4. My teacher, Miss Somers, is leaving us, and I am very sorry. I have seven brothers. We are having summer holidays, and are kept busy weeding the garden. It has been good growing weather for the last week, and the crops are looking fine. We have 13 little goslings, and 18 little chicks. We held our annual picnic last Friday, and had a lovely day. I think everybody enjoyed it. I should like to have a badge, and wish the club every success.—Jean Comisky.

Vegreville, Alta., July 6, 1920.

You write a very pretty hand for your age, Jean, and I hope you will write often. What a busy little girl you are, and what a fine time you must have, with all those brothers to take care of you. You are a lucky little girl I think.—Uncle Tom.

Passed to Grade 6

Dear Uncle Tom,—I have seen so many interesting letters that I would like to join, too. I stayed from school three weeks and helped my father put in the crop. I passed into Grade 6 yesterday. I am 13 years old. My birthday is in May. I have four brothers. I had a sister, but she died two years ago, and one of my brothers died of flu. They both died in October. I hope everybody will have a good time when their holidays come. —Olaf Jordan.

So do I, Olaf. One feels like working the rest of the year after a good holiday. I am sorry you lost your sister and brother. I would be very lonely for you all. I am glad you like the Corner.—Uncle Tom.

IN PASTURES GREEN

Durham, N. C., July 16—John King, a farmer living near this city, Thursday night found two of his cows lying on the ground of their pasture in a stupor, apparently suffering from some strange malady. A veterinarian was called and after lengthy examination pronounced both animals as merely "beastly" drunk. A search for the cause led to the discovery of a big "moonshine" still in a secluded corner of the pasture. The cows had eaten a quantity of the mash used by the illicit whiskey manufacturers.

PROFESSOR WHO SAYS HIS ROCKET CAN HIT THE MOON AFTER FOUR DAYS' FLIGHT

PROF. R. H. GODDARD.

The moon is only four days away. That is the claim of Professor Robert H. Goddard of Clark University, Worcester, Mass., who says he has invented a multiple high charge efficiency rocket. If his theory is carried to its extreme the rocket would be capable of covering the 220,000 miles between the earth and the moon in a little more than ninety-six hours.

RIVAL FORCES OF BOOTLEGGERS IN STREET GUN FIGHT

The Battle Takes Place in Daylight in a Staid Ontario Town

Amherstburg, Ont., July 16—For the second time in the course of a few weeks, Amherstburg Thursday was the scene of a gun fight between rival forces of bootleggers, with the difference that while the first took place on the banks of the river in darkness, this latest fight was in the town during daylight and lasted for about two hours. There was no police interference till two provincial officers arrived from Windsor. Several men are reported to have been injured, and four are under arrest at the county jail, but the authorities refuse to give their names.

SASK. UNION OF MUNICIPALITIES ELECTS OFFICERS

MOOSE JAW, July 15.—Following an address which had as its keynote an outstanding pride in Saskatchewan and a belief in the great future and importance of the dominion in the nations of the British Empire from Hon. George Langley, minister of municipal affairs, the delegates to the fifteenth annual convention of the Union of Saskatchewan municipalities which has been in conference here for the last two days, closed an active day just before midnight.

For the head of its organization for the coming year, L. A. Thornton, city commissioner of Regina, was unanimously chosen by the delegates today. Other officers were elected as follows:

Executive committee, cities, Mayor Grassick, Regina; City Clerk Leslie, Saskatoon; Alderman Joph, Swift Current; Mr. Dixon, North Battleford; Commissioner Mackie, Moose Jaw; Mr. Webb, Prince Albert; Mr. West, Weyburn.

Towns: O. J. Godfrey, Indian Head; F. J. Pilkington, Yorkton; M. T. McDonald; Davidson; W. Hartwell, Rosetown; A. Moore, Outlook.

Villages: W. Stokes, North Regina; F. J. Batute, Perdue; A. J. Kjelbson, Halbrite.

The next convention city will be at Prince Albert. Invitations having been extended by Regina, Saskatoon, Saskatchewan Beach and other places. The representatives of the Union on the local government board is again G. F. Blair, of Regina.

ONLY TABLETS MARKED "BAYER" ARE ASPIRIN

Not Aspirin at All without the "Bayer Cross"

For Colds, Pain, Headache, Neuralgia, Toothache, Earache, and for Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Neuritis, take Aspirin marked with the name "Bayer" or you are not taking Aspirin at all.

Accept only "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" in an unbroken "Bayer" package which contains complete directions. Then you are getting real Aspirin—the genuine Aspirin prescribed by physicians for over nineteen years. Now made in Canada.

Handy tin boxes containing 12 tablets cost but a few cents. Druggists also sell larger "Bayer" packages.

There is only one Aspirin—"Bayer"—You must say "Bayer"

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross."

A WOMAN WHO HELPS WOMEN

I know your need for sympathy and health.

And the treatment that gives me health and strength, new interest in life, I want to pass on to you, that you too, may enjoy the priceless boon of health.

I am a woman.

What I have suffered is a far better guide than any MAN'S experience gained second-hand.

Are you unhappy, unfit for your duties? Write and tell me how you feel and I will send you ten days' FREE trial of a home treatment to meet your individual needs, together with references to women in Canada who have passed through your troubles and regained health; or you can secure this FREE treatment for your daughter, sister or mother.

If you suffer from pain in the head or back, obstinate constipation or piles, pain in the sides, dyspepsia, extreme nervousness, depressed spirits, melancholy, desire to cry, fear of something evil about to happen, creeping feeling up the spine, palpitation, weariness, hot flashes, sallow complexion, with dark circles under the eyes, or a general feeling that life is not worth living, I invite you to send to-day for my complete ten days' treatment entirely free and postpaid to prove to yourself that these ailments can be easily and surely overcome at your own home, without the expense of hospital treatment or the dangers of an operation.

When you have been benefited, I shall only ask you to pass the good word along to some other sufferer. My home treatment is for all, young or old.

Read My FREE Offer!

To Mothers of Daughters I will explain a simple home treatment which speedily and effectually dispels headaches and lassitude in young women and restores them to plumpness and health. Tell me if you are worried about your daughter. Remember it costs you nothing to give my method of home treatment a complete ten days' trial, and if you wish to continue it costs only a few cents a week to do so, and it does not interfere with one's daily work. Write and ask for the free treatment to-day as you may not see this offer again.

Too Much Appetite may be as dangerous as too little

When the skin is sallow or yellow, the eyes dull, the head aches or sleep broken and unrefreshing, the back aches, or there is a pain under the right shoulder blade—it is an indication that the body is being poisonedby poorly digested and imperfectly eliminated food-waste. It is a wise thing to take

Travellers to Hold Annual Picnic at East End Saturday

How many single travelling men are there in the city of Edmonton?" was the query that greatly exercised the minds of the committee in charge of the United Commercial Travellers' picnic being held in the East End Park on Saturday afternoon at 2.30. The question arose when teams were being selected for the baseball match "married" versus "single" travellers, when quite a difficulty was experienced in lining up the required number of bachelors. The prizes for this event alone will be nine, twenty-four pound sacks of King's Quality' flour, donated by the B. M. Henderson Brokerage Co.

The bagmen are determined to have a real day to themselves on Saturday and for one afternoon are paying special attention to the entertainment of their wives, children, and special friends.

Councillor E. W. D. Wilson convener of the picnic commitete has been untiring in his efforts to make the outing a success. The Old Mill, Merry-go-Round and Roller Coaster will all be running. Free tea, coffee and refreshments are being provided to the "Knights of the Grip" and his friends through the generosity of several of the wholesale houses in the city.

Every consideration is being given to the entertainment of the drummer's children and there will be about fifteen racing events for their special benefit. The travelling men's wives and sweethearts will have no reason to complain, ample provision in the way of events having been made for their entertainment.

In the evening a dance will be held in the Women's Building for which a first class orchestra has been engaged.

The chairman of the various committees are:—refreshment and general E. W. D. Wilson; grounds, Dan Alton; prizes and badges, Dave Reid; sports, Harry Aikins; dance, Sam Allison.

The following firms have already donated generously towards the outing:—Revillion Wholesale Ltd., B. M. Henderson Co., Campbell, Wilson and Horne, Ames, Holden, McCready Co., Coco Cola Co., Freads, Ltd., Hepburn's Ltd., C. W. Boon and Co. Ltd., Woodland Dairy, Edmonton City Dairy, Kelly Douglas Co., Measam and McLennan Ltd., Marshall Wells Co., Ltd., Macdonald-Cooper Co., Ltd., Plunket and Savage, Scott Fruit Co., J. F. Stephens Co., Ltd., Western Grocers, Ltd.

ACCEPT TENDER FOR NEW FILTERS FOR CITY PLANT

City Commissioners Consider the Tenders for Addition to the Pumping Plant

Tenders for the new filters at the city pumping station came before the city commissioners Friday morning.

After consideration, approval was given to the tender of the Roberts Mechanical Filtration Company whose price for the four new filters is $45,200.

These filters have to increase the capacity of the plant to the extent of 2,000,000 gallons daily. The tender has yet to pass the city council.

SPECIAL POSTAL SERVICE IN CITY BUSINESS CENTRE

Postmaster Armstrong Says That New Orders From Ottawa Are Unalterable

NO MORE BOXES

Declared by Post Office Management that the New System is Superior

The travelling public, publishers of newspapers, and city hotels will be afforded special privileges in the new arrangements of the postal service whereby these people will be able to obtain their mail on Sundays, holidays and other days.

All business houses in the central business portion of the city will be treated in a manner that will provide them the most efficient mail service possible, and arrangements will be made by the post office to give these business houses any special service they might require, even to affording them the privilege of allowing them to collect their mail by special messenger.

Four deliveries will be made in the central business portion of the city in addition to the before-named concessions, the first one starting at 8 o'clock, the entire early morning delivery being completed in one hour."

Announcement Made

This announcement of new service to take the place of the present post office box system was made by Postmaster Armstrong at a meeting of city business men held in the Macdonald hotel during the noon hour Friday. Cross fired with a great number of questions, Mr. Armstrong declared that the new change and the abolition of the box service was only being made by the department in order that a more efficient mail service might be given, not only to the business houses of the city, but to the public generally.

The box system, he declared, to be most unsatisfactory and the new methods were being installed only with the idea of eliminating the many delays and mistakes that have been brought about as a result of the mail box service.

Protest No Use

While it was the impression of all assembled at the meeting that the object of the gathering was one of protest against the proposed action of the postal department it was quite apparent that protest was of little use when Mr. Armstrong declared: "We have been told to make the change and we are going to make it." Therefore there was little alternative and business men while dissatisfied in some cases and in other cases very uncertain that the new service would give an improvement, left with the feeling that with the concessions afforded as announced by the postmaster, the new departure would not greatly inconvenience them.

Mr. Armstrong explained that the post office was trying as largely as was possible to eliminate all boxes from the post office but frankly admitted that he thought such an undertaking would be impossible in its entirety.

He asserted that provisions would be made for all business houses requiring their mail before 8 o'clock in the morning. "If you will make the necessary arrangements, you will find that your mail will be tied up and be waiting for you at all times", the postmaster asserted. Extra carriers would be added to the service and the most efficient mail carriers would be given the routes of the central business portion of the city so that mistakes and delays would be reduced to the lowest minimum.

"Boxes are at present held by many people who should not hold them at all. They say they have them for economy, but where is the economy in paying for a box when a mail carrier passes their homes at least four times daily," queried Mr. Armstrong. He added that the revenue from postal boxes did not pay for the extra work they entailed to post office authorities.

George Wilkinson, a farmer of the Namayo district wanted to know what provision would be made for the farmers and the rural routes. He thought the discrimination between the city folks and those who live in the country was unfair. Mr. Wilkinson did not consider that any justice was shown when people residing in the city were afforded special privileges when those in the country were given none. "What inducement is there to go on the land," questioned Mr. Wilkinson.

H. Baker of the Massey-Harris Co., wanted to know whether or not it was a fact that boxes were being eliminated in order to give more post office departments more employees and so increase the pay of the officials by increasing their classification. Mr. Armstrong replied that such was not the case.

Manager Logie, of the Bank of Nova Scotia was free with questions and entered with a fervor into all discussions while M. R. Jennings, winding up the debate, considered that the early delivery in the mornings with the additional three deliveries per day would standardize the service for the benefit of all concerned.

J. E. Brown was chairman of the meeting.

STREET CARS HAD LIGHTER TASK AT THIS YEAR'S FAIR

There was quite a decrease in the takings of the street railway for the fair this year as compared to 1919. From figures supplied to the city commissioners by Acting Supt. Brunless it is seen that the number of passengers carried this year were 319,001 against 334,626 for the fair week of last year, this giving a decrease of 15,625.

As for the revenue, last year it totalled $19,958.88 against $19,037.25 this year, making a decrease for this year of $921.63.

POLICE COMMENDED FOR TRAFFIC WORK DURING THIS WEEK

A letter received Friday morning by Chief of Police Shute from police commissioner, Mayor Clarke, conveys to the city police force the heartiest congratulations from Manager Stark of the Edmonton exhibition for the effective way in which traffic was handled by them during fair week. In conveying this sentiment to the chief on behalf of the men, His Worship takes occasion to personally thank the men for excellence of their services.

SAVED FROM LIFELONG MISERY

And a Dangerous Operation, by Taking "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MRS. M. J. GORSE
3928 Union St., Vancouver, B.C.

"I suffered with all the symptoms of Female Trouble, with chronic Constipation and constant Headaches. I had pains low down in the back and sides of the body. I tried various remedies without relief, and then put myself under a doctor's care and he advised me to have an operation. I refused.

Then, I started taking 'Fruit-a-tives'; and from the outset, I felt better, and this medicine has completely relieved me of all my misery and suffering. My weight was only 143 pounds and now it is 168 pounds. I am free of pain and headaches and the terrible Constipation; and what saved me from misery is the splendid fruit medicine, 'Fruit-a-tives.'

POLES PRESSED STEADILY BACK ON NORTH FRONT

Bolsheviki Claim Defeat of the Enemy South of Vilnia River

GENERAL ADVANCE

Moscow Statement Gives the Details of Gains in the Various Sectors

London July 16—Continued success by the Bolsheviki in their operations against the Poles along the northern sector of the front, is announced in Thursday's official statement from Mascow, received by wireless Friday. The communique says:

"South of the river Vilnia (in the Vilna region), we defeated the enemy along the entire front. Our advance is continuing energetically."

(A special dispatch from Kovno received in London Thursday night reported the occupation of Vilna by the Bolsheviki. This has not been officially confirmed, but Warsaw advices Friday say the Poles have agreed with the Lithuanians for occupation of Vilna by Lithuanian troops. The signing of a peace treaty between Lithunia and soviet Russia was reported on July 15.)

"Southwest of Minsk we occupied the village of Uzda, and a number of other villages. During the fighting along the railway from Bobruisk to Minsk we captured eight guns, several thousand shells, six locomotives and 142 wagons loaded with building materials and tools.

"In the Slutsk and Lenin regions our advance continues energetically.

"In the Sarny and Kovel districts our advance is developing successfullyy."

RYE HARVESTING BEGUN AT BRANDON

Brandon, Man., July 16—W. J. McCombe, of Beresford, commenced harvesting his crop of rye Thursday. This is the first report in the Brandon district of harvesting operations. Mr. McCombe had about sixty acres of rye, which he expects will average about twenty bushels to the acre.

SWIFTS PLAN BIG OUTING AT ALBERTA BEACH NEXT WEEK

The first annual outing of Swifts' Get-Together Club will be held to Alberta Beach, Wednesday, July 21st Train leaves Canadian National depot at 9.30 a.m. and returning leaves 6.30 p.m.

"In on the big days sport," is the slogan Manager C. H. Bradley, whose good wishes for the outing are expressed thus:

"I sincerely hope that all employees of Swift Canadian Company Limited, with their wives, kiddies and sweethearts, will be able to attend the picnic to be held at Alberta Beach, July 21st, 1920, under the auspices of Swift's Get-Together Club."

Their program further states that, "Each child will be furnished with coupons which can be exchanged at different booths at the beach for candy, ice cream, etc. Show the kiddies a good time. Souvenir badges will be furnished. These badges will entitle wearer to enter any event on program, and will serve as an introduction to any fellow employee whom you do not know. Wear your badge. Get together and get acquainted."

A full day's sports will be carried out with music and dancing in the evening.

CAMROSE OPENS FAIR WITH FINE SHOW EXHIBITS

Hon. Geo. P. Smith Officiates at the Opening Ceremonies—Judging Begins

(Bulletin Staff Reporter)

Camrose, July 16—Under most auspicious circumstances, Hon. George P. Smith formally opened the Camrose annual fair Thursday afternoon and it is anticipated by officials in charge that a most successful exhibition will be carried through without a hitch this year. Hon. A. J. McLean was also a guest at the opening ceremonies.

Judging in all stock classes begun Friday morning and competition is expected to be keen, as there are a large number of entries. Good stock is in evidence and in the children's calf class there are 14 entries.

Grandstand attractions are furnished by the Westerman Toyland Shows and the McCall aeroplane company is giving aviation stunts.

ECREMENT SENDS TO MONTREAL FOR HIS "CREDENTIALS"

New York, July 15—Deportation proceedings against Arthur Ecrement, former member of the Canadian parliament, who is alleged to have entered the United States from Canada without complying with the immigration regulations, was postponed today for one week in order that he may send to Montreal for his "credentials."

The bond of $10,000 under which Ecrement has been at liberty, was revoked. He is held at Ellis Island without bail.

A writ of habeas corpus in Ecrement's behalf was obtained in federal court today by Ecrement's counsel, Eugene F. McGee.

Memphis, Tenn., July 15—With time turned backward 60 years to the days when leading citizens formed the fire fighting forces, this city entered on its first night with a volunteer fire department on duty. The departure of practically every member of the fire fighters' union at noon today, in accordance with the resignations presented Tuesday, saw bankers, lawyers, manufacturers, former army officers and men in various ranks of life, step in their places.

VANCOUVER POLICE MAKE BIG LIQUOR HAUL.

Vancouver, B. C., July 15—City police in a raid tonight took in more than 5,000 cases of assorted liquor, in addition to more than one hundred casks containing 40 gallons each. Several half-filled casks were also seized. The liquor was said to belong to the Canadian Pacific Wine Company. Its value is estimated in the neighborhood of $250,000.

A SURE RELIEF FOR WOMEN'S DISORDERS
10 Days' Treatment Free

Orange Lily is certain relief for all disorders of women. It is applied locally and is absorbed into the suffering tissue. The dead waste matter in the congested region is expelled, giving immediate mental and physical relief; the blood vessels and nerves are toned and strengthened; and the circulation is rendered normal. As this treatment is based on strictly scientific principles, and acts on the actual location of the disease, it cannot help but do good in all forms of female troubles, including delayed and painful menstruation, leucorhoea, falling of the womb, etc. Price $2.00 per box, which is sufficient for one month's treatment. A free trial treatment, enough for 10 days, worth 75c, will be sent free to any suffering woman who will send me her address.
